By the author of "Ancient coffers and cupboards." The collecting and identifying of old oak has within the last few years awakened so much enthusiasm that its many devotees will eagerly welcome a work whose purport is to classify in chronological order examples of the various articles, based largely on personal investigation in England and on the Continent, and referring frequently to contemporary writers and manuscript illustrators. A noteworthy feature of this painstaking book is the fact that it is illustrated by the author himself; hence the student receives doubly the benefit of the writer's private researches.

An exhaustive treatise on the conduct of the campaign of Santiago de Cuba from the standpoint of a skilled observer, whose authority on such matters is accepted by the military world. The author will be recalled as the writer of two distinctly valuable works in the same field published some years ago—"Napoleon Bonaparte's first campaign" and "The campaign of Marengo"—which contributed so much to an understanding of the scientific side of modern warfare.

Schaff, Philip, D.D. History of the Christian church. [New ed., rewritten and enl.] v. 5, pt. 1, The Middle Ages, from Gregory III., 1049, to Boniface VIII., 1294, by D. S. Schaff, D.D. N. Y., Scribner, 1907. c. 14+910 p. O. cl., **$3.25 net.

Dr. Schaff died in 1893, leaving the period of the Middle Ages in his "History of the Christian church" hardly more than begun. Thereupon his son, who is professor of church history in the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, took up the uncompleted work, which the present volume and Part 2, now in preparation, will round out. This Scribner edition has been issued at irregular intervals since 1882. Each chapter is prefaced by a list of "Sources." Index.

Schuyler, Mrs. Van Koert. The road to happiness. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1907. c. 8+330 p. D. cl., **$1.25 net.

The keynote to this work, addressed "to girls—anywhere and everywhere" is found on the title-page—"the Bible points the road to happiness as well as that to holiness." Twenty optimistic chapters illustrate the theme, the titles of a few being: God's letter to us; What Christmas means to you and me; What Good Friday means to you and me; Why we believe the Bible; How to get what the Bible promises; What the Bible promises to prayer; Some of the stories Jesus told, etc.

Schwed, Hermine. Ted in Mythland; il. by M. H. Squire. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1907. c. 12+165 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

The main stories of Greek mythology are included in this volume. They are in prose and verse and told to Ted, a little boy, by the gods and goddesses themselves. He is carried into Mythland one day by Mercury, and has a delightful time visiting Juno and Vulcan, Diana, Venus and Apollo, Iris and the Dryads, and other mythical characters.

The scene of this romance is laid in Bermuda, where the heroine, a beautiful and gifted girl just drawing in to womanhood, lives with her grandfather on an island. The grandfather, who has been the president of a New England college, is an unusual man and of wide acquaintance in the literary, social and educational worlds. To his island come many delightful and interesting people, and his granddaughter, intellectually trained but socially unsophisticated, is in the course of the story developed into a woman of the world. The hero distinguishes himself in many perilous adventures. By the author of "The outermost rim and beyond" and "The psychic factor," etc.

The first attempt at fiction of the author of "The lure of the Labrador wild." His young hero is a boy scarcely sixteen, but experienced and self-reliant. Family necessities send him up into the frozen north for a winter's trapping, with his heart set upon catching a silver fox. His life is often in danger, not only on account of his work, but through the enmity of a half breed, who almost succeeds in murdering him. The mysterious Nascaupé Indians of the interior of Labrador and Ungava are vividly pictured.

The author is professor in the University of Berlin; the translator and editor professor of Semitic languages and literatures in the University of Michigan. Dr. Winckler is to-day probably the foremost of Semitic linguists and Assyriologists. This translation of his authoritative treatise on Babylonia and Assyria has been revised by the author himself, who has in doing so added largely to his original work. The translation is scholarly and clear and provided with many notes, and the work, written absolutely from the sources and embodying the most recent discoveries, must take its place as the standard on the subject. Index.

Among the Osark Hills in southwestern Missouri lived the strong men and women of whom the author of "That printer of Udell's" tells his present story. The "shepherd" has been a worldly minded minister, whose only son has done an Osark girl a great wrong. The father settles among the hills, teaches the people, and becomes the dearest friend of those his son had injured. The heroine is known as "Sammy" Lane. Her giant lover and his giant father and her own uncompromising sire are characters that teach the old, old story of love and duty.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LRYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 14, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

DESCRIBING FIFTEENTH CENTURY BOOKS.*

THE title of a fifteenth century book, as already pointed out, should be given in as brief a form as possible, without omitting the essentials. If it is impossible to condense the title intelligibly it might be better to give it in full, marking the beginning of the lines, if the book is of sufficient importance to warrant such treatment, with an upright stroke (|), reproducing the physiognomy of the type as closely as the resources of the local printing office will permit—in short, giving as close a copy of the original as possible. The colophon should always be given in full.

As regards place, there does not yet seem to be any fixed rule as to the form in which it should be written, whether in Latin or in English. Many of the older bibliographies having been written in Latin and the colophons of the majority of early books being written in the same language, collectors have grown familiar with the Latin forms of most of the place names. However, the trend is rather toward modern forms, and it were well to give the bibliographical information, especially in booksellers' catalogues, in the vernacular and in the most concise and clear form.

The date should always be given in Arabic figures. The day of the month, when it is given in the colophon, should always be put down in the description, as it is often of great importance. In countries where the new year began in March, as pointed out by E. Gordon Duff, in his work on "Early Printed Books," there is apt to be confusion with dates unless it is remembered, for example, that the 20th of January, 1490, is later than the 20th of December, 1490. The beginning of the year varied in different countries, and often in different towns. The four most usual times for its commencement were: Christmas day, December 25; the day of the Circumcision, January 1; the day of Conception, March 25, and the day of Resurrection, (Easter.) The 25th of March was, on the whole, most common; but in dating any book exactly the rule for the particular town where it was printed should be ascertained. An approximate date should always be supplied to the description of an undated book; but this date should not be a mere haphazard conjecture, but should be determined by an examination of the characteristics of the book, and comparison with dated books from the same press, so that the date that is ascribed is merely another expression for the characteristics noted in the book. It is only after a careful study that accurate dates can be ascribed to books of a particular press, and monographs on particular printers must be consulted when it is possible.

"In describing old books, the old form size should be used, being the only one which does not vary. Under modern notations a cut down copy of a book in quarto would become an octavo, and thus two editions would be made out of one. The size of an old book is very simply recognized by holding up a page to the light. Certain white lines, called wire marks, will be noticed, occurring, as a rule, about an inch apart, and running at right angles to the fine lines. These wire lines are perpendicular in a folio, octavo and thirty-two and horizontal in a quarto and sixteenmo. In a twelvemo, as the name implies, the sheet is folded in twelve; and in the earlier part, at least, of the sixteenth century, this was done in such a way that the wire-lines are perpendicular; the height of the sheet forming two pages, as is the case in an octavo, while the width is divided into six, instead of four as in an octavo. The later practice has been to fold the sheet differently, the height of the sheet forming the width of four pages, and the width of the sheet the height of three pages; consequently the wire-lines are horizontal. Among early printed books the twelvemo is a very uncommon form; quartos are most numerous, especially after the fifteenth century, and after these come folios."

*Continuation of "The Profession of Bookselling." Full credit for authorities quoted will be given on the conclusion of the article.

It should be remembered that the signature has nothing to do with the size of the book. It was merely a guide to the printer to show him how many leaves go to the quire and the order in which they were to come. The binder found it convenient to have his quires of from eight to twelve pages each, and the quires were thus made up whether the book was folio, quarto or octavo. If the quires consisted of eight leaves each, then each quire of the folio book contained four sheets, of the quarto book two sheets, and of the octavo book one sheet.

THE MCCLURE COMPANY.

The book publishing firm McClure, Phillips & Co. will hereafter be known as The McClure Company. The affairs of the new company will practically remain under the same administration, S. S. McClure being the president, J. W. Corrigan, the vice-president and general manager, Harold Roberts, treasurer, and O. W. Brady, secretary. The magazine interests will be controlled and conducted as before by the S. S. McClure Company.

This firm has deservedly won a reputation as one of the most energetic publishing houses, and since its organization has published an exceptional number of very successful books by authors of prominence, such as Conan Doyle, Henry Harland, Anthony Hope, Henry Seton Merriman, Stanley Weyman, Joel Chandler Harris, Charles Wagner, Stewart Edward White, Booth Tarkington, Ida M. Tarbell, S. R. Crockett, Joseph Conrad, etc. The firm has also gained a reputation for well made books. It has adopted as its sign the dolphin and anchor mark used by the famous Aldus. Its motto is Aldi Discip. Americanus, and it has consistently made an endeavor in the product of its printery to live up to the ideal thus established of being one of the American disciples of the great Italian Aldus.

Of Mr. McClure's present associates, J. W. Corrigan is well known to the trade through his connections with G. P. Putnam's Sons, whom he represented on the road for a number of years, and with the firm of McClure, Phillips & Co., with whom he has been connected since the organization of the firm under that name. As a bookseller and distributor of books he takes high rank among his colleagues.

Harold Roberts, the treasurer of the new firm, has won distinction in the magazine field, notably with The Century, The Youth's Companion and Munsey's, as well as in the advertising field.

Oscar W. Brady, the secretary of The McClure Company, has been connected with McClure's Magazine since its first publication, and has proved himself an able and enterprising executive.

With so strong and able an executive staff the future of the firm seems assured, and it will no doubt achieve still greater success than it has achieved in the past. In behalf of the trade we extend our best wishes.

GEORGE HAVEN PUTNAM'S OBJECTIONS TO PENDING COPYRIGHT MEASURES.

In a recent letter to the New York Times correcting certain errors as to the copyright status and referring to the report to the American Bar Association, George Haven Putnam makes the following statement of publishers' objections to the present form of the pending copyright measures:

In certain respects the pending bill would secure an improvement over the present conditions of copyright.

In certain other respects, however, the provisions of the bill are seriously defective.

The existing copyright statute differs from the copyright law of any other country in providing for a practically unlimited infringement of the control on the part of the producer or of his assign of the work copyrighted.

The law, as enacted in 1891, was the result of discussions that had gone on during the preceding five years. During the last hours of the session a provision (which had not been brought up for consideration at any time during this long series of discussions) was inserted, which permitted the importation into this country, irrespective of the consent of the owner of the copyright, by librarians, associations and individuals, of copies of the work copyrighted.

In its earlier provisions the law undertakes to give an exclusive property right to the producer and to his assign, while in this later provision the privilege is given to any citizen or resident of the United States of interfering with such right, and of acting precisely as if the work in question possessed no copyright protection. Such a confusion of provisions in one statute constitutes a travesty of copyright and of justice, and, as stated, is not to be paralleled in the copyright law of any other State.

The pending bill undertakes to confirm and to continue in a new copyright law which is intended to possess some degree of permanence, these curious privileges for certain classes and individuals of exemption from the restrictions of copyright. In so far as the principle and purpose of copyright are set at naught by this privilege of practically unrestricted importation, the law, if it should be enacted, would fail to secure an effective or equitable system of copyright. The grounds on which these exceptions to copyright protection are defended by the advocates of the pending bill are, first, that such exceptions are in the existing statute, and, second, that the privilege of importing copyrighted works without the permission of the owner of the copyright would constitute a convenience to a good many people.

As a result of this provision in the existing statute, the value of the copyright for the United States in a market for which the producer is able to give no exclusive control tends steadily to lessen, and the returns to the producer, the author, are of necessity smaller than would be the case if he possessed under the law, and were able to assign to a purchaser, a clear title to the article in question.

The pending bill is also defective in increasing the restrictions and burdens of the so-called manufacturing requirements. European States, such as France, Germany and Italy, are controlled by a protectionist policy, which is substantially in line with that of the United States; but in no one of these protectionist States has it been thought equitable to bring into copyright law protectionist conditions or restrictions in no way germane to copyright. The book manufacturing interests which secure protection in the countries in question are referred for such protection to the tariff system.

The pending bill is further seriously defective in the provisions relating to the extension of copyright. In the desire (in itself fully legitimate) to secure for living authors the advantage of the extension of the term of copyright proposed, no measures have been taken to prevent the destruction of property rights in investments that have been made under the existing statute.

Under such statute a number of copyrights have been purchased outright, and in the case of composite works, such as cyclopædias, etc., the material so purchased forms an inseparable part of the entire work. Under the provision now proposed the right of ownership in the copyright which had thus been assigned would, after the expiration of the first term, be revived for a further term for the interest of the author or of the heirs of the author. These heirs would be placed in a position to prevent the further publication of the material in question, and in this manner investment, which (particularly in the case of composite works) possessed large money value and continued importance, would be imperilled or destroyed. The provision in question should be so modified as to prevent the taking away of property rights in such investments.

It is on these several grounds that the bill, as now drafted, is not likely to secure the approval of either publishers or authors.

BOOK PLATES.

THE Journal of American History recalls the following facts concerning book plates: It was within a half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume.

Germany, the fatherland of printing from movable type and of wood cutting for making impressions in ink on paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated wood cut of accepted authenticity is the well-known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim in Suabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat-of-arms of the family or some other heraldic device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1574; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1607, and Italy, 1623. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Pepys, July 16, 1688. The first known book plate in American belonged to Governor Dudley. Paul Revere, the patriot, was one of the first American engravers of book plates and a designer of great ability.

BOOK-BEGGING.

ALFRED NUTT, the English publisher, recently called attention in the London Athenæum to a nuisance common also in this country, namely, the begging of books by public institutions and individuals. We give Mr. Nutt's communication in full:

"In common with, I presume, all other London publishers, I have received the accompanying application:

"I am secretary of the Public Library in this town. We have had a penny rate in force for some years, but it only amounts at the present time to £107 per annum, and this does not give us more than about £50 a year for spending on books. We have now had a new library building presented to us by Mr. Carnegie, which will be opened next month, and I write to know if you could see your way to giving us a small present of books published by you towards our library, as I feel sure any gift of the sort would be much appreciated."

"It seems desirable that literary papers as well as trade organs should have their attention called to the matter, and I feel I cannot do better than ask the leading literary journal of the British Empire to grant me space for a few remarks.

"The application in question is no isolated one. A considerable number of library secretaries seem to imagine that in some mysterious way publishers bring books into the world without incurring expense, and are in a position to give away freely what has cost them nothing. Undoubtedly each such applicant thinks only of his own 'modest' request; but I shall be borne out by my colleagues when I say that if all such applications were granted entire editions would be required.

"The present is a particularly flagrant instance of an application that should be sternly resisted on grounds of principle. It is admitted that the library building has been given to the town; it is admitted that a rate is levied upon all inhabitants, whether they use the library or not; and yet the producers of the very articles for the supply of which all this outlay, either gratuitous or forced, has been incurred, are now asked to provide them gratis. It is much as if the town in question should determine to give free meals to the indigent, should accept the gift of a dining-hall, should force the ratepayers to contribute, and then—should dun Smithfield Market for gratuitous beefsteaks. Is it not time that municipal and other authorities recognized that libraries exist, not for the purpose of keeping the building trade going, not even for the purpose of paying miserably attenuated salaries, but for the purpose of disseminating and encouraging literature—a purpose which can be best effected by purchasing what the man of letters produces? No library scheme should,

I would urge, be considered unless it makes ample provision for this, the primary purpose of a library.

"I fear that any appeal to Mr. Carnegie is useless. Still, I would fain hope that my appeal, if printed in The Athenæum, may reach him, and may induce him, in the case of any further benefactions, to reserve at least 25 per cent. of the total sum he proposes to give for a Purchase Endowment Fund. Failing such provision, he should clearly realize that the large sums he has given or may give are, as far as what must be assumed to be his main object is concerned, largely wasted."

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. DR. WILLIAM WEST KIRBY, arch-deacon and formerly of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church at Rye, N. Y., died on September 5, aged eighty. Dr. Kirby was born in England and educated at Oxford. The first twenty-five years of his ministry was spent as a missionary in the Hudson Bay regions. He is said to have been the first missionary of the Protestant Episcopal Church to penetrate the American Arctic Circle. He translated both the New Testament and the Book of Common Prayer into the language of the Indians and the Esquimaux.

RENE FRANÇOIS ARMAND SULLY-PRUDHOMME, the French critic and poet, died on September 7 at his villa near Châtenay, France. He was born in Paris, March 16, 1839. In 1865 he brought out his first volume of poems, entitled "Poesies," better known by its sub-title, "Stances et Poèmes." The book at once attracted the favorable notice of the literary public. This was followed by a dozen other volumes, and in 1901 he won the Nobel prize for the most remarkable literary work in the sense of idealism. Although by no means a rich man, the poet devoted a considerable portion of the prize to establishing an annual award for excellence among the younger French poets. As a critic he published two volumes, "L'Expression dans les Beaux Arts" and "Reflexions sur l'Art des Vers." He wrote for the Revue des Deux Mondes, among other articles an important study of Pascal.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

EMERSON HOUGH, whose new novel, "The Way of a Man," is to be published shortly, has made an enviable reputation as a writer on western themes. It may be said truthfully of him that he has slept out of doors more, travelled more after big game, and seen more of the actual life of the open than any writer ever before the American public. And yet Mr. Hough is not strictly a Westerner. He was born in the East, and comes of sturdy Quaker ancestry. From his earliest years, however, he felt the call of the West, and as soon as he could he went thither, and as he whimsically expresses it, "has been going ever since," for never a year passes without a trip into some wild country in search of big and dangerous game.

LOUIS M. ELSHEMUS, author of "The Poet," and "About Girls," recently published by Eastman Lewis, of New York, and fourteen other books, both in verse and prose, was born at Laurel Hill, N. J., in 1864. He is a graduate of Cornell University, (class of 1885.) After leaving the university his inclinations led him to the study of art, at the Art Students' League, New York City. After two years he went to the Ateliers Julien, Paris. He returned to New York, and since 1889 has had his studio here, exhibiting in all the annual displays in Philadelphia, Boston and New York. At the present time he has achieved enviable success as a master in color, draughtsmanship, and originality in his subjects and technique. He is the creator of over nine hundred paintings in oils and water colors, both landscapes and figures, and has executed over seventeen hundred sketches and drawings. In the field of literature Mr. Elshemus is quite as prolific. During the years 1883-1907 he has accumulated over thirteen thousand pages, both in poetry and story writing. Mr. Elshemus is a polyglot, and has written verses, plays and poems in five languages—English, French, German, Italian and in Spanish. Besides these languages he has partially studied Arabic, Sanskrit and Chinese. Besides these accomplishments he has the musical gift. He has composed over fifty pieces of piano music.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—S. E. Newcomer, bookseller, it is reported, is bankrupt.

BALTIMORE, MD.—John H. M. Murray and James I. Donnellan, trading as the Catholic Publishing Company and the Calvert Publishing Company, have filed a petition in the Equity Court asking for a receiver to take charge of the business.

BOSTON, MASS.—G. A. Jackson, for a number of years connected with the law department of Little, Brown & Co., has established himself in business under the title of The Students' Co-operative Law-Book Exchange, at 24 Bromfield Street. He will deal in new and second-hand law books, and would be pleased to receive publishers' and second-hand dealers' catalogues.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Next week The Antlers Bookshop will remove to larger quarters, 322 Royal Street, diagonally opposite to where they have been for three years. Mr. Goodman, late buyer for Barkalow Brothers, Omaha, Neb., who is in charge, reports that New Orleans people are buying more standard literature and less fiction each year.

NEW YORK CITY.—Charles H. Doscher has severed his connection with B. W. Dodge & Co., having sold his interest to William Rickey, formerly with the Funk & Wagnalls Co. and recently of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers. Without change of name B. W. Dodge & Co., 24 East Twenty-first Street, has been incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. Mr. Dodge retains his interest and has associated with him Theodore Dreiser, editor-in-chief of the Delineator, and William Rickey as the other stockholders and officers of the corporation.

NEW YORK CITY.—E. W. Hall has been made one of the directors of Moffat, Yard & Company.

NEW YORK CITY.—The trustees of the United Educational Co. announce that the referee has declared a third dividend of four per cent., to be paid at once.

NEW YORK CITY.—L. Kolner, formerly at 78 Fourth Avenue, has removed to 124 West 116th Street. Mr. Kolner intends to keep a full line of new and second-hand books in English and in all foreign languages. Catalogues of publishers and dealers will be welcome.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Publishers' Co-operative Company, with headquarters in the Stokes Building, 333 Fourth Avenue, has succeeded to the business of Montgomery & Co., a partnership originally established in 1905 as Daly, Montgomery & Lewis. As reorganized and incorporated the new company centralizes in one organization the various departments of literary work usually conducted as separate enterprises. Their business is divided into eight departments: Special research for the compiling of works on arts, sciences and religion and for preparing text books; general research for compiling encyclopedias, indexing, for preparing bibliographies and to tabulate and classify miscellaneous subjects, and general editorial revision; translating; reviewing literature, art, music and drama, and making special arrangements with current periodicals for regular periodic contributions; advertising; reading, criticizing and revising authors' manuscripts and marketing those of a certain standard; lectures; and proofreading, stenography, mimeography, addressing, press clipping, etc. The object of the company, in short, is to be a right-hand for every publishing house needing the work of its own intern force supplemented from without, especially in the handling of large contracts, and such as demand authoritative execution.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—H. R. Cooper, bookseller, has sold out to Johnson & Kohler.

SPOKANE, WASH.—John W. Graham & Co., booksellers, last month celebrated their eighteenth anniversary in business. Mr. Graham, on August 4, 1889, succeeded S. Heath, who had lost his stock by fire. Graham & Co. worked up the business from a stock in a camping tent to a building of three full floors and basement, their warehouse containing 54,000 square feet.

WESTFIELD, MASS.—Samuel S. Connor celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his business career a week ago. Mr. Connor in 1873 started as a newsdealer. Gradually he developed his business to include books, wall paper and stationery.

— — — AUCTION SALES.

SEPTEMBER 24, 25, 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.—Library of Dr. G. Henry Lodge, of Boston, author and translator of Winckelmann's "History of Ancient Art Among the Greeks," etc., together with small consignments of illustrated, curious and out-of-print books. (1454 lots.)—Libbie.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE leading articles in the Political Science Quarterly for September, (Ginn & Company, Boston,) is "The Attitude of the State Towards Trade Unions and Trusts," by Henry R. Seager. Professor Seager advocates equal freedom of combination for capital and labor, and equal restraint of trade unions and of trusts when they attempt to misuse their powers. Besides other timely articles the number contains reviews of, or notes on, nearly one hundred American, English, German, French and Italian publications.

The Pathfinder, published by the University Press, Sewanee, Tenn., with the July number began its second volume. During the year the Old Authors series, including Malory, Cervantes, Boccaccio, Michelangelo and Abelard, will be continued, and a new series of Literary Portraits, including Waller, Herrick, Suckling, Jonson, Lovelace, Campion and Carew, will be added. Dr. Weygandt's series will include, among others, articles on Stevenson, Houseman and Newbolt. Mr. Wiley will continue his series dealing with the English romanticists, and Mr. Rose his criticisms of art and artists. There will be special numbers devoted to Dante, Milton, etc.

— — — LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE EDWARD P. JUDD Co., of New Haven, Conn., has adopted the $1.15 price for $1.50 list fiction, which they have for several years been selling at $1.08.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY remind dealers in stocking up for the fall not to overlook their new Play Book Series, now including 107 titles of bright, actable plays; their pocket edition of joke books, after-dinner stories, toasts, etc.; also, their line of Laura Jean Libbey books, which are always in demand.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, INC., will publish shortly a volume on "Country Communion Classes," by Arthur Lethbridge and V. S. S. Coles, of Pusey House, Oxford; also, "The Blessed Virgin and all the Company of Heaven," by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Wirgman, to which Canon Knox-Little writes the introduction.

CHARLES D. RAYMER & Co., 1522 First Avenue, Seattle, Wash., will publish on October 15 "Raymer's Dictionary of Greater Seattle," a complete encyclopedic dictionary of the city and its environs, map, street guide, historical and descriptive matter, etc., with an appendix giving the names of Alaska buyers and a large number of illustrations.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have in preparation "Ibsen as He Should Be Read," a popular as well as a scholarly interpretation of the great dramatist by one who has made a lifelong study of him in his original tongue, Edwin Bjorkman; also, an "Animal Book," with text and illustrations by Dan Beard, a volume filled with stories of adventure.

JAMES POTT & Co. will bring out next week "Madame de La Fayette and Her Family," by

M. MacDermot Crawford; "Madame de Staël and Her Lovers," by Francis Gribble; "Famous Beauties of Two Reigns," an account of some fair women of Stuart and Georgian times, by Mary Craven; and "The Book of Fair Women," by Federigo Luigino.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY announce that owing to the fact that instead of 600 pages, the "Centenary Missionary Conference Records," (giving the report of the great missionary conference at Shanghai, China,) will contain 800 pages, and will be illustrated. The price has been raised from $2 to $2.50 net. The edition of this book is limited to 1000, and although it will not be published until quite late in the fall, orders should be placed immediately.

E. B. TREAT & Co., New York City, will publish during the latter part of the month "The Cyclopedia of Fraternities," a compilation by Albert C. Stevens of existing, authentic information and results of original investigation as to the origin, derivation, founders, development, aims, emblems, character and personnel of more than 600 secret societies in the United States, supplemented by maps, charts, etc. It is a book of 460 pages complete in one volume.

B. W. HUEBSCH, New York City, will publish at once Dr. Otto Pfeleiderer's new book, "Religion and Historic Faiths," translated by Dr. Daniel A. Huebsch. He will bring out in October two volumes in The Art of Life Series, edited by Edward Howard Griggs—"The Use of the Margin," by the editor of the series, and "Where Knowledge Fails," by Earl Barnes, the well-known educator; also, "A Princess and Another," a novel, by Stephen Jenkins.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. publish this week in the New Universal Library "A Consideration of the State of Ireland in the Nineteenth Century," by G. Locker Lampson; "The Travels of the King, Charles II., in Germany and Flanders," 1654-1660, by Eva Scott; "The Commercial Relations of England and Portugal," by V. M. Shillington; "The Condition of the Border at the Union," by John Graham; and "Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character," (both series in one volume,) by Dean Ramsey.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish on the 27th inst. a novel by Maarten Maartens, entitled "The New Religion: a Modern Novel." By the new religion is meant the worship of the specialist, the slavish deference which is accorded the great surgeon who has attained to a position of wider influence in the modern family than was ever enjoyed by the priest in the past. A famous physician figures as the evil influence of the romance, which is a more serious treatment of the subject taken up in "The Healers."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. bring out this week besides the books announced in our issue for September 7 a new novel by Una L. Silberrad, entitled "The Good Comrade," a story in which are pictured with indescribable charm the Holland dunes, rose-blooming under foot and dove-clouded overhead. They will bring out at once a new novel by Upton Sinclair, entitled "The Overman," in which is told the story of an English musician, who, wrecked upon a desert island in the South Seas, lives for twenty years alone, during which time he finds himself, while yet in the body, becoming cognizant of a spiritual world of people, activities and emotions.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish early in the fall a volume of reminiscences written by the late General John Eaton, of which the title is "Grant, Lincoln, and the Freedmen." The book touches upon General Eaton's career as United States Commissioner of Education from 1870 to 1886, but the emphasis is laid upon the earlier phases of his work during the Civil War, when he took charge of the army of refugee negroes which flocked for protection to the Union forces. The maintenance of a rudimentary public school system by the Union army during the conflict is one of the most interesting phases of the work which General Eaton superintended.

THE REV. H. F. LYTE, author of "Abide With Me," and other well-known hymns, wrote much verse of a varied character. Besides a large body of poems and hymns, he composed "Tales in Verse on the Lord's Prayer," "The Spirit of the Psalms," and a poem entitled "The Battle of Salamanca," which won the Chancellor's Prize at Dublin University. The whole of Lyte's poetical works have been collected by the Rev. John Appleyard, and they will be published shortly by Elliot Stock, of London, with an extended biographical sketch, in which interesting particulars are given of Lyte's work at Brixham and in Ireland, and an appreciation of his writings.

WILLIAM DOXEY, Baltimore, Md., (whose publications "At the Sign of the Lark," San Francisco, are still favorably known among collectors,) announces for fall publication "True Manhood," by Cardinal Gibbons, the basis of the little volume being an address by His Eminence to the graduating class at Worcester College this year; "Cartoons and Character Sketches," by McKee Barclay, a selection of this talented cartoonist's sketches, social and political, which have appeared in the Baltimore News; "Rose of Old Regime," and other poems of home, love and childhood, by the Bentztown Bard, (Folger McKinsey,) many of which have appeared in the Baltimore Sun and have been extensively quoted.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready the Baroness Orczy's new novel, "Beau Brocade," in which the author returns to the field wherein she became famous—that of romantic fiction, and which is said to excel "The Scarlet Pimpernel" in romance and excitement. They have also just ready "When Kings Go Forth to Battle," a new novel by William Wallace Whitelock, whose "Literary Guillotine," published several years ago, aroused considerable favorable criticism; also, a timely volume in "The Story of a Football Season," by George H. Brooke, coach of Swarthmore College, and advisory coach of the University of Pennsylvania, which lucidly explains the new revised game of football.

CASSELL & Co., New York City, will have ready September 30 "The Romance of the Salvation Army," by Hulda Friedrichs, with introduction by General Booth, illustrated with many photographs; "The Coming of Isobel," by Helen Wallace, a novel in which the author turns from the cavalier days of her "To Pleasure Madame" to our modern days and scarcely less inspiring excitement; and "The Land of Enchantment," a collection of fairy and fanciful tales by A. E. Bonser, B. Sidney Woolf, and E. S. Buchheim, all illustrated by Arthur Rackham, of "Peter Pan" and "Rip Van Winkle" fame. The Cassells have in preparation some carefully chosen books for the holiday season, of which full announcement will follow shortly.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have prepared for the holiday season a volume of "Bright Ideas for Entertaining," by Mrs. Herbert B. Linscott, about two hundred suggestions for the entertainment of social gatherings, birthdays, holidays, etc.; "Novelties and How to Make Them," a collection of hints and helps in making pretty, useful and interesting things; "Wit and Humor of Women," a collection of witty sayings by bright women, forming a new volume in their Wit and Humor Series; "Ease in Conversation," by Emma Churchman Hewitt, advice to the timid and backward in conversation with suggestions as to grammatical speech; also, "The Child Lover's Calendar," an engagement calendar for 1908 in book form, with twelve illustrations in color by Amelia Bauerle.

THE OUTING PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish in October a book entitled "The Tragedy of Russia in Pacific Asia," by Frederick McCormick, journalist, artist and war correspondent. The narrative tells the story of the war as the author, a war correspondent, saw it, and felt it. Mr. McCormick was with the Russian army as special representative of the Associated Press, and shared the fortunes of that unhappy host during the dark days of the flight from Mukden. He witnessed the first and second attacks on Port Arthur, and all the principal land battles of the war, and after the signing of peace he accompanied the Red Cross Squadron to Japan to arrange for the evacuation of the Russian prisoners. His book is a serious study of the Eastern question, as well as a history.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just published a new volume of Dr. Philip Schaff's "History of the Christian Church," six volumes of which have already been published. The new book is volume v., part 1, in the series, and deals with "The Middle Ages from Gregory VII., 1049, to Boniface VIII., 1294," and is written by David S. Schaff, D.D., the son of the late Dr. Philip Schaff, who has used the material already gathered by his father as a foundation for this important addition to this great work. It will be followed by another volume covering the period to the Reformation. The new volume is considered by competent judges to be distinguished by the same wide learning and scholarly presentation which caused the faculty of Berlin University to say of the previous volumes of the work that "the 'History of the Christian Church' is the most notable monument of universal historical learning produced by the school of Neander."

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, has just brought out a work on "Theatrical and Amusement Law," by Judge J. Albert Brackett, the attorney for the Association of Theatre Managers of Boston, Mass., who is regarded as an authority upon theatrical law. His work treats of every phase of the history of the theatre, giving profuse references to leading and important decisions. Among the matters discussed are: ownership of plays; author's rights; fire and panic; right of ejectment; theatrical contracts; Sunday performances; house contracts; ticket speculators; cancellation; disability; liquidated damages; and remedies at law and in equity. They are bringing out a work on the "new thought," entitled "The New Light," a subject upon which the author, Mrs. Jennie Folsom Merrill, has lectured. It teaches charity and self-mastery, with no pretense at especial originality. In October they will publish an "Up-to-Date Pauper," by Miss Helen Maude Wheeler, and "Woodhull," by Pliny Berthier Seymour. The latter is the story of a boy who was carried off by the Tuscaroras in childhood and returned to his family a master of woodcraft and profound in Indian wisdom, and after receiving an Oxford education became a scout and a spy for Greene and Washington.

WILLIAM J. BURKHARDT, Jersey City, N. J., has brought out a number of attractive novelties for the holiday season, among which are a bell-shaped pen wiper, with a small ivory paper cutter and a suitable inscription in gold lettering; a greeting card with a miniature broom, the handle of which is a pencil, and a seasonable motto encircled with holly leaves; a tag for baby's stocking with the favorite rhyme "Hang up the Baby's Stocking;" a folder entitled "Christmas Toast," one flap of which is a pretty photogravure showing a bunch of cunning puppies, and on the other flap Thackeray's toast, beginning with the line "I drink it as the fates ordained it;" a Yale Key on a heart-shaped key-ring, with the motto "May this key unlock every Christmas joy your heart desires;" a certificate on the Universal Accident Insurance Co., which may be filled out to guarantee contentment, happiness and prosperity; and a 1000-mile ticket good on the Central Railroad of Prosperity. These little souvenirs while inexpensive enough to be used as an accompaniment of a larger gift, are yet important enough to serve as gifts themselves or as reminders of the sender's good wishes. Mr. Burkhardt has also prepared envelopes with pretty holly branches in the corners and wrapping paper of all grades and sizes with holly wreaths and other stamping symbolic of the holiday season.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY publish this week a new volume in their Art Galleries Series, entitled "The Art of the Prado," by C. S. Ricketts. The Prado, which contains practically intact the work of the leading Spanish artists, has been called a collection of masterpieces. Its leading artists are Velasquez, Titian and Rubens, but with very few exceptions the foremost painters of all the schools are represented by their best work. They have also just ready a new story for young people by Marion Ames Taggart, author of "Tussy Cat Town," and a frequent contributor of charming bits of verse to such magazines as the Atlantic Monthly, entitled "The Doctor's Little Girl." The heroine is the adorable little daughter of a country doctor, but it is hard to say if the doctor will not be as great a favorite with readers as Nancy herself. They will publish shortly a book for young people, entitled "Billy's Princess," the story of a newsboy, by Helen Eggleston Haskell, who was for several years before her marriage a regular correspondent for the New York Press, and also contributed articles and stories for children to the papers of the middles west under the pseudonym of "Aunt Nan." She has a broad knowledge of the inside life of the newspaper world, and the adventures in "Billy's Princess" are woven against a solid background of truth. The illustrations are by Helen McCormick Kennedy.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just ready "A Turnpike Lady," a tale of Beartown, Vt., an old-time American idyl, with the spirit of locality strong upon it, laid in the period of 1768-1796, by Sarah N. Cleghorn; also, a volume of "One Hundred Great Poems," selected by R. J. Cross, and published in the same general style as Lucas's "The Friendly Town." They will bring out later this month a work entitled "Wage Earners' Budgets—a Study of Standards and Cost of Living in New York City," by Louise B. More, a book which oddly combines a peculiar human interest with solid sociological value. It gives the figures tabulated after careful examination, of the cost of living among wage earners on the lower West Side of New York City, from which we get a pretty vivid idea of their daily lives, housing conditions, cost of living, economics and extravagances, pleasures and recreations, and provision for the future and for death. Of course these tables are but a small part of a very interestingly written book issued with the endorsement of the Greenwich House Committee on Social Investigations, of which Professor Seligman, of Columbia University, is chairman. The book has a preface by Professor Franklin H. Giddings, of Columbia University. They will publish shortly the long-awaited "Atlas of European History," by Professor Earle W. Dow, of the University of Michigan; also, an edition of Grillparzer's "Die Ahnfrau," with introduction, notes and vocabulary by F. W. J. Heuser, of Columbia University, and G. H. Danton, of Stanford University.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will bring out in October a work on "The Salon," by Helen Clergue. After a brief and comprehensive introduction in which the nature and growth of the French salon are traced, this volume makes the reader intimately acquainted with four distinguished and fascinating women—Mme. Du Deffand, Mme. Geoffrin, Mme. d'Épinay and Julie de Lespinasse—who, in the France of the eighteenth century, exercised a potent and, on the whole, beneficent influence, and this thanks to their compelling charms of mind and heart, to their elegance and grace of manner, or to the range and depth of their sympathies, in the warmth and glow of which the great men of the age expanded, developed and flourished. The work will have twenty illustrations, photo-gravures and half-tones, representing the principal personages, women and men, who have a place in it. They also announce for the fall a little book entitled "Pleasures of "Literature," by Robert Aris Willmott. (1809-1863,) a clergyman of the Church of England who lived quietly in the country, dividing his time between clerical duties and literary pursuits. He was the careful and scholarly editor of a goodly number of English classics, a maker of anthologies, a preacher of distinction, and best known as the biographer of Jeremy Taylor and of the little volume here in question, which went through five English and five German versions within a few years after its publication. A new book by Elie Metchnikoff, entitled "Nature, Science and Optimism—a Study in the Life of Man," is also in the press.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish on the 25th inst. a novel by Beatrice Mantle, entitled "Gret, the Story of a Pagan." It is the tale of the daughter of an Oregon lumber camp, and Mrs. Mantle is picturing a life she knows, her engineer-husband's business carrying them among many wild and unfamiliar scenes. They will publish on October 19 Timothy Cole's "Old Spanish Masters"—one edition a limited édition de luxe—a new volume of verse by Richard Watson Gilder, "The Fire Divine;" three new Thumb-nails—Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn," Dickens's "Seven Poor Travellers," and Stevenson's "Travels with a Donkey;" David Homer Bates's "Lincoln in the Telegraph Office;" Ralph Henry Barbour's new story, "Tom, Dick, and Harriet;" and Emilie Poulsson's book of "Father and Baby Plays." Following the publication of other records of the findings of the American Archaeological Expedition to Syria in 1899-1900, under the patronage of V. Everit-Macy, Clarence M. Hyde, B. Talbot B. Hyde and I. N. Phelps Stokes, William Kelly Prentice, Professor of Greek at Princeton University, has prepared for publication by the Century Co. this fall all the epigraphical documents in Greek and Latin found by the expedition. They will also issue this fall a new series of books made up of stories and sketches reprinted from St. Nicholas. There will be six of these books of adventure, travel and description, the scenes laid in different sections of the United States; and the books will be called: "Western Frontier Stories," "Stories of the Great Lakes," "Island Stories," "Stories of Strange Sights," "Sea Stories," and "Stories of the South."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on the 21st inst. "The Nether Millstone," a new novel by Fred. M. White, author of "The Crimson Blind," etc., in which he again displays his ability as a deft weaver of plot and counterplot. They have in preparation "Lord Cammarleigh's Secret," a novel, by Roy Horniman, with an audacious plot and a fascinating hero; "By Neva's Waters," a new story by John R. Carling, in which the author of "The Shadow of the Czar" deals with an episode in the secret history of Alexander I. of Russia; a collection of verse by Arthur Stringer, author of "The Wire Tappers;" also, "Italy the Magic Land," a new book by Lilian Whiting, in which she aims to present a living panorama of the comparatively modern past of Rome. They have begun the publication of a new law work of the highest value to every practitioner and student of law in "Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History," by various authors, compiled and edited by a committee of the Association of American Law Schools. The work will be complete in three volumes, and will include essays on almost all of the main subjects of law, from corporations to wills, covering also the general field of "Sources of the Law," "Law Reform," and "Colonial Law," and will form substantially a supplement to Pollock & Maitland's "History of the English Law Before the Time of Edward I." The wealth of material by law writers of eminence and deep research, now being gathered in these volumes, and heretofore scattered in comparatively inaccessible volumes of periodicals, possesses a value for the professor, student and practitioner which can hardly be overestimated. The first volume will be ready at once, the second will be published next year and the third in 1909.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY will publish this month "Life of Japan," by Masuji Miyakawaya, a naturalized American, Professor of Law at the University of Indiana and author of "The Powers of the American People." Educated both in Japan and here, he has been employed as the official interpreter for the Japanese Army and is in close touch with the Imperial Government. His book covers the past history of the Island Empire, its religious, social and educational life, but its keynote is the very complete history of the relation of Japan to the United States. It shows plainly the American influence on the national character of the Japanese. Three other books to be ready shortly are "A Man of Sark," (or Sercq,) by John Oxenham, author of "The Long Road," a romance of the period of 1800, when England was engaged in a naval combat with France and Spain, Sark being the smallest island of the channel group, actually belonging to England, though enjoying a comparative freedom, whose inhabitants are of Norman extraction; "The Story of My Childhood," by Clara Barton, founder and organizer of the National Red Cross in the United States, which, in time, will be followed by several volumes bearing on her later life; also, Part 2 of "Jnana Yoga," concluding the series of books based on the lectures of Swami Vivekananda on the method of realizing our divine nature through wisdom. They have in preparation the memoirs of Frederic Mistral, who bestowed the Nobel prize, of which he was the recipient, on the foundation of a museum in Arles, where are to be preserved the monuments, relics, weapons, costumes, etc., of the Provence; also, "The Story of Joseph," which is supplied by George Alfred Williams, the illustrator, with a foreword on Egypt, giving as it were a background of the people and the life of the various castes, describing the existence of a Pharaoh, the priests, the soldiers and the husbandman, the last class being the one with which Joseph had so much to do.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish their first books of the fall season on September 21, as follows: A new story for boys by Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson, entitled "The Campfire of Mad Anthony," with illustrations by Griswold Tyng; a new edition with colored illustrations by Jay Hambidge of Mrs. Alice Prescott Smith's thrilling romance, "Montlivet;" a handsome library edition, in two volumes, of "The Familiar Letters of James Howell;" Thomas Hood's ballad, "Faithless Nelly Gray," with fifteen humorous cuts by Robert Seaver; "The Causes of the Panic of 1893," by Professor W. Jett Lauck; "Industrial Education," by Professor Harlow S. Person, of Dartmouth College; a new "Popular Poets Series" in ten volumes, including the works of Aldrich, Cary, Emerson, Harte, Holmes, Longfellow, Lowell, Sill, Tennyson and Whittier, with many illustrations and handsomely bound in full leather; new editions in the Riverside Juvenile Classics of "Grandfather's Chair," by Nathaniel Hawthorne, and "Brave Little Holland," by William E. Griffis; and "Shelley's Poems" and "Prose and Poetry of John Henry Newman" in the Riverside Literature Series. An important biography is announced by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. in "Augustus St. Gaudens: a Memorial," by Royal Cortissoz. This handsome volume will contain a memoir of the great sculptor and a study of his work by a distinguished art critic who was his intimate friend. It will be illustrated with fine photographic reproductions of St. Gaudens's work. They will also bring out the second series of "Mornings in the College Chapel," by Professor Francis G. Peabody, of Harvard University. This will be his third volume of short addresses to young men on personal religion. It is a book that would be particularly valuable in the hands of one who has to discuss with an intelligent group of hearers some of the many phases of religious and social life. In their conciseness of utterance, depth of spirituality, and the directness of their personal appeal to reason it would be hard to excel these short addresses.

F. A. STOKES COMPANY will publish in the fall "Winston of the Prairie," a new novel by Harold Bindloss, author of "Alton of Somasco," etc., in which, again, the spirit of the prairie, cruelly magnificent in some of its moves, is evident. But through all this there runs an extraordinary plot. They have also in preparation volumes on Velasquez, Reynolds, Romney and Turner in a series of monographs entitled Masterpieces in Color, the text of which will be illustrated with reproductions in color of the masterpieces of each artist; "The Van Rensselaers of Old Manhattan," a romance of old New York, charmingly illustrated by Weymer Jay Mills; also, "Under the Southern Cross," by Elizabeth Robins, author of "The Magnetic North," the romance of a charming girl's sea trip from San Francisco to New York, by way of Panama, with illustrations in color by John Rae. For young people they will bring out in their Dandelion Classics two new volumes—"The Twenty Best Fairy Tales," for which Lucy Fitch Perkins has selected the most popular stories from Grimm and Hans Andersen, and Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," prepared for young people by Mrs. Perkins, who also furnishes the illustrations for the series; "Uncle Remus and Bre'r Rabbit," with illustrations in color by J. A. Condé; a "Garden Book for Young People," by Miss Alice Lounsberry, a book similar in idea and purpose to her "Wild Flower Book for Young People," the material for which will be told in the form of a story with the incidental purpose of showing how children can have a beautiful garden without very great expense; also, under the general title of The Wonder Books of Science two books by Professor E. J. Houston, entitled "The Wonder Book of Volcanoes," in which are described the most famous manifestations of volcanic energy, such as the outbreaks of Mont Pelée and Vesuvius and the San Francisco disaster; and "The Wonder Book of the Atmosphere," which treats of such subjects as climate, weather and the methods of the weather bureau, and the phenomena of sound, light and heat.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce for September Gilbert Parker's latest work, "The Weavers," a story full of action and contrasts with Egypt, fiercely beautiful, leading man swiftly into passion, and sober England with quieter tragedies as background, with illustrations by André Castaigne; "From Van Dweller to Commuter," by Albert Bigelow Paine, a typical story of New York City; "Ancestors," by Gertrude Atherton, who presents California with its ancestral power and beauty embodied in a descendant—a woman; "The Exploits of Arsène Lupin," by Maurice Leblanc, translated by A. Teixeira de Mattos, the story of an engaging villain who always succeeds; "The Chemistry of Commerce," by Professor Robert Kennedy Duncan, of the University of Kansas, describing for the lay reader the most recent discoveries in industrial chemistry, with a number of illustrations; "The Indian's Book," by Natalie Curtis, described as "the revelation of the Indian—of his mind and his beliefs, his character, his songs, his legends, his very soul," with an introductory note by President Roosevelt, and illustrations in color and in sepia; "A Critical Examination of Socialism," by W. H. Mallock, an explanation of the subject, pointing out the weak as well as the strong points of the doctrine as it is understood in this day; also, "National Development," by Professor Edwin Earle Sparks, forming the twenty-third volume of The American Nation series, which with this volume swings into recent history. For young people they announce "Harper's Electricity Book for Boys," by Joseph H. Adams, with an introduction by Thomas A. Edison, which is designed to give boys in plain language a practical knowledge of electricity, with numerous illustrations; "Sunnyside Tad," by Philip Verrill Mighels, author of "Bruvver Jim's Baby," etc., who tells the story of a lovable boy and his lovable dog and how they face the world together; also, "Wee Winkles and Her Friends," by Gabrielle E. Jackson, who gives a further account of Wee Winkles, the doll's school room, the little baby kittens and Jerry, the fire engine horse.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish to-day George Barr McCutcheon's new story, "The Daughter of Anderson Crow," dealing with an imaginary town where simple, kind-hearted American country folk live, with illustrations by Martin Justice; "Those Queer Browns," by Florence Morse Kingsley, author of "The Singular Miss Smith," etc., with a frontispiece by Harrison Fisher; "The Revelations of Inspector Morgan," by Oswald Crawford, author of "The Ways of the Millionaire," etc., a piece of detective literature which will be found a book of rare interest to lovers of detective stories; "A Little Girl in Old Baltimore," by Amanda M. Douglas, author of "A Little Girl in Old New York," etc.; "Patty in Paris," by Carolyn Wells, author of the Patty books which have been a popular success with young girls; "Two Teddy Bears in Toyland," by Elizabeth M. Gordon, the illustrations of which are very amusing and are made from photographs of Teddy Bears and children's toys in positions to illustrate the story; also, a new edition of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," by Ian Maclaren. Later in the month they will publish "The Stopping Lady," by Maurice Hewlett, author of "The Forest Lovers," etc.; "Her Son," by Horace Annesley Vachell, author of "Brothers," "The Hill," etc.; and "The Heart of Jessy Laurie," by Amelia E. Barr, author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," etc., all of which have already been fully described by us. The list of juvenile books to be published by this firm during the fall is unusually strong and contains titles by many well-known authors of children's stories. There is a book on "American Indian Fairy Tales," by Margaret Comp-ton. Professor Harry Thurston Peck has written a new girls' story, entitled "Hilda and the Wishes." Amanda M. Douglas has another book on the list, "In the Sherburne Line." Miss Mabel Dearmer has written "A Child's Life of Christ," which will be illustrated with eight full-page pictures in colors and many illustrations in black and white. "Marjorie's Vacation" is the first of a new series of books for girls, by Miss Carolyn Wells.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The First Secretary

By DEMETRA AND KENNETH BROWN

Illustrated with a colored frontispiece and four half-tones.

A story of an American attaché and a Turkish maid.

Wrapper in color. 12mo. Cloth.....$1.50

A wonderful story of a country little written about. It transports the reader to the heart of Constantinople. The Turkish Harem and the Turkish ruler are pictured by a writer who has lived in Constantinople.

A Noble Company of Adventurers

By RUFUS ROCKWELL WILSON

Author of Sea Rovers, etc.

Drawings by May Fratz.

$1.00

A Boys' book full of absorbing interest both to young and old, as well as informing.

28th

Feminine Finance

By FRANCES CROUCH

Drawings by Amy E. Hogeboom.

12mo. Cloth.....$1.50

The story deals with the efforts of two women to help another woman out of a difficulty, the doing of which requires money. Cousin Jim, a bachelor cousin of the woman to be helped and from whom these women expect to get the money, plays the star part. For downright cleverness of plot, humorous situations and originality of treatment, few books of recent years approximate this one.

*Just PublishedTHE DUMPLING

By COULSON KERNAHAN

Author of God and the Art, etc.

Illustrated by Stanley L. Wood.

12mo. Cloth.....$1.50

A detective story of a great labor rising in London. Mr. Kernahan has studied the submerged of London at close range and from that fact, together with the remarkable incidents of the story he has constructed an attention compelling romance.

THE HARRINGTONS OF HIGHCROFT FARM

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of When Charles the First was King, etc.

With 8 illustrations by J. Ayton Symington.

12mo. Cloth.....$1.50

It is a novel of real characters and will please and surprise real judges of literature.

OGILVIE'S TEACHERS' BIBLES—22 Styles

in minion and bourgeois types. Text Bibles and Bibles with helps and references in 16mo and 8vo sizes.

India Paper Edition, Red Letter Edition, Regular Editions, Sunday-School Scholars' Bibles

Nearly five years ago we were invited to become associated with those Bible publishers who are governed by an agreement to maintain high prices. We refused to do so. The wisdom of our refusal, and its importance to booksellers, becomes apparent when at this time we are able to say that our Bible business is entirely satisfactory, and Bibles of equal quality to ours cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices less than from 25 to 50 per cent. more than we ask for them. JUST THINK THIS OVER.

Any of our books can be purchased of us direct or of your jobber if more convenient to you. Don't pay Dictionary Trust or Bible Combination prices for Dictionaries or Bibles. Buy our books and make more money.

THE JACOBS LIST

New Books for 1907-1908

THE bookseller who fails to consult the Jacobs List before laying in his fall stock will forfeit the opportunity of securing some of the very best titles for the coming year.

It is a list with a purpose throughout---not merely to load the market with books, but to present to the dealer a selection which will enrich his shelves with useful, ready-selling volumes.

To-day is listed a new title in the Wit and Humor Series---one of the most popular collections of keen humor ever published. Special literature describing this series will be sent upon request.

New volumes have also been added to the American Crisis Biographies. If you have any historians among your patrons you are losing an opportunity to place the entire set in their hands unless you keep in touch with the progress constantly being made in this series.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual 1907

"The man who first spoke of the 'Publishers' Trade List Annual' as the 'Bible of the book trade' uttered a fitting phrase but used a simile that is open to at least one criticism. If the holy book was as often consulted by the public in proportion as the Trade List is by the bookhunter the cry that it is a 'neglected book' would never be heard, for in every shop and in every public library this familiar 'jumbo' in pebbled green is in constant daily use."

—Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.

"It sometimes happens, we know, that a dealer in a fit of misdirected economy will try to get along with his last year's Annual, but the experiment soon becomes an aggravation, for he quickly finds out that he cannot afford to have his bibliographical equipment a whole year behind hand."

Baroness Orczy's vivid descriptive power and genius for inventing dramatic situations have won for her an enviable place in the field of romantic fiction. Her latest story tells of Beau Brocade, a cashiered army officer, of high birth, who, dismissed from the service through the treachery of a superior officer, takes to the road and becomes a master of chivalrous highwaymanry. The romance is full of go, there is real ingenuity in the plot, and the interest is kept up at an intense pitch.

Nursery Rhymes from Mother Goose

With Drawings by GRACE G. WIEDERSEIM

A new and quaintly humorous interpretation of Mother Goose, in Mrs. Wiederseim's whimsical and fascinating drawings. There are nine full-page drawings reproduced in full colors and many other pages in tint and black and white. All the regular Mother Goose rhymes are in this collection, which is certainly the most original and satisfactory interpretation of this classic that has appeared for years.

To the Trade :

You will doubtless be interested to learn that the Ladies' Home Journal has asked permission to print in full the first chapter of Eliza Calvert Hall's "AUNT JANE OF KENTUCKY," entitled "Sally Ann's Experience."

This will appear as a two-page feature in the October number of the Ladies' Home Journal, headed by President Roosevelt's recommendation. The frontispiece of the book and the chapter illustration are also reproduced, and the editors have supplied the following introductory statement :

"Permission to reprint this first chapter from 'AUNT JANE OF KENTUCKY,' by Eliza Calvert Hall, referred to by the President, has been obtained from the publishers, Messrs. Little, Brown & Company, of Boston--which chapter, however, is not more interesting in reality than the other eight chapters of this book so brimful of an understanding of country folk."

"This ought to whet the appetites of the 5,000,000 or more readers of the Ladies' Home Journal for the entire book. How is your stock?

Mr. Live Bookdealer, Everywhere,
U.S.A.

Chicago, 21 Sept., 1907.

Dear Sir:-

The full page advertisement shown by reduced facsimile on opposite page will be published for YOUR benefit.

To print it in The Saturday Evening Post (4,000,000 readers), The Home Magazine (1,000,000 readers) and such mediums of wide national circulation will cost many thousands of dollars. It is the largest and most expensive single advertisement ever placed by any general book publisher.

Are YOU preparing to get YOUR share of its benefits?

It will be read by millions and millions of people everywhere—some of whom are YOUR customers.

Though thousands of bookdealers carry our line, only about 1500 sold the bulk of it last year; only 1500 profited as they should from our costly advertising campaign; but each one of that 1500 by his progressive cooperation "got the money" in his territory—though we intended it to benefit all dealers.

Can you afford not to join this money-making 1500?
Act promptly.

Connect YOUR window, store and counter display with OUR advertising. It will pay YOU well.

We will send without cost to you, on request, most attractive posters, show cards and cut-outs, together with photographs and suggestions for making displays.
Write us now.

YOUR cooperation will back up our advertising and concentrate its benefits on YOU in your locality.

Yours for business

Reilly & Britton

N.B. To those bookdealers who are not our customers we will gladly send, on request, our illustrated catalog—and samples of such publications as are of interest—see list on opposite page.

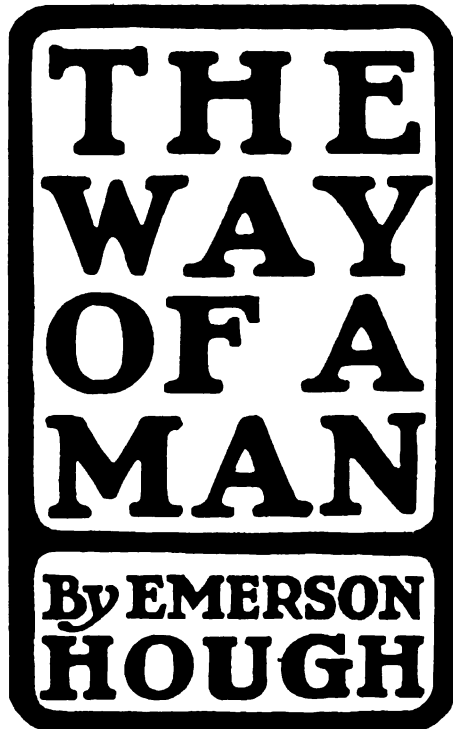

Reilly & Britton's Teddy Bears Books are the publishing "hit" of the year.

novel

Illustrated
by G. Wright

By the author of
"The
Bubble"

THE scene of this novel is laid mostly in the West during the time of the great westward movement previous to the Civil War, although the story opens in Virginia and ends there. It is full of strange adventure, of fights with the Indians, of close escapes from perils on land and water, of love and treachery, of life in the wilderness under such conditions as confronted the first Man and his Mate. A tale of stirring incident on every page. The characters are marvelously drawn, and the period in which the story is placed is reflected with wonderful spirit—full of power, passionate life and human feeling. This great novel will be read alike by those who read for the story's sake and those who appreciate good literature. It is the greatest piece of work that Mr. Hough has ever done.

Color and gaiety and excitement sparkle from every page of this delightfully thrilling romance, the best thing The Williamsons have done. The scenes are Spanish, contemporary with the recent Royal marriage, and there are adventures innumerable in a case of love at first sight and a motor dash across Spain in pursuit of the heroine, the charming Lady Monica, in the Princess Ena's suite. A magnificent description of the coronation bull-fight fittingly culminates this brilliant story.

Helena's Path

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Dolly Dialogues," etc.

A deliciously fanciful comedy that compares evenly with the author's famous "Dolly Dialogues" in prettiness and bright wit. Lord Lynborough is denied by the young and beautiful Marchesa Helena the use of a path across her estates leading to a bathing beach. The path thus becomes a bone of bitter contention. The developments which ensue are handled with exquisite finesse and charm by this master of the spirit of high comedy and romance. With frontispiece in colors. $1.25.

Pinafore Palace

Edited by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Nora Archibald Smith

A new addition to McClure's Library of Children's Classics, following in order "Golden Numbers" and "The Posy Ring." The volume is made up of nursery rhymes for the very littlest folk, taken from Mother Goose and other delightful sources, including all the masterpieces of nursery lore. $1.50.

The Wagner Stories

By

Latest Tales of Real Life

EDWARD A. STEINER

The Mediator

A Tale of The Old World and The New

Prof. Steiner is at his best in portraying this passionate Jewish boy from Russia-Poland, as he passes through the Roman-Catholic monastery, up to the American ideals, and finally through the crisis of his romance in the new world. He stirs one with his pathos and human and fiery action which only the author with insight can reproduce.—$1.50.

W. J. DAWSON

Author of "Makers of English Fiction"

A Prophet in Babylon

A Story of Social Service

With that literary skill of which the author is master, there is in this story a vivid presentation of the great need of the unreached masses, and the budding and growth of a movement effective in the solving of a most difficult problem.—$1.50.

RICHARD S. HOLMES

The Maid of Honor

A story of living interest, a romance of purpose where plot and action keep the reader alert. The young preacher is no automaton, but a man of flesh and blood and purpose. The heroine, however, is the central figure, engaging the reader's most sympathetic and absorbing interest.—$1.50.

WINIFRED KIRKLAND

Polly Pat's Parish

Illustrated by Griselda M. McClure

This is a first work of a first writer of great promise. Polly is a distinct personality among heroines and her quartet of little brothers and sisters—"the four-in-hand"—she calls them, add plenty of unexpected variety to the story. There is a dash and humor, a literary and suggestive art about the telling that defies description.—$1.00.

Author of "Two Wilderness Voyagers"

The Wooing of Tokala

"Well told, with ingenuity and cleverness in the construction of the plot, and with a simplicity throughout that adds to its charm. . . . Doubly interesting by reason of the author's intimate knowledge and truthful presentation of Indian life, customs, and character."—New York Times Saturday Review.—$1.50.

WILFRED CAMPBELL

Ian of the Orcades

"A stirring tale of the North Sea coast of Scotland in the days of King Robert the Third. It is full of adventure and excitement, with much poetic feeling in its descriptions. A pretty love story is wound in and out among the clashes of arms."

—Pittsburg Post.—Illustrated, $1.50.

Ungava Bob

A Tale of the Fur Trappers

Mr. Wallace's accounts of his explorations in the frozen interior of Labrador have made him well known as an author. In this his first attempt at fiction he gives a tale of a young trapper in the far Frozen North. It goes without saying that he describes life that he has seen, and vividly pictures the elusive and mysterious Nascapsee Indians of the Interior of Labrador and Ungava. The story is heart stirring for young and old from beginning to end.—Illustrated, $1.50.

ANCESTORS

By Gertrude Atherton

Author of "Rulers of Kings," "The Conqueror."

A GREAT American novel by the foremost American novelist. Mrs. Atherton has chosen to present California with all its ancestral power and beauty embodied in a descendant, a woman. The story is powerful with the power that grows out of individual characters, of whom the most distinguished is this high-bred young girl, claiming in ancestry the best of Spain, America, and England. Visiting kinsmen on the other side, she meets a young Englishman, her cousin, who is clever and dominant, and well on the road to political success, when tragedy in the lives of others shuts the door of his career. Then the woman persuades him that his duty lies in America. He ignores a title, ends a mistaken love affair, goes to San Francisco, and begins to study American people and affairs. With the utmost delicacy of penetration and analysis, Mrs. Atherton shows these two people inevitably drawn together, through sheer charm and strength of individuality: the man attracted, yet critical; the woman cherishing her freedom and coolly averse to love. Mrs. Atherton has done for old San Francisco what Hugo did for Paris, what Dickens and Thackeray did for London. The city, with its teeming life, glows and lives in these pages, and is really as great a part of the drama as are the characters in the foreground, leading to a moving and impressive climax in the San Francisco earthquake. That stupendous disaster—its wild scenes of fire and destruction—the peculiar terror it struck into the hearts of the people—are described with the intensity of the writer's own memories, for she was in San Francisco and saw it all. The greatest work Mrs. Atherton has done is Ancestors.

NOTES IN SEASON.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. publish to-day Randall Parrish's new novel, "Beth Norvell," with a frontispiece, in four colors, by N. C. Wyeth, which will rank with the strongest and best-written stories of the year.

A. M. ROBERTSON, San Francisco, Cal., will publish on October 10 the third edition of "The Testimony of the Suns, and other poems," by George Sterling, whose work stands high in the estimation of competent critics, and who seems to be favored by the public, which has already taken up 2000 copies and for whom another 2000 is now being made ready.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have been obliged to postpone publication until next month of Fred. M. White's new story, "The Nether Millstone," which was announced to be ready on the 21st inst. They have just ready a sixth edition (of 5000 copies) of Eliza Calvert Hall's "Aunt Jane of Kentucky," the sale of which received an added impetus through the cordial recommendation of President Roosevelt.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 28th inst. an exquisite holiday edition of Longfellow's "Hanging of the Crane," with colored illustrations by Arthur I. Keller; "Mother Goose in Silhouettes," a holiday book for children, with illustrations by Katharine G. Buffom; "Friends and Cousins," by Miss Abbie Farwell Brown; "Life and Times of Stephen Higginson," by Colonel Thomas W. Higginson; "The Temple of Virtue," by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham; Part I of Volume II. of Professor Charles S. Sargent's valuable work on "Trees and Shrubs;" and "Emerson's Essays" in the Riverside Literature Series.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready a new volume in Ruel Perley Smith's Rival Campers Series, entitled "The Rival Campers Ashore." The leading characters in the two previous books are active sharers in the events Mr. Smith has chronicled in his new book, and interest is enhanced by the introduction of a girl, who is full of life and fun and contributes her full share to the good times the boys can always be relied upon to obtain from every occasion. Like the other volumes in the series, the book is full of wholesome, out-of-door atmosphere, and the boys spend a large part of their time in spirited athletic contests which always appeal to healthy boys and girls.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have just ready "The House of the Vampire," George Sylvester Viereck's first work of fiction, symbolic of literary vampirism in much the same way that Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is symbolic of the dual nature in man. They will publish shortly Thomas L. Masson's new book, "A Bachelor's Baby," which suggests in general contents and appearance his successful book of two years ago—"A Corner in Women." The forthcoming book contains Masson's very latest humor, which means his very shrewdest and best work. The book has been freely illustrated by Flagg, Richards, Hanna, Crosby, Budd and other favorites, and has a cover of baby faces by Blashfield. Other books nearly ready are "The Blue Ocean's Daughter," a story of Revolutionary times by Cyrus Townsend Brady, with illustrations by George Gibbs; also, "Wild Animal Celebrities," by Ellen Velvin, which relates the life stories of actual animals now living and on exhibition in various zoological gardens and menageries throughout the world.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger†. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☞

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Allen, Hamilton Ford. The infinitive in Polybius compared with the infinitive in biblical Greek. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1907. c. 60 p. 8°, (Univ. of Chicago historical and linguistic studies in literature related to the New Testament, 2d ser.) pap., *50 c. net.

Andersen, Niels Christian, M.D. Evolution of the human soul and the future life scientifically demonstrated. St. Paul, Minn., Andersen Publishing Co., [1907.] c. '06. 202 p. D. cl., $1.

Seeks to prove that the evolution of the human soul is just as real as the evolution of the body; that only from the structure of man, physical, intellectual and psychical, can science solve the problem of the soul of man and a future life. Facts in scientific and religious history are cited to prove his arguments. Author evidently believes that reincarnation is a working out of the theory of evolution.

Auchincloss, W: Stuart. Christianity and the Britons. N. Y., William S. Auchincloss, 1907. 18 p. O. pap., 25 c.

The author of the "Book of Daniel unlocked" and other pamphlets aims to show "Christianity had a foothold in Britain some 400 years before St. Augustine's day and continued to hold its ground under the same auspices—the Roman Catholic church—for more than 900 years after his arrival." He offers a sketch of the progress of the Christian churches from the end of the first century to the beginning of the twentieth to sustain his assertions.

Auchincloss, W: Stuart. The mask of Eddyism. N. Y., William S. Auchincloss, 1907. 8 p. O. pap., 25 c.

A severe criticism of Mrs. Eddy's "Science and health" and the system described in it under the name of Christian Science. The writer says he would not object to its being called "Eddyism." "A word which everyone understands," but earnestly protests "against the use of those words in which the system has so long masqueraded before the public eye."

Ayres, Albert D. A handbook on how to locate mining claims under the acts of Congress and the statutes of Nevada; with a few of the most frequently used forms. [Also] Supplement: Nevada mining laws of 1907. Sparks, Nev., E. M. Applegarth, [1907.] c. '06. 9-75 p. S. cl., 75 c.; pap., 50 c.

Baar, Hermann. Talks to Jewish children: addresses on homely and religious subjects. In 2 v. N. Y., Bloch Publishing Co., 1907. 306; 388 p. 12°, cl., ea., $1.50.

Bachelor, Irving Addison. Eben Holden's last day a-fishing. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 60 p. il. S. cl., *750 c.

The author of "Eben Holden" makes his old hero the central figure in two new pictures—in one he goes a-fishing in June, revealing himself a true lover of good sport, old though he is, and shows that time cannot change his gentle humor, his caustic wisdom, and his simple kindness. The other picture, of Christmas-time, is in Eben Holden's old fashioned country home.

Bacon, Mrs. Josephine Dodge Daskam. The domestic adventurers. N. Y., Scribner, 1907. c. 221 p. il. D. cl., †$1.

Three young women workers after living seven years in small city quarters decide to take a whole house out of town. The story tells of the servant trouble and describes five separate cases in detail. There are two devoted men friends, and the narrator is constantly wondering to which of them the men will finally drift. The clearing up is a surprise.

Bangs, J: Kendrick. Alice in Blunderland: an iridescent dream; il. by Albert Levering. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1907. c. '06, '07. 8+124 p. D. cl., **60 c. net.

Many vexatious questions that are now agitating the Republic, such as the regulation of trusts, municipal ownership, or the troubles of corporations are here solved by everybody's old friend "Alice," who went into "Wonderland," and the "White Hare," and the "Hatter." The conversations and arguments are extremely funny and far above a child's entire comprehension.

Barber, Edwin Atlee. Artificial soft paste porcelain; France, Italy, Spain and England. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1907. c. '06. 40 p. il. pls. fold. tab., O. (Primers of art.) cl., **90 c. net.

The art primers of the Pennsylvania Museum and

School of Industrial Arts (of which series this is an issue) are designed to furnish, for the use of collectors, historical and art students and artisans, the most reliable information, based on the latest discoveries relating to the various industrial arts. Each monograph, complete in itself, contains a historical sketch, review of processes, description of characteristic examples of the newest productions, and all available data that will help to facilitate the identification of specimens. The illustrations are largely reproductions of examples in the Pennsylvania Museum collections. Present volume is devoted to the frit porcelain (pâte tendre), commonly known as French porcelain.

Barrie, Ja. Matthew. The little minister. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1907.] 10+454 p. por. D. (Crowell's thin paper classics.) limp leath., $1.25, boxed.

Bible. His will: a comprehensive presentation of God's will as expressed in the divine commands, warnings, and promises of the Scriptures, topically arranged by C. M. & M. J. Ellinwood. Chic., C. M. & M. J. Ellinwood, 1907. c. 668 p. D. flex. mor., $2.50.

Contents: pt. 1, His commands; pt. 2, His warnings; pt. 3, His promises.

Biesemeyer, Lorenz Fredrick, M.D. "The monitor": a compendium of advice and friendly counsel to the honest layman. [Westphalia, Mo., Monitor Book-Concern, 1906, 1907.] c. 164+7 p. D. cl., $1.

Contents: Preface; What constitutes quackery; Get-rich-quick schemes; Poisons of the mind and their antidotes; Race suicide; Crime; Care of the young; Heredity; Prediction of sex; Glasses; Fashion; Superstition; The jury system from a medical standpoint; The drink habit; Doctors toward one another; The doctor and the laity; Jealousy; The teacher and the public; Modernism and the boss; Some valuable recipes.

Bigelow, E. Fuller, comp. and ed. Walking: a fine art, as practised by naturalists and explained by original contributions to this volume, and by quotations from the published works of those who love to dally along country lanes. Salem, Mass., Samuel E. Cassino & Son, [1907.] c. 163 p. pors. pls. O. cl., $1.50, boxed.

Prefaced by a paper on "Walking, the basis and unifier of outdoor interests" by the compiler, there are quotations of varying length in prose and verse by Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Sir Leslie Stephen, James Buckham, Dallas Lore Sharp, John Burroughs, Thoreau, Emerson, and others. Text enclosed in red ornamental borders. Illustrated by full-page half-tones of photographs.

Billingsley, Ja. J. The scientific basis of immortality. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, [1907.] c. 47 p. S. pap., *15 c. net.

Brief survey of scientific and philosophical writers to show the trend of opinion towards a belief in immortality. Schopenhauer, Tyndall, and Metchnikoff are quoted to show that "science is the prophetess of immortality."

Bindloss, Harold. Winston of the prairie; with il. in color by W. Herbert Dunton. N. Y., Frederick A. Stokes Co., [1907.] c. 6+340 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

The prairie is the lonely land of northwestern Canada. Winston, after six years of hard labor, finds himself on the verge of starvation. He consents for $100 to personate a man of reckless character whom he resembles. After some time he does not wish to resume his own name, because the other man has stained it with murder, and is reported dead. Under the name of Courthorpe he comes into an inheritance. His life on his new property, the turning up of his alter ego, the great wheat problem of the West, are worked into a lively story.

Bosma, Rev. Menno J. Exposition of Reformed doctrine: a popular explanation of the most essential teachings of the Reformed churches. Grand Rapids, Mich., [B. Sevensma, 1907.] c. 307+4 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Boulting, W. Tasso and his times; with 24 illustrations. N. Y., Putnam, 1907. 15+314 p. pors. O. cl., *$2.75 net.

It is only within the last few years that the real facts concerning the life of the author of the "Gerusalemme liberata" have been discovered. Born in 1544 of a well-known Italian family, Tasso's life was saddened from the first by separation from his parents. His schooldays passed he lived intensely, feverishly, playing his part in the brilliant life of Italian courts—Rome, Ferrara, Venice—of the sixteenth century, the friend of courtiers and men of letters, until, worn out and embittered, madness overtook him and his life was brought to a close in 1595. The man Tasso and his surroundings are here portrayed by the English author, who is known as the editor of Simondi's "Italian republics." List of authorities (2 p.). Index.

Bourke, S. Ten Eyck. Fables in feathers; told by S. Ten Eyck Bourke; il. by J. M. Condé. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1907.] c. 114 p. pls. sq. D. cl., $1.

In a fanciful setting are offered a group of legends dealing with bird life. Among other secrets of that long-ago time we learn "Why the swallow wears a forked tail," "Why the robin wears a red breast," "Why the woodpecker goes a-tapping," "Why the owl can't see in the sun," "Why the peacock wears eyes on his tail," "Why the crow's feathers are black," and other things just as interesting and until now unexplained.

Bridge, Norman, M.D. House health, and other papers. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1907. c. 6+204 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Contents: House health; Human talk; The blind side of the average parent; Some commencement ideals; A domestic clearing house; The true gospel of sleep; Some unconceded rights of parents and children; The trained nurse and the larger life. Author is emeritus professor of medicine, Rush Medical College, University of Chicago, lecturer and writer on medical and cognate subjects.

Bronson, Walter Cochrane, comp. and ed. English poems; selected and ed., with illustrative and explanatory notes and bibliographies, by Walter C. Bronson. In 4 v. [v. 4.] The nineteenth century. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1907. c. 15+619 p. O. cl., *$1.50 net; Teachers' ed., *$1 net.

The editor is professor of English literature, Brown University. "This volume is the last in a projected series of four volumes of English poems, intended especially for use with college classes. The first volume will include Old English poems in translation, Middle English poems, a few specimens of the pre-Elizabethan drama, and old ballads. The second volume will cover the Elizabethan and Caroline periods. The third volume will cover the period of the Restoration and the eighteenth century. The present volume is devoted to the poetry of the nineteenth century. In the preparation of the present volume authors and poems have been chosen both for their merit and for their significance in the history of English literature. The book is, therefore, not an anthology or collection of the best poems. It is a collection of good poems that illustrate the different periods and phases of the work of individual poets, and the rise, growth, and decline of schools of poetry." Notes (88 p.). Bibliography (15 p.). Index of authors. Index of titles. Index to first lines.

Carpenter, Frank G. How the world is fed. N. Y., American Book Co., [1907.] c. 3-362 p. il. D. (Readers on commerce and industry.) cl., 60 c.

In first sending out this book in June the publishers entitled it "Foods; or, how the world is fed," and included it in a series called "Carpenter's industrial readers." The contents is just the same, a notice of which will be found in "Weekly Record," P. W., June 8, 1907, [1845.] The book is to be known hereafter by the title now given.

Cary, H: Grosvenor. The Cary family in America; appendix: Jonathan Cary ye third of Charlestown, by Isaac Harris Cary. Dorchester Center, Bost., Rev. Seth Cooley Cary, 1907. 14+106 p. facsimis., double geneal. tab. pors., pl. Q. cl., $5.

Supplements the author's former work, "The Cary family in England," published a year ago.

Clark, W: M. The parson's perversity: a comedy in three acts. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 24 p. D. pap., 15 c.

Clayton, Jos. Bishop Westcott. N. Y., Thomas Whittaker, Inc., 1907. 191 p. 12°, (Leaders of the church, 1800-1900; ed. by G: W. E. Russell,) cl., *$1.75 net.

Cochrane, Rev. W: S. Conflict and victory. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1907.] c. 9-219 p. D. cl., *$1 net.

Following an introduction by Rev. E. R. Lathrop and an appreciation by Rev. H. C. Jennings, are several autobiographical chapters giving briefly the events in the life of the author who, since 1888, has been an honored and faithful member of the Minnesota Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. For several years he has been a helpless invalid and also blind. He is now living at Ridgeway, Ontario. Two-thirds of the volume is, however, made up of papers on religious subjects, meditative and admonitory, and all betokening an alert, optimistic mind.

Cohen, Mrs. Nathaniel L. The children's Psalm book: a selection of Psalms with explanatory comments, together with a prayer-book for home use in Jewish families; the Psalms are printed both in Hebrew and English. N. Y., Bloch Publishing Co., 1907. 305 p. 12°, cl., *$1 net.

Conrad, Jos. The secret agent: a simple tale. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 373 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Scene is laid in the London under world where criminals make strange companions. Plot centres in the secret agent of the Russian Embassy, one Verloc, who is supposed to be an anarchist and hand and glove with foreign conspirators. Inaction however, has made him lethargic and dull, and, furthermore, he has married a wife and longs for a peaceful life. Events disclose the inner workings of anarchistic associations and the ever mindful police force, and culminate in a bomb outrage perpetrated on a miserable degenerate brother-in-law of Verloc. Tragedy and sordid failure end the story.

Crawford, Oswald J: F. The revelations of Inspector Morgan. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1907. c. 17+341 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

The four stories embraced under the title of "The revelations of Inspector Morgan" are the actual experiences of a member of England's world-famous detective force, which has its headquarters at Scotland Yard. They aim to establish the professional detective police of England "in that position of superiority to the mere amateur and outsider from which he has been ousted in contemporary fiction," so says the author, who is well known as a writer of novels. The tales included here are named: "Gentleman Coggins alias Towers," "The flying man," "The murder of Jex Faau," and "The kidnapped children."

Cunningham, Daniel J: M.D. Manual of practical anatomy. In 2 v. N. Y., William Wood & Co., 1907. 6-639 p. il. 12°, flexible waterproof, ea., *$2.50 net.

Curran, J: Jos. Mr. Foley of Salmon: a story of life in a California village. San Jose, Cal., John J. Curran, 1907. c. 5-186 p. D. cl., $1.

Curtis, Alice Turner. Grandpa's little girls; il. by Wuanita Smith. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 201 p. D. (Sunbeam ser. for young people.) cl., *$1.

When Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neuman were going to California for the winter their two little girls of ten and eight were sent to Grandfather Neuman at Pine Tree Farm. The story tells most amusingly how the old people and the young people plotted to remain together, and how "Miss Abitha" secretly brought it all about, just as they had wished.

Cushing, Josiah Nelson, D.D. Christ and Buddha; with an appreciation of the author by H: Melville King; published by the request and with the generous aid of friends. Phil., American Baptist Publication Society, [1907.] c. 7-160 p. D. cl., **60 c. net.

Dr. Cushing, born in North Attleboro, Mass., in 1840, died in St. Louis in 1905, was for forty years a missionary in Burma and from 1893 president of the Baptist College in Rangoon. This book, found in manuscript after his death, is published as a memorial. It is a concise, yet comprehensive discussion of the contrast between Christianity and Buddhism. Biographical sketch by the pastor emeritus of the First Baptist Church in Providence, R. I., prefaces the study.

Davis, General C: Lukens. North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati. [Schenectady, N. Y., General Charles L. Davis, U. S. A.,] 1907. c. 10+106 p. il. pors. facsim., Q. cl., **$3.50 net. (300 copies.)

While General Davis's book is largely devoted to the particular history of the Society in North Carolina it contains probably the best sketch of the founding and career of the general Society of the Cincinnati available. Contains lists of officers of the general Society from its foundation in 1783, and of the N. C. Society from its organization in 1783; a list of the original and hereditary and of the present honorary members of the N. C. Society; a necrology, by-laws, etc.

Dennett, E: P. The Christian program. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1907.] c. 9-36 p. D. cl., *50 c. net.

Author believes that the "General rules" of Methodism are an all-sufficient program for a Christian life. These five principles, or rules, viz., that a Christian life should be harmless, unworldly, humane, aggressive and devout, are here stated and elaborated.

Dewe, J. A. Medieval and modern history: its formative causes and broad movements; with maps and illustrations. N. Y., Hinds, Noble & Eldredge, [1907.] c. 518 p. O. cl., $2.

Author is professor of history in the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minnesota. He says, in his preface: "He has not confined his narrative to the movements of armies or to the sequence of political events; it has been his purpose rather to impart a sound knowledge of the nature of institutions and of the economic, social, and religious causes of historical events. He has also attempted to give clear ideas of the broad movements of history and of the relations of such movements. Special attention has been given to the treatment of English history and a fuller consideration to the affairs of the church and its relations to the state than is to be found in most histories of the mediæval period." Each chapter is followed by a topical summary and a list of books for general references. Index to church history, and General index.

Dresslar, Fletcher Bascom. Superstition and education. Berkeley, Cal., University of California Press, [1907.] 239 p. Q. (University of California publications, Education.) pap., $2.50.

Material upon which these discussions of superstition are based was gathered from the written records of 875 students between the ages of sixteen and twenty-eight years in two normal schools of California. More than half the volume consists of classified lists of superstitions given in the students' own words, with accompanying statistics showing how many students believed or disbelieved each superstition. Then follow chapters on: What is superstition, belief and uses of superstitions, luck, wishing, charms and curses, various common superstitions, etc. Bibliography (2 p.). Index.

Fisher, Irving. The influence of flesh-eating on endurance. [New Haven, Ct., Yale Medical Journal, 1907.] 16 p. O. pap. (Address pubs. for price.)

Author is professor of political economy at Yale University. This article is reprinted from the Yale Medical Journal of March, 1907. It describes some experiments made upon Yale students and nurses and employes of the Battle Creek Sanitarium to determine the relations of certain dietetic factors to endurance, particularly the factors of proteid and flesh foods. The results of the comparisons which are given indicate that the users of low-proteid and non-flesh dietaries have far greater endurance than those who are accustomed to the ordinary American diet.

Glyn, Mrs. Elinor Sutherland. Three weeks. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1907. c. 5-290 p. por. D. cl., †$1.50.

A young Englishman who, during convalescence from accident in the hunting field has become attached to the parson's daughter, is sent by his parents to Switzerland to give him other ideas. At Lucerne he meets "the lady," a passionate Slav nature, married to a brutal husband, ruler of one of the many little kingdoms of Austria. The author wishes to analyze a noble woman who has an uplifting effect on the Englishman and awakens soul and ideals in him. They live together for three weeks, then "the lady" goes home, and shortly after the birth of a son is murdered by her husband. She remains a power for good in the Englishman's life.

Harben, Will Nathaniel. Mam' Linda: a novel; il. by F. B. Masters. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 388 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A swift-moving tale of Georgia which treats the negro question from a standpoint altogether new—not that of the North, for the author is Southern born, with a full measure of loyal Southern feeling; and yet the standpoint is altogether different from the Southern one, which has been of recent years most exploited. The love interest centres about Carson Dwight, a young lawyer, and Helen Warren, to whom he is devotedly attached. By the author of "Ann Boyd," "Pole Baker," etc.

Harboe, Paul. A child's story of Hans Christian Andersen. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1907. c. 11-278 p. il. pors. pls. O. cl., $1.50.

A biography of the author of "The ugly duckling," written for young people. The story is told in simple language and in a straightforward way, the many romantic episodes of the author's life being made very interesting. It is divided into chapters entitled: Childhood; The young man; Through foreign lands; In the world of children; In Great Britain; The friend of monarchs; The greatest event in his life; The story-teller as he was.

Relates in semi-story style the experiences of a group of girls who wished to speak grammatically and obtain ease in conversation. They arrange with an old teacher to write letters and essays to her which she returns corrected, with explanations of the corrections. They hold weekly meetings at each other's houses, when Miss Wilson's (the teacher's) missives are read and discussed. Quite a little fun, as well as information, will be found in the book.

Hinkson, Mrs. Katharine Tynan, [formerly Katharine Tynan.] For Maisie. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1907. 8+312 p. front. D. cl., $1.25.

The principal figure in a quiet English story is a rough, uncultured man, who is not without elements of greatness in his character. Maisie is a little girl who, with her dying mother, seeks shelter in his poor cottage one stormy night. He adopts the child, and henceforth bestows upon her the most unselfish love and devotion, which she returns. He becomes wealthy, has her finely educated, and sends her abroad. She has a love story, and in order that she shall be happy he performs a noble act of self-sacrifice.

Howell, Ja. Epistolæ Ho-elianæ; or, the familiar letters of James Howell; with an introd. by Agnes Repplier. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1907. c. 2 v., 35+407; 513 p. pors. facsim., O. bds., $*.55 net.

James Howell, who lived from about 1595 to 1666, was one of the greatest travellers of his day, a friend of Ben Jonson, an accomplished linguist, and an outspoken loyalist. For his devotion to Charles I. he spent some years in Fleet Prison, but was rewarded by Charles II. by being made Historiographer Royal of England, a position created for him and retained until his death. His letters are not only a storehouse of quaint anecdote, curious information, and racy phrase; they are likewise a repository of the intimate history of a most romantic age in England, and they present invaluable lights upon the social conditions of many countries of Europe during the middle 17th century.

Hunter, A. Hart. The engagement book; decorated by Helen Knipe. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., [1907.] c. no paging, O. cl., $1; leath., $2.50, boxed.

Intended for both social and matrimonial engagements. There is a blank space in which to record engagements for each day in the year, but in addition to this the book gives month by month, through pictures and verses, a complete heart history from the first meeting to the betrothal. Each page in decorative frame. Printed in red and black.

- Kingsley, Mrs. Florence Morse. Those queer Browns; front. by Harrison Fisher. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1907. c. 282 p. D. cl., $1.50.
Several of the characters of the author's "The singular Miss Smith" reappear in this story. The heroine is a delightful type of the clever, yet innocent and ingenuous American girl, and her artless revelations of herself, together with her ambitious at-
- tempts to achieve altruism and the higher levels of the new socialism, after the somewhat difficult manner of that serious personage, Professor William Rutherford Brown, whom she calls "Billy," are full of humor. Incidentally, the story throws occasional sidelights on many of the vexed questions of the day.
- Knight, Arthur Percival. The repulsion theory. [Tacoma, Wash., Arthur P. Knight,] 1907. c. 7-123 p. O. pap., $1.75.
A treatise on physics based on the assumption that there is no action at a distance, or attractive action, in natural phenomena, but that all such phenomena are due to mutually repulsive contact actions of particles occupying space.

Anderson Crow was town marshal, fire chief and street commissioner in the little town of Tinkletown, supposed to be of Revolutionary renown. His "daughter" was left on his doorstep one bitter winter night and $1000 a year came regularly for her support. She received a good education "finishing" in New York City. She is abducted from Anderson's house and the story deals with the search for her undertaken by Anderson, who has now been put on the police force also. All clears up after many troublous adventures, and the "daughter's" parentage is explained.

McGovern, Rev. James Joseph, comp. Catholic pocket dictionary and cyclopedia; containing a brief explanation of the doctrines, discipline, rites, ceremonies and councils of the holy Catholic church, including an abridged account of the religious orders; compiled from approved sources. McIntyre, J. T. The boy tars of 1812; il. by Clyde O. Deland. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 319 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The time is at the opening of the war of 1812. A duplicate plan of the American coast defences is for the moment supposed to be lost and in danger of falling into the hands of the British. It is finally believed to be hidden in an old mansion on Long Island belonging to one of the young heroes. There are two American lads who make a search for it and find it. They participate in the conflict between the "Constitution" and the "Guerrière" and are with General Jackson at the battle of New Orleans. Vivid pictures of these two battles are presented.

Malone, Captain Paul Bernard. A West Point yearling; il. by F. A. Carter. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 383 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Two previous volumes—"Winning his way to West Point" and "A plebe at West Point"—cover the past experiences of Douglas Atwell's life. He is the hero of this story, and is a cadet at West Point during a period when hazing had become a serious menace to the discipline of the Military Academy. As president of the yearling class, and a recognized leader among his comrades, he succeeds in breaking up hazing, in which process he has a personal encounter with the class bully and other disagreeable episodes. He figures in the army and navy football game, as well as in other phases of West Point life.

Having had access to the accumulated Henry papers of a hundred years, including many unused Virt originals, the author has been able to put much new historical matter into this study of the great American orator, who "gave the first impulse to the Revolution." An analytic, comprehensive and spirited record of the various stages of Henry's career by the author of "The issue." Notes, copies of documents, etc., in appendix. Index.

Moulton, R. Green. Shakespeare as a dramatic thinker: a popular illustration of fiction as the experimental side of philosophy. [New ed. of "The moral system of Shakespeare."] N. Y., Macmillan, 1907. c. '03, '07. 8+381 p. D. cl., **$1.50 net.

By the professor of literary theory and interpretation in the University of Chicago; author also of "The ancient classical drama" and "Shakespeare as a dramatic artist." The present work is supplementary to the latter book, and is a re-issue with rewritten Introduction of "The moral system of Shakespeare" published in 1903—a misunderstood title, the author has had reason to believe. The purpose of the present inquiry is to find out what is Shakespeare's philosophy of life and the universe. In bk. 1 particular dramas are presented, to illustrate the root ideas of Shakespeare's philosophy; bk. 2 surveys the world of his creation in its moral complexity, while bk. 3 considers the forces of life in Shakespeare's moral world. Appendix contains plot schemes of his dramas; index to plays and general index.

A medley of original automobile jingles. All the phases and fancies of the popular fad are here, from the vagaries of the spark plug to those of the chauffeur, the auto slang, the speed craze, the bursted tire and the bill for it. A. R. Bowker has decorated the book and illustrated it humorously and effectively in two colors.

A great-granddaughter of Mme. Constant by her first marriage to Baron de Marenholtz unearthed from the Marenholtz archives some hitherto unpublished letters written by Mme. de Staël to Constant after their rupture. In them much of her passionate nature breaks forth, and in the midst of her keen interest in politics comes her constant cry that that most inconstant of Constants has ruined her life. Besides these letters, the editor, Baroness de Nolde, has added many details of the lives of both Mme. de Staël and Benjamin Constant, which she gathered from her grandmother, the wife of Mme. Constant's son, the Baroness de Marenholtz.

The celebrated landscape architect, designer of Central Park, New York, and of Jackson Park, Chicago, made leisurely journeys during the fifties through our Southern states, recording his observations in a series of volumes that have become authoritative information. The present work continues his investigations noted in "A journey in the seaboard slave states," but confines itself in the main to the hill-country people and those engaged in, or affected by, the production of cotton. Portrays the manners and customs of the Southerners before the war and lays special emphasis on the slavery question—a seething topic in 1860. Index.

Scene, mountains of Colorado; time, present day. A young mining engineer, having just completed a remunerative piece of work, takes a vacation. He hires himself as stage carpenter to a travelling theatrical company. The leading actress attracts his attention by her performance of a part relating to woman's duty in married life. Circumstances combine to make him the woman's protector. Mining camp fights and miners' reckless lives, a Mexican dancing girl, who proves a fearless heroine, and many startling adventures are worked into the plot. The young actress is a woman devoted to duty and ideals, whose principles on the subject of marriage keep her loyal to the villain of the story.

Most of this material appeared in Everybody's Magazine under the title of "Soldiers of the common good." It has, however, been entirely re-written and revised and a chapter on "Co-operative experiments in America" added. Beginning with the handful of wretched Rochdale weavers who in 1844 started the first experiment in co-operative store-keeping, the author describes the successive efforts of downtrodden mankind to solve the problems of poverty and oppression. Municipal ownership in England and continental countries; government control of railroads in Germany, Switzerland, etc.; Australia's experiments in government and New Zealand's amazing success in state ownership and state control, are in turn reviewed and deductions arrived at for our own social problems.

Scholfield, Socrates. The doctrine of mechanicalism. Providence, R. I., Socrates Scholfield, 1907. c. 59 p. D. cl., $1 net.

"The thesis herein advanced is based upon the assumption that animal organisms are conscious fabricative machines, which are constructed and operated through the power of environing forces. And it maintains that if the governing factors of animal organisms are based upon the principles of mechanics, as embodied in the governing elements of analogous inanimate machines, then a future state of conscious existence is reasonably assured and important questions of metaphysics may be satisfactorily answered. The doctrine that animal organisms are dependently related fabricative machines may be termed the doctrine of mechanicalism."—Introduction.

Schwartz, Julia Augusta. Beatrice Leigh at college: a story for girls; il. by Eva M. Nagel. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 5-338 p. D. cl., $1.25.

Lila Allan, an over sensitive girl, who takes offense at every little thing, is not a very agreeable companion. She meets but few that she thinks worth liking, and finally goes to college in the hope of finding an intimate friend at last. Her roommate is Beatrice Leigh, a clever, wholesome girl, who exercises a strong influence for the better upon Lila Allan's character. All the many joys and pains that go to make up a college year find a place in the narrative.

Waring, Luther Hess. The law and the gospel of labor. Wash., D. C., Neale Publishing Co., 1907. c. 140 p. D. cl., $1.

A protest against the tyranny of the labor unions, and more particularly a consideration of strikes and boycotts, first, in relation to the law of the land and, secondly, in relation to the gospel of Jesus Christ. Pt. 1 takes up the labor union and the law, citing existing laws and examples of infringement; while pt. 2 submits the discussion to the higher test of the gospel of love.

Washington, G.; and Webster, Daniel. The farewell address of George Washington; and the Bunker Hill orations of Daniel Webster. N. Y., University Publishing Co., 1907. c. 101 p. 12°, (Standard literature ser.) cl., 20 c.; pap., 12½ c.

Wilberforce, Reginald G. Bishop Wilberforce. N. Y., Thomas Whittaker, Inc., 1907. 271 p. 12°, (Leaders of the church, 1800-1900; ed. by G: W: E. Russell.) cl., *$1.75 net.

Williams, Francis Howard. The higher education: a comedy in two acts. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 43 p. D. pap., 15 c.

Williams, Francis Howard. Kribbs & Co.: a farce in one act. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1907. c. 22 p. D. pap., 15 c.

Wilson, Luther Halsey. The lost dream; or, an exposition of the dream of Nebuchadnezzar and other dreams and visions of the book of Daniel. Dickey, Ga., Converse & Wing, 1906, [1907.] c. 240 p. D. cl., $1.

This is not a commentary nor an exposition of the Book of Daniel as a book, but merely a brief exposition of its prophetic part. Hence the reader will not find in it any discussion of controverted points connected with the date, authorship, authenticity and inspiration of the book. The author proceeds upon the accepted and well-nigh universal belief of evangelical Christendom upon these questions. In interpreting the prophecies he uses both prose and verse.

Wodell, F: W: The choir and class voice-book: a practical handbook of voice culture for choir and class. Bost., F. W. Wodell, 1907. c. 34 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Prepared for the use of the choir or choral class leader. The exercises have been tested and proven effective.

Wright, Hamilton M. A handbook of the Philippines; with three new maps, made especially for the book, and 150 il. from photographs. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1907. c. 17+431 p. D. cl., *$1.40 net.

Mr. Wright has recently travelled through the islands in order to make a complete report to the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association of San Francisco, and this book is the outcome of his investigations while there. He enjoyed peculiar opportunities for seeing and studying life in the Philippines in their every practical aspect; but his inquiries were bent to the particular feature of collecting and analyzing information concerning commerce, productions, opportunities, etc., which should be of value to the manufacturer, exporter and traveller. Appendix contains text of the Treaty of Paris, statistical tables, reports of health conditions, money tables, etc. Each chapter is followed by a bibliography. Index.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LAYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 21, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

COLLATING FIFTEENTH CENTURY BOOKS.*

THE collation of a book is the enumeration of the number of leaves according to the way in which they are arranged in quires, and this collation should be given whether the quires are signed or not. If there are signatures, there can be no difficulty in counting the number of leaves which go to each quire; but when there are no signatures, as is the case with most books before 1475, the collation is a more difficult matter. The first thing to be looked at, if the book has no signatures written in by hand, is the sewing, which shows the centre of the quire, and enables the counting of leaves from sewing to sewing.† This gives only the halves of two quires, and therefore recourse must be had to the watermarks. In a folio, if one leaf has a watermark the corresponding leaf which forms the other half of the sheet has none. In a quarto corresponding leaves have either no watermark, or each has half of one. With the sewing and watermarks as a basis, there is rarely any difficulty in making out the collation, the first and last quires being perhaps the only difficult ones to determine with accuracy; it is thus always best to settle the arrangement of the inside quires first and work from them to the outer sections, which are more likely to be mutilated. This method of collating by watermarks is very often useful for detecting made-up copies. Notice must always be taken of blank leaves which are part of the book.

Every defect in the text and binding should be frankly reported. Very often missing pages have been replaced by pages from another copy or damaged leaves have been cleverly pieced out with facsimiles or by hand, damaged illustrations retouched or modern bindings substituted for the original ones, etc. All these defects in or deviations from the original edition must be carefully noted and reported. If the work contains miniatures or initials or other decorative additions to the printed page the bookseller must be pardoned even if he unduly dwells upon these attractions. The binding, maps, plates, woodcuts, in fact anything or everything that has been added to the volume to make it more attractive should be specially mentioned and described as minutely as they deserve to be.

Previous ownership and the individual history of a book is of the utmost importance and should never be ignored. Notes of these appended to the titles should epitomize the compiler's knowledge of the subject, "working out for the printed book," as Henry Bradshaw says, "the history of the volume from the present to the past; to peel off, as it were, every accretion, piece by piece, entry by entry, making each contribute its share of evidence of the book's history backwards from generation to generation; to take note of every entry which shows either use, or ownership or even the various changes of library arrangement, until we get back to the book itself as it left the original scriptorium or the hands of the scribe; noting how the book is made up; how the quires are numbered for the binder; how the corrector has done his work, leaving his certificate on the quire leaf or page, or not, as the case may be; how the rubricator has performed his part; what kind of handwriting the scribe uses; and finally, to what country or district all these pieces of evidence point. . . . The quiet building up of facts, the habit of patiently watching a book, and listening while it tells its own story, must tend to produce a solid groundwork of knowledge which alone leads to that sober confidence before which both negative assumption and ungrounded speculation, however brilliant, must ultimately fall."

As a fair example of treating the title of a fifteenth century book for a bookseller's cat-

Regarding the arrangement of the titles of incunabula in a bookseller's catalogue little may be said. If they are run in with other titles they may be distinguished in various ways, according to the fancy of the cataloguer. Usually they are prominently displayed in heavy type under a caption calling special attention to their age, press, or other distinguishing characteristic. In a special catalogue of incunabula the titles are usually arranged in chronological order under the names of the cities where they were printed, the latter arranged alphabetically, as Augsburg, Basle, Cremona, Leipzig, Milan, etc. In exceptional cases fifteenth century books are catalogued exclusively in chronological order, that is, according to date of publication. Under no circumstances must they be arranged in alphabetical order by author or title.

Everybody's Magazine for September contains an article on "The Department Store at Close Range" which, like all discussions of such subjects from the outside, often contribute to the gayety of those who really know the subject from the inside. After talking entertainingly of the things few people really care to know very much about, the writer of the article commits the error of illustrating one of his statements by an example. He is writing of the efforts of the buyer to keep stocks low in order that the capital invested in his department may be kept working—books, for example. "For illustration," says this reporter of department store methods, "take the business in books. If the buyer is reasonably sure that he can sell 200 copies of a certain novel, he doesn't buy that number at once. The publisher usually gets seventy-five cents for a book that is listed at $1.50, retail. The department store buyer orders ten books, for which he pays $7.50. He sells these books at $1.08 each—the selling price is as carefully standardized as everything else in a department store. . . . When the first ten books are sold, the buyer orders ten more, paying for them out of the sales of the first ten, and so on until the demand for the novel is exhausted. If he sells the whole 200, he has done a business of $216 on a capital of $7.50, and he has the profits made on each ten to apply to buying other books if he wishes." The writer of this should have borne in mind the advice given to an eminent judge by his father-in-law, also an eminent jurist: "My son, never explain your decisions; because, while your decisions, in the main, may be right, your explanations are apt to be wrong."

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS PROTEST AGAINST PRICE OF PAPER.

AFTER a long discussion and debate covering all phases of the "white paper situation," the members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association passed a resolution at a special meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City, on the 18th inst., to take steps to obtain relief from the high rates charged for paper.

The white paper situation was described by one of the members as the most important topic in present day newspaper economics and a vital one in the future of the newspapers of the country. Recently the prices were advanced by the independent manufacturers of paper, and quotations are said to range from $2.50 to $2.75. Some of the great paper concerns are not quoting prices at all, it is stated. Production has practically stopped, it is said.

The more important points contained in the preamble of the resolution are as follows:

In view of the information submitted to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association by its committee on paper, indicating that unlawful combinations of paper makers have been organized recently, that artificial stimulation of prices has been accomplished, and that judicial prohibition of such efforts has been disobeyed, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association hereby instructs its committee on paper to invite the attention of the President and the Department of Justice to these movements, which we regard as conspiracies in restraint of trade, and we give these instructions to the committee, in order:

First—That the authority of the existing statutes for repression of trade combinations may be invoked.

Second—That the defiance of recent judicial action prohibiting participation in such combinations by certain Western mills may be punished.

And that the President of the United States may be put in possession of information which shall equip him to advise Congress of the abuse of tariff powers by paper makers.

This resolution followed:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the duty on printing paper, wood pulp and all material entering into the manufacture of printing paper be immediately repealed.

ENGLISH FICTION IN DEMAND IN AUGUST.

ACCORDING to the London Bookman the following fiction was most in demand in England during August:

Love, the Judge, by Wymond Carey. Methuen.

A deftly-written story into which Oxford, three women and an American financier all come.

The Helpmate, by May Sinclair. Constable.

The Privateers, by H. B. Marriott. Methuen.

A nimble, captivating romance in which an English girl plays heroine to a couple of enterprising visitors, the scene being laid in England and Brittany.

A Mother's Son, by Mrs. and Mr. C. B. Fry. Methuen.

A story of a boy who grows up an ideal Englishman in the sense of being a fine fellow and a fine sportsman.

Only Betty, by "Curtis Yorke." John Long.

A pleasant story, the scene of which is laid in a Welsh country-house.

Whoever Loveth, by William Le Queux. Hutchinson.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

COPYRIGHT LAW IN FRANCE.

PRESIDENT FALLIERES, according to an Associated Press despatch, has signed a decree appointing an extra parliamentary commission to inquire into the conditions relating to copyright in literary matter.

The first copyright law of France, which also included composers of music, painters and designers, dates from July 19, 1793. Since then there have been various modifications introduced, down to 1866, when the present law came into force, fixing at fifty years from the death of the author the copyright in his works, which his heirs or successors may claim.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM CROSBY.

WILLIAM CROSBY, who, as the senior member of the firm of William Crosby & H. P. Nichols, of Boston, sixty years ago ranked among the leading publishers and booksellers of this country, died on the 9th inst. at his residence, 60 Cedar Street, Roxbury District, Boston. Mr. Crosby was born in Charlestown, N. H., in 1819, and went to Boston at the age of thirteen to take a position in the bookstore of Leonard C. Bowles. He remained with Mr. Bowles, whose daughter he married, until 1844, when with his friend, Henry P. Nichols, of Salem, (where his father, George Nichols, was for many years a well-known auctioneer,) he formed the firm of William Crosby & H. P. Nichols, settling at 111 Washington Street. In 1862 Joseph Ainsworth was admitted as a partner, and the firm became Crosby, Nichols & Co. Shortly after that they purchased the book stock and good will of John P. Jewett & Co., and removed their business to the Jewett store at 117 Washington Street, where they remained until the firm went out of existence. In 1860,

William Lee, of the old firm of Phillips, Sampson & Co., who in that year returned from Europe to help wind up the affairs of the concern with which he had been connected for years as clerk and partner, joined the firm of Crosby, Nichols & Co., which then became Crosby, Nichols, Lee & Co. Two years later the firm met with financial difficulties, and then broke up into three separate concerns—Crosby & Nichols keeping together under the old firm name for about four years, when they separated, and Crosby & Ainsworth took over and continued the wholesale business, H. P. Nichols and Henry D. Noyes, under the firm name of Nichols & Noyes, continuing the retail business. Both firms retained the old quarters at 117 Washington Street, Nichols & Noyes occupying the front of the store and Crosby & Ainsworth the rear. Mr. Lee, it will be remembered, went into business, in 1862, with his friend, Charles A. B. Shepard, under the firm name of Lee & Shepard, and located on Washington Street, directly opposite the Old South Church. About 1885 Mr. Crosby sold out his share of the business to A. S. Barnes and W. H. Woolworth, of New York City, and retired from the book business. A new firm, Woolworth, Ainsworth & Co., took over the publishing business of Crosby & Ainsworth and transferred it to New York City. The firm of Nichols & Noyes* was succeeded by Noyes, Holmes & Co., who removed to 221 and 381 Washington Street and afterward to Bromfield Street, where, in 1875, they were succeeded by Lockwood, Brooks & Co., who in turn were succeeded by Cleaves, Macdonald & Co. and William Macdonald & Co. Mr. Nichols in 1890, then in his seventy-fourth year, was run down and killed by a herdic.

After the firm of Crosby & Ainsworth was dissolved, Mr. Crosby became a partner in the wholesale clothing firm of Merrill Bros. The firm failed shortly after, and Mr. Crosby lost his whole fortune. He was then appointed to the office of Superintendent of the Children's Mission, a benevolent institution conducted by the Unitarians for the reformation and care of the homeless children of Boston. He filled this office until two years ago, when failing health obliged him to retire.

Mr. Crosby's firm before it went into bankruptcy had accumulated a fine list of books in every department of literature, and had it been farsighted enough might easily have controlled the books of a number of the rising New England writers who afterward

*There was another bookselling firm with which Samuel F. Nichols was connected, that of Nichols & Hall, who had no connection or relationship with H. P. Nichols. The Nichols & Hall firm were successors of Chase & Nichols and Samuel F. Nichols at 41 Washington Street. When Mr. Hall joined Mr. Nichols and the firm became Nichols & Hall they removed to 32 Bromfield Street, where they did a large jobbing business and manufactured blank books. In 1880 Mr. Nichols dropped out of the firm, his place being taken by Charles H. Whiting, the firm name becoming Hall & Whiting. In 1883 Mr. Whiting took over the entire business and carried it on under his own name at 168 Devonshire Street until about 1890, when he sold out the greater part of his miscellaneous books to T. Y. Crowell & Co. and his school books to the American Book Company and Hinds & Noble.

found encouragement at the Old Corner Bookstore. As it was, when Longfellow offered Crosby & Nichols the manuscript of his "Voices of the Night," with the stipulation that the firm give him a position, it was summarily rejected. The firm always did a profitable business, and their imprint may be found on the title-pages of books of a high standard and value. The most valuable asset of their business was the famous Payson, Dutton and Scribner series of penmanship, which alone brought a fortune to the firm and all connected with their publication. Their imprint also appeared on the North American Review and other magazines and journals famous in their day.

FREDERICK GEORGE McNALLY, son of the late Andrew McNally, one of the founders of the firm of Rand, McNally & Co., and for three years the president of that publishing house, died on September 16 at his home on Park Avenue, Chicago. Physical breakdown, due to overwork, was the indirect cause of the illness which resulted in his death. Mr. McNally was born in Chicago December 20, 1865, and was educated at the Highland Military Academy, from which he was graduated with the class of '84. In the same year he entered the employ of his father's publishing business, beginning as a bill clerk, and advancing step by step through the various departments. In 1898 he was elected vice-president and auditor, and in 1904 he succeeded his father as president. He was also a director of the Chicago National Bank, of the Home Savings Bank and of the Equitable Trust Company; president and a director of the Prairie Farmer Publishing Company, the Farm Life Company, the Vindermere Ranch Company and the Neff Laboratory Company. He was a member of a number of clubs and was a thirty-second degree Mason.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

ONTARIO BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE Booksellers' and Stationers' Association of Ontario held its first annual meeting in Toronto on August 29. While the attendance was not large numerically nearly every prominent house was represented. President Tyrrell welcomed the gathering and impressed upon it the importance of supporting the organization and enlarging its membership. After the reading of the reports of the executive committee and secretary-treasurer, the association formally adopted the constitution and by-laws as presented. At the end of the session the following officers were elected: President, William Tyrrell, Toronto; vice-president, J. G. Cloke, Hamilton; committee: G. W. Sulman, Chatham; R. A. Robertson, Hamilton; E. S. Brown, Collingwood; A. H. Stratton, Peterboro, and W. B. Hart, Perth.

The social features included a tally-ho drive about the city and suburbs and a banquet at the St. Charles Hotel that was attended by a large number of members of the trade and others.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE, the novelist, and Miss Joan Leckie, were quietly married on September 18 at St. Margaret's, Westminster. Most of England's literary celebrities were present at a reception at the Hotel Metropole after the ceremony.

JOHN TOWNSEND TROWBRIDGE, the only living member of New England's famous group of authors and poets, which included Longfellow, Whittier, Emerson, Holmes and Lowell, observed on the 18th inst. the eightieth anniversary of his birth. The aged author passed the day quietly at his home in Arlington, Mass., the only formal observance being a reception of his friends.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE State Geological and Natural History Survey of Connecticut has brought out a "Bibliography of the Geology of Connecticut," by Professor Herbert Ernest Gregory, of Yale University. The list of titles is believed by the compiler to be practically complete to January, 1906, and a few papers of more recent date have been added. Articles in the local newspapers and descriptions in textbooks have not been included. In preparing the notes an effort has been made wherever practicable to give the author's main conclusions, instead of describing the table of contents, but this is not attempted with the larger and more general works. With the exception of a few instances, no attempt has been made to estimate the value of the various papers, and some have been included only because of their historic interest. A list of geological maps, including those used as illustrations accompanying reports, follows the list of papers. The articles catalogued number 591. The bibliography forms Bulletin No. 8 of the series and is supplied by George S. Godard, State Librarian, Hartford, Conn. (124 p. 8°, pap., 20 c.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.

Americus Book Company, Americus, Ga., Americana, chiefly Florida items. (4 p. 12°.)

N. J. Bartlett & Co., 28 Cornhill, Boston, Mass., Americana, also, a collection of New England church history. (No. 29, 1084 titles.)

Francis Edwards, 83 High Street, Marylebone, London, W., Topographical and antiquarian library of the late E. S. Wilson, of Brough, Yorkshire. (No. 202, 690 titles.)

George Engelke, 280 N. Clark St., Chicago, Ill., Americana, natural science, etc. (No. 4, 1080 titles.)

Gregory's Book Store, 116 Union St., Providence, R. I., Miscellaneous, including recent importations of English books, both new and second-hand. (No. 43, 570 titles.)

Charles E. Lauriat Co., 385 Washington St., Boston, Lauriat's Boston Book Notes, v. 3. No. 4, Miscellaneous. (111 titles.)

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Tropical and Sub-Tropical America is the title of a new monthly magazine devoted to the varied interests of South America, Mexico, Central America and the West Indies, to be published by the Tropical America Publishing Company, of 18 Frankfort Street, New York. The magazine will be under the immediate editorship of G. M. L. Brown, who will have as associate W. S. Dunbar, both of whom are well known as contributors to the leading magazines on Latin-American subjects.

It is rumored, according to the London Academy, that at least two English monthly magazines will shortly cease publication. "No one who has watched the English magazines with any sustained interest during the past year or so," continues the Academy, "can be reasonably surprised at the news. There are far too many on the market, whilst the increased enterprise shown by various publishing houses in offering the public cheap novels at sixpence or sevenpence has added to the general competition. Moreover, it is useless to deny that the majority of our monthly magazines are degenerate productions. Stupidly written and coarsely illustrated, they are very frequently even badly printed. Judged as a whole they are poorer in every respect than the productions of a dozen or fifteen years ago. A uniform tendency to cheapen our magazines, to appeal to the most illiterate and indiscriminating public, becomes more apparent with each successive month. There are, of course, still a few honorable exceptions, such as Blackwood's and the Cornhill, but it is to be noticed with regret that several of the more reputable magazines of this description have entirely dropped out of the struggle for popular favor. Longman's, always quiet and pleasantly written, has been dead a year, whilst Macmillan's is now nothing but an advertising "booklet" for its publishers. The Pall Mall and the English Illustrated appear to have completely obliterated the last traces of their former characteristics. Still, it may gratify many people to know that the Strand has just successfully completed its seventeenth year."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—At the meeting of the creditors of the H. H. Otis Book Company it was decided to sell out the stock and fixtures of the bankrupt concern on September 23 at 650 Main Street.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Lakeside Library Company has applied for license to incorporate a publishing business. This, together with The Medical Publishing Company, will be conducted at 269 Dearborn Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—The incorporation of the Boost Club, of New York, under the laws of the State of New York, is announced. The capital stock is placed at $5000. The directors are F. P. Seymour, William E. Smith and Samuel Graydon, all of New York.

NEW YORK CITY.—Greenhut & Co. have opened their new dry goods store at Sixth Avenue, Eighteenth to Nineteenth Streets, the store formerly occupied by B. Altman & Co. They will instal a book and stationery department.

NEW YORK CITY.—Schedules in the bankruptcy of the Hints Publishing and Supply Company, of 99 Fourth Avenue, show liabilities of $20,351 and nominal assets of $87,614, consisting of stock, $17,964; fixtures, $1850; accounts $550, and copyrights, goodwill, trade names, book plates, etc., $67,250. The entire assets were sold by the receiver last week for about $5000. They were appraised by appraisers at $3497, without the accounts.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The American Book Company has removed from its temporary quarters on Grove Street to 565 Market Street—the building put up by Cunningham, Curtiss & Welch.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—D. Schiller, 227 Pennsylvania Avenue, has bought the entire stock of James F. Meegan, comprising new and rare second-hand books.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. have just brought out "The Old Faith Restated," by the Rev. James Hyde, a minister of the New Church in England, who presents the attitude of the Swedenborgian church toward the new theology.

THE NEALE PUBLISHING COMPANY has in press a work dealing with "The Political Opinions of Thomas Jefferson," by Professor John W. Wayland, Ph.D., of the University of Virginia, containing an introduction by Professor Richard Heath Dabney, Ph.D., of the same institution.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY have in preparation a book for young people, entitled "The Closed Balcony," by Miss Anne Gardner Hale, a story with a mystery in a New England farmhouse. A mischievous boy and a blundering girl and a boys' circus give the book an agreeable flavor of fun.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish in November a "Life of Phillips Brooks," by Dr. A. V. G. Allen, Professor of Church History at Harvard University. The work will be largely an abridgment of the three-volume edition of the "Life of Phillips Brooks" already published by the Duttons, although considerable new material will be added.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "The Youngsters of Centerville," by Mrs. Etta Anthony Baker, who has based this (her first) book upon events occurring on a dozen school and national holidays. It is said to be a spirited tale with equally spirited illustrations by Francis Day. It also manages to slyly inculcate lessons in patriotism and history.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have in preparation a work on "The Art of William Blake," by Elisabeth Luther Cary, containing many illustrations from Blake's "Manuscript Sketch Book" which have never before been pub-

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. have just brought out "The Old Faith Restated," by the Rev. James Hyde, a minister of the New Church in England, who presents the attitude of the Swedenborgian church toward the new theology.

THE NEALE PUBLISHING COMPANY has in press a work dealing with "The Political Opinions of Thomas Jefferson," by Professor John W. Wayland, Ph.D., of the University of Virginia, containing an introduction by Professor Richard Heath Dabney, Ph.D., of the same institution.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY have in preparation a book for young people, entitled "The Closed Balcony," by Miss Anne Gardner Hale, a story with a mystery in a New England farmhouse. A mischievous boy and a blundering girl and a boys' circus give the book an agreeable flavor of fun.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish in November a "Life of Phillips Brooks," by Dr. A. V. G. Allen, Professor of Church History at Harvard University. The work will be largely an abridgment of the three-volume edition of the "Life of Phillips Brooks" already published by the Duttons, although considerable new material will be added.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "The Youngsters of Centerville," by Mrs. Etta Anthony Baker, who has based this (her first) book upon events occurring on a dozen school and national holidays. It is said to be a spirited tale with equally spirited illustrations by Francis Day. It also manages to slyly inculcate lessons in patriotism and history.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have in preparation a work on "The Art of William Blake," by Elisabeth Luther Cary, containing many illustrations from Blake's "Manuscript Sketch Book" which have never before been pub-

To the Salesman Who Knows a Book from a Best-seller

Our head salesman says that "The Good Comrade," by Una L. Silberrad, ought to sell 50,000 copies.

Yet this is ten times as much as any former novel by this author, and we've noticed that the man who is responsible for a book's circulation is apt to become conservative.

We are confident that if only half the discriminating booksellers would read this delightful novel their enthusiasm would soon spread to 50,000 customers.

It's a book you may be as proud to sell as we are to publish.

The Good Comrade

Showing that real people can be even more interesting than the sawdust dolls of a certain school of "romance." $1.50.

Mosses and Lichens

By NINA L. MARSHALL, author of "The Mushroom Book." For the first time a book is available which will encourage the desire of the nature lover for some knowledge of beautiful growths which everywhere greet him on his walks. It appeals to all, both young and old. For the student there are brief and clear descriptions, supplemented with numerous plates and pen sketches; and for the layman there are so many interesting facts that he will be tempted to make further investigation. Thirty-two pages of half-tones, sixteen color-plates and 1445 line drawings. Net, $4.00; postage 43 cents.

Wild Flowers of the British Isles

By H. ISABEL ADAMS. The seventy-five color plates illustrate two hundred and forty-three British wild flowers, accurately drawn and painted from life, and constitute a real triumph for modern color printing. While complete in a scientific way, the text is presented very simply and very charmingly; all superfluous botanical words have been eliminated. Boxed. Net, $10.00; postage 38 cents.

The Overman

By UPTON SINCLAIR, author of "The Industrial Republic" and "The Jungle." A unique fragment of literature—unlike anything else in our present day. It is the story of an English musician who, wrecked upon a desert island, lives for twenty years alone, and, while yet in the body, becomes cognizant of a spiritual world. Frontispiece, 50 cents.

Hymns Every Child Should Know

Edited by DOLORES BACON. A really unique collection, in a series recognized as the best possible for children's reading. Net, 90 cents; postage 9 cents.

Fiji and Its Possibilities

By BEATRICE GRIMSHAW. A most interesting geographical document and revelation, setting forth the history, government, trades and customs of the people. Uniform with "The Opening of Tibet" in our Geographical Library. Net, $3.00; postage 24 cents.

The Near East

By an author whose work—and he has written some thirty or forty books—has been conspicuously successful. Such masters as Zola, William Black and Alphonse Daudet have expressed their regard and admiration for his work. "The Near East" is the first authentic statement concerning the lawless regions of the Balkan states—with adventures most graphic and most stirring. Uniform with "The Opening of Tibet" in our Geographical Library. Net, $3.00; postage 23 cents.

Memoirs of an Arabian Princess

Translated by LIONEL STRACHEY. A picture of the education and life of an Arabian woman, which is most interesting and unusual. The author's career during her younger days in the royal harem at Zanzibar, the subsequent escape from her country, and later marriage to a German merchant, makes a wonderful story and a real romance. Uniform with "The Memoirs of Countess Potocka." Thirty-two illustrations. Net, $2.50; postage 19 cents.

The Tracks We Tread

By G. B. LANCASTER, author of "The Spur" and "Sons O' Men." A compelling narrative of the land of sheep and strong men, by a genius in whose writings the conventionalities of civilization are unknown. $1.50.

Author of "Captain Courtesy"

Cloth, 12mo, Decorative Cover stamped in Gold. Decorative title page and five color illustrations by ELENORE PLAISTED ABBOTT.

No this new volume, Mr. Carpenter has followed up his "Captain Courtesy" with a book of stirring interest. The scene is laid in Louisiana; the hero is a French refugee. The rare character drawing of a man half Brummel, half soldier of fortune; the portrayal of a proud woman's love, and the atmosphere of romanticism throughout the pages are elements that point to a splendid success for the book.

BOOKS ILLUSTRATED IN COLORS

THE ROMANCE OF AN OLD FASHIONED GENTLEMAN

By F. HOPKINSON SMITH

Illustrated in colors, $1.50.

All the qualities which have made Mr. Smith's success as an author are at their best in this altogether delightful story. The sentiment and charm, the power of feeling and grace of expression, the delicate yet strong touch which made "Colonel Carter's Christmas" so popular, distinguish this exquisite tale of an old man's romance and a young man's love.

HOLLAND SKETCHES

By EDWARD PENFIELD

Illustrated in colors, $2.50 net; postage extra.

An exquisite book with thirty-two drawings by the author, reproduced in full colors. The most beautiful book on Holland ever published.

DAYS OFF

By HENRY VAN DYKE

Illustrated in color, $1.50.

Henry Van Dyke's famous books, "Fisherman's Luck" and "Little Rivers" are classics. This wonderful new book, "Days Off," is a fresh and altogether delightful expression of life out of doors and indoors which will prove as popular as either of the others. It contains a number of short stories as well as essays.

THE HARRISON FISHER BOOK

With an Introduction by J. B. CARRINGTON

$3.00 net; postage extra.

The first collection ever published of the drawings of the distinguished artist and illustrator, Mr. Harrison Fisher, including many hitherto unpublished drawings. In all there are more than one hundred illustrations in pen and ink, wash and charcoal, including nine full-page sketches beautifully reproduced in full colors. The charm and grace of these drawings, their delicacy, vigor, and beauty, make an exquisite book.

THE ARABIAN NIGHTS

Rewritten by LAURENCE HOUSMAN

$5.00 net.

Five stories from the "Arabian Nights," superbly illustrated with drawings by Edmund Dulac in full colors.

NURSERY RHYMES FROM MOTHER GOOSE

Illustrated in color and black and white by Grace G. Weiderseim. $1.50.

A new and quaintly humorous interpretation of Mother Goose, in Mrs. Weideseim's whimsical and fascinating drawings. There are nine full-page drawings reproduced in full colors, and many other pages in tint and black and white. All the regular Mother Goose rhymes are in this collection, which is certainly the most original and satisfactory interpretation of this classic that has appeared for years.

UNDER THE CRUST

BEST NEW FICTION

CLEMENTINA'S HIGHWAYMAN

By ROBERT NEILSON STEPHENS

Author of "An Enemy to the King," "The Bright Face of Danger," etc. With six illustrations from drawings by ADELAIDE EVERHART. $1.50.

"Robert Neilson Stephens' posthumous novel is as good as his best, which is very high praise. As a writer of spirited romances and as a stylist of distinction his loss will be regretted by all who can discriminate between the good and the bad in the literature of modern fiction."—New York Sun.

THE RED FEATHERS

By THEODORE ROBERTS. Author of "Hemming, the Adventurer," etc. Cover design, colored frontispiece and 7 other drawings by CHARLES LIVINGSTON BULL. $1.50.

"An exceedingly well-written book full of vivid imagery, dramatic, and original in its conception. Founded upon the Indian myth of the conflict between good and evil, its unique play of fancy and imagination will appeal to all children as well as to those adults who have not lost their sense of proportion."—Chicago Tribune.

HESTER OF THE HILLS

By GROVER CLAY. Frontispiece in colors by GRISWALD TYNG. $1.50.

This novel will cause much discussion. It has a motif which is new both to real life and fiction, and which should prove absorbingly interesting to all those who believe in the approaching freedom of man from inherited tendencies and unnatural laws.

MYSTERY ISLAND

By EDWARD H. HURST. Frontispiece in colors by GRISWALD TYNG. $1.50.

By the murder of one of their number in a hunting camp on a swampy island in the Florida Everglades the secret of egress is lost. Cut off from civilization conventional veneer is soon worn away, and an unusual and difficult plot is developed.

THE SORCERESS OF ROME

By NATHAN GALLIZIER. With four drawings in colors by THE KINNEYS. $1.50.

The author has used the love story of Otto III. and Stephanla as the main theme of the second book of his trilogy of romances on the mediæval life of Italy. In detail and finish the story is a brilliant piece of work, even superior in its color, absorbing action and sumptuous word-painting to its predecessor, "Castle del Monte."

3d Printing of the Leading Nature Book for 1907

THE HAUNTERS OF THE SILENCES

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS. Author of "Red Fox," "The Watchers of the Trails," etc. With 62 illustrations (4 reproduced in colors) by CHARLES LIVINGSTON BULL. $2.00.

The Old Peabody Pew

A CHRISTMAS ROMANCE BY

KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

IT is hard to read this Christmas story without tears, and it is impossible to do so without laughter. The story is written with all the pathos and humor, and with that veritable touch of genius, which have given to Mrs. Wiggin the popularity which her work enjoys. This is the romance of a country courtship begun and ended, after many years, in the Old Peabody Pew. The life in a New England village stands out with all the vividness of a Dutch painting. It is all so true and at the same time so minutely humorous, so touchingly shot through with pathos, that the happy outcome of the love story seems as inevitable as the simple trust which underlies its plot.

Mrs. Alice Barber Stephens has furnished some characteristic illustrations, which are reproduced in color, and the book is beautifully decorated with marginal designs, also in color, on every page. The binding is holiday in appearance, with a delightful illustration from the artist.

Boxed. Crown 8vo, $1.50

ROOSEVELT

by

(Ready September 28th)

The many-sided Roosevelt is always an interesting subject, and has never been more so than to-day. Here is the latest word on one side of our President's personality pronounced by the dean of American Nature writers. Mr. Burroughs tells the story of a trip with the President to the Yellowstone Park. He says that the most interesting thing he saw in that wonderful country was the President himself, and he gives a very graphic and entertaining account of him. The President as a naturalist is the author's chief theme throughout the volume. The account of walking and talking with the President at Oyster Bay brings out his qualities as a genuine lover of nature and an exceptionally acute and accurate observer. Mr. Burroughs' acquaintance with Mr. Roosevelt is of long standing, and he knows this outdoor side of him so well and sympathizes with it so thoroughly that what he has to say of him is sure to be of the keenest interest to every lover of nature and every admirer of the President. Profusely illustrated and appropriately bound. 16mo, $1.00 net. Postpaid, $1.10.

BIOGRAPHY AND ADVENTURE

HUMAN BULLETS

(Ready September 28th)

Court memoirs of the Chief of Police under the Second Empire, containing historical, social and secret information of great interest. Illustrated. 8vo, $4.00 net. Postage extra.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY'S POPULAR FALL FICTION

THE JESSOP BEQUEST

By ANNA ROBESON BURR

A strong story of American life containing a powerfully drawn group of characters and an unusual plot of the most compelling interest. The book combines in uncommon degree sound literary quality and a sense of the significance of present day events, with a moving and highly dramatic story. It is the kind of novel that will be talked about. With frontispiece. 12mo, $1.50.

THE PRINCESS POURQUOI By MARGARET SHERWOOD

Five clever parables told in the form of old-fashioned fairy tales with a mediæval setting and flavor, and yet with a very modern meaning in them for the observant. They contain some of Miss Sherwood's best work. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

ADMIRAL'S LIGHT By HENRY MILNER RIDEOUT

A most attractive bit of romance, which is sure to strengthen still further the prominent position of its author among the young writers of fiction. Against the ever interesting background of the sea-coast borders of New Brunswick and Maine a romantic love-story with complications of startling adventure passes with a vividness of interest, a vigor of character-drawing, and a magnetic quality of phrase that recall, without imitating, the masterpieces of Robert Louis Stevenson. It is a tale one is sure to read twice. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

MR. TUCKERMAN'S NIECES By HELEN DAWES BROWN

Miss Brown's new story will interest older readers as well as young women. The plot centres around a professor, who, as a bachelor uncle of three orphaned but resourceful Western girls, finds himself suddenly called upon to assume the duties of guardian to them. It is an old-fashioned story, which draws the reader along with a keen and wholesome interest in the entire group of characters. Illustrated. $1.50.

SPECIALLY ILLUSTRATED BOOKS

LONGFELLOW'S
Hanging of the Crane

With Twelve Full-Page Illustrations by
ARTHUR I. KELLER

One of the most popular and beautiful poems of home life. It is a household classic which all home-makers appreciate and enjoy. And never has it been given so delightful a setting, at a popular price, as in the present holiday edition.

The exquisite illustrations in color from paintings by Arthur I. Keller perfectly reflect the sentiment of the lines and gain an added interest from having as a background the Craigie House at Cambridge, where the poet hung his own crane in 1843. The volume has attractive text decorations by Miss Florence W. Swan, each page being different. It has a handsome pictorial binding in color.

From "The Hanging of the Crane"

Tall Crown 8vo, boxed. . . . $2.00

INTERESTING BOOKS OF TRAVEL

BOOKS

☞ Rattling yarns of cowboy and Western life

Arizona Nights

By

STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Author of "The Blazed Trail," "The Silent Places," etc.

☞ Stewart Edward White knows his far Western country better than any living American writer. His new book is made up of a series of red-blooded, vigorous yarns spun by a group of men of widely different types who gather nightly in democratic fashion around an Arizona camp-fire. Welded together, these tales, which have appeared in McClure's, make a single clean-cut picture of life in the Southwest. The gripping short serial, "The Rawhide," rounds out the book.

Ready October 30th. With picture cover and illustrations in colors by N. C. Wyeth. $1.50

☞ A new book of stories by O. Henry

Heart of the West

By O. HENRY

☞ Several of the funniest and best stories by O. Henry appear in this new book, which is made up of about twenty-five of his inimitable tales of Western life and types which have appeared at intervals in the magazines. These stories are the best of their kind since Bret Harte.

Ready in October. Illustrations by Van Arlits and others. $1.50

☞ A story of Indian life by a full-blooded Sioux

Old Indian Days

[By the author of "Indian Boyhood"]

By DR. CHARLES A. EASTMAN

☞ A delightful new volume of descriptive and narrative sketches of Indian life, supplementing the author's now famous "Indian Boyhood," whose beauty and poetic charm have impressed thousands of readers. The new book is certain of a wide and appreciative audience.

Ready in October. Illustrations in colors by Dan Sayre Groesbeck. $1.50

Forty-four East 23d Street, New York

FALL | The McClure Company | BOOKS

Successors to McClure, Phillips & Co.

☞ A graceful, polished romantic comedy—Anthony Hope at his best

Helena's Path

[By the author of "The Prisoner of Zenda," etc.]

By ANTHONY HOPE

☞ A deliciously fanciful comedy that compares evenly with the author's famous "Dolly Dialogues" in prettiness and bright wit. Lord Lynborough is denied by the young and beautiful Marchesa Helena the use of a path across her estates leading to a bathing beach. The path thus becomes a bone of bitter contention. The developments which ensue are handled with exquisite finesse and charm by this master of the spirit of high comedy and romance.

Now ready. With frontispiece in colors. $1.25

Wards of Liberty

[By the author of "Little Citizens,"]

By MYRA KELLY

☞ Miss Kelly's new stories of the school life of the "Little Citizens" of the East Side, in which she introduces again the characters which made the first book famous, are as captivatingly fresh and original, as laughable and touching and lifelike and human as her earlier stories. One or two of them strike a wholly new and deeper note.

☞ "A more humorous, more delicious, more piquant set of small folk is not to be found in modern fiction." Louisville Post.

Ready about October 15th. With illustrations in tint by Frederick Dorr Steele. $1.50

☞ By the author of "Emmy Lou: Her Book and Heart"

Letitia: Nursery Corps, U. S. A

By GEORGE MADDEN MARTIN

☞ To "Emmy Lou" Mrs. Martin now adds another fascinating study of child life in her "Letitia." The daughter of an army officer and his wife, little Letitia grows up in an environment of camp and army post. She is as sweet and altogether adorable as Emmy Lou was, and her artlessness and naturalness in these surroundings are both delightful and pathetic.

Ready in October. Illustrations by Frederick Dorr Steele. $1.50

Ⓐ A whirl of adventure and romance—The Williamsons' best story

The Car of Destiny

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON

Authors of "The Princess Virginia," "Lady Betty," etc.

one of the characters. Young Lady Monica, in the Princess Ena's suite, a Spanish girl of rank, a Marquis and a young American are the chief actors. A magnificent description of the coronation bull-fight, with an unexpected and highly dramatic climax, fittingly culminates this sparkling story.

Cupid, the Cow-Punch

[By the author of "The Plow-Woman," etc.]

By ELEANOR GATES

Ⓐ A wholesome, boisterous, breezy love-story of the plains which takes the cowboy hero all the way from the ranch to New York after the runaway heroine. The culmination is reached in a Central Park round-up which takes away the breath of the local police.

Ready about October 15th. Illustrated by Wyeth and others. $1.50

Ⓐ A delightful new story of commuter life.

The Suburban Whirl

[By the author of "Little Stories of Married Life," etc.]

By MARY STEWART CUTTING

Ⓐ A long new story of married life and three shorter ones—all of the same human, wholesome, heart-warming type that have raised Mrs. Cutting to the pinnacle of her art in this field.

Ready in October. Illustrations by Alice Barber Stephens. $1.25

FALL | The McClure Company | BOOKS

¶ The year's greatest biography

Reminiscences of Carl Schurz

Two volumes ready shortly, fully illustrated with portraits, contemporary engravings and original drawings

¶ There is no need to say anything here of the importance of this work as a contribution to American history and biography. Not in years have there appeared the reminiscences of a notable figure in American affairs more fascinating and of greater vital interest to Americans than these of Carl Schurz. Their publication in McClure's has been attracting more attention than any magazine serial of recent times.

¶ No American since Lincoln shines with so bright a light upon the pages of our history as this splendid figure. Every good cause and great movement of reform knew the weight of his gifts of leadership and eloquence. His friends included most of his great American contemporaries—presidents, statesmen, soldiers. Future generations will find in his memoirs the very pattern and example of a manhood moulded in accordance with the ideals of democracy.

Ready in October. Two volumes, price, net, $6.00. Postage additional

¶ A brilliant social history of the home of our Presidents

The White House By ESTHER SINGLETON

¶ The story of the most famous residence in the United States, the home of its Chief Executives for over a century, the scene of the greatest entertainments and functions in our social and official history, the scene of the successes of our most beautiful and brilliant women—such is what has been attempted for the first time by Miss Esther Singleton, who has had access to documents and personal and private records which have never been available. Miss

Singleton has made, it need hardly be said, the best of all this material, and has written a work of the utmost fascination for all American readers.

Two volumes. Ready in October. Fully illustrated with portraits, rare prints, paintings, etc. Price, net, $5.00. Postage additional

The New Missioner

[By the author of
"The Bird of Time," etc.]

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW

☞ A strong, brilliant new novel, laid in the scenes of Mrs. Woodrow's famous "Zenith" stories which have appeared in McClure's. The Missioner is a woman, Frances Barton, who carries the Gospel into the fastnesses of the Rocky Mountains and into the lives of the strange inhabitants of the Zenith community. Illustrated, $1.50.

Kilo

[By the author of
"Pigs is Pigs," etc.]

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER

☞ A most delightfully humoresque little novel, whose plot revolves about the familiar figure of Eliph' Hewlett, the famous book agent. There is a love-story in which Mr. Butler develops a vein of the most charming sentiment. Illustrated, $1.00.

John O' Jamestown

[By the author of
"The Fortunes of the Landrays," etc.]

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Two Royal Foes

By EVA MADDEN

The Daughters of the Little Grey House

By MARION AMES TAGGART

☞ A sequel to "The Little Grey House," which more than any other book established Miss Taggart's position as the successor to Miss Alcott. The sequel is quite as charming as its delightful and popular predecessor. $1.25.

New Additions to McClure's Library of Children's Classics

Pinalore Palace

Edited by KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN and NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH

☞ This volume follows, in order, "Golden Numbers" and "The Posy Ring." It is intended for the children of the nursery, and contains poems selected from Mother Goose and other delightful sources, including in a single volume all the masterpieces of nursery lore. Handsomely printed and bound, $1.50.

Magic Casements

Edited by KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN and NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH

☞ A companion volume to "The Fairy Ring," published last year, making, with it, the most exhaustive collection of fairy tales available for young readers. These stories are designed for slightly older readers than those in the first book. $1.50.

The Adventures of a Doll

By NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH

☞ A delightful juvenile for very young people, by one of the editors of McClure's Children's Classics. It is printed in large type and is beautifully illustrated in colors, and makes an unusually pretty book. 75 cents.

Northwestern Fights and Fighters: 1876-1900

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

☞ The fifth volume in the American Fights and Fighters Series. The book deals with two of this country's most remarkable Indian wars. These are the Modoc War and the fights of the Nez Percés under Chief Joseph. Fully illustrated. $1.50.

The Free Lances

Rough Riders of the Sea Series

By CAPT. JACK BRAND, Late U.S.N.

☞ A series of ripping sea stories, chronicling the exploits of the greatest sea-dogs in the history of all nations—pirates, privateers, freebooters, buccaneers, filibusters and sailors of fortune. Fully illustrated. $1.50.

The Wagner Stories

By FILSON YOUNG

☞ The arguments of the Wagner operas, brilliantly written and refreshingly free from any technical jargon. Each narrative is presented in a pure literary form. A book for the music-lover and the opera-goer. Net, $1.80.

Great Writers

By GEORGE EDWARD WOODBERRY

☞ Virgil, Shakespeare, Cervantes, Scott, Montaigne and Milton—these are the men whom Professor Woodberry has chosen to reinterpret to the modern world. Several of the papers have appeared, greatly abbreviated, in McClure's Magazine. Net, $1.20.

Poems of Wordsworth

Selected by STOPFORD A. BROOKE

☞ With forty illustrations and photogravure frontispiece. This volume contains all the shorter poems which Dr. Brooke considers entirely worthy of the poet's high reputation. Net, $3.00.

The Real Blake

By EDWIN J. ELLIS

☞ A complete portrait of the man Blake such as has hitherto been lacking. The work is especially opportune in view of the prevalent interest in Blake and his work. Net, $3.50.

Jean Jacques Rousseau

By JULES LEMAÎTRE

☞ An appreciation of Rousseau by the premier French critic. No one who has attempted to write of Rousseau has performed his task half so well as M. Lemaître, or produced a book so valuable to the general reader. Net, $2.00.

Dutch and Flemish Furniture

By ESTHER SINGLETON

☞ A companion volume to "French and English Furniture," which appeared some years ago and which received the most favorable consideration. The work is marked with thoroughness, and it will be found indispensable to the furniture collector and dealer. Net, $7.50.

Guide to Modern Cookery

By M. ESCOFFIER

Chef of the Hotels Carlton and Ritz, London

☞ M. Escoffier is the foremost representative of his art now living. His cook-book will naturally take precedence over all others in this field. It runs to 800 large 8vo pages and contains an almost infinite number of recipes, including those which have laid the basis of the author's own reputation. Net, $4.00.

The Complete English Wing-Shot

By TEASDALE-BUCKELL

☞ Uniform with "The Complete Golfer," "The Complete Photographer," etc. A most valuable addition to the sportsman's library. It deals in the fullest possible fashion with every phase of bird shooting, and will appeal to the beginner and to the expert shot. Net, $3.50.

Illustrated Cameos of Literature

Edited by
GEORG BRANDES

☞ I. Richard Wagner as Poet. II. Maxim Gorki. III. Aristotle. Authoritative studies, in brief compass, of personalities in contemporary art and literature. Each, 50 cents net.

Remco's Manual of Apartment House Service

☞ A manual of the management and care of apartment house properties which has been built up bit by bit by men who have for years been studying this subject. The book will be found an invaluable aid and guide to real estate owners, superintendents and their subordinates, and all who are interested in the care of such property. Net, $1.00.

A NEW KIND OF DETECTIVE|| STORY

A STORY of bewilderment in the open—a mystery pursued to its unraveling in the open air; with all the stock machinery discarded—no hidden passageways, no Mysterious Strangers, no methods of pursuit inconceivable by normal persons—but, in a word, a chase in full view and full cry, with all the pursuers true sportsmen and all the pursued inviting pursuit with the smiling diablerie of the most fascinatingly self-assured of Reynards—this is the unusual handling of the latest story by Octave Thanet. Up and down the avenues of San Francisco in the brilliant spring sunshine, doubling through the splendidly lighted corridors of the city's most famous hostelry, goes the unflagging race—with a new bewilderment superadded at the end of each chapter, and an air-cleaning encounter of wits and force in every new turn of affairs, and wholesome freshness along with all—this is the atmosphere of THE LION'S SHARE.

All these adventures are seen through the eyes of those numerous characters in the book who are straightforward persons. Four in particular—that superb old gentlewoman, “Aunt Rebecca” Winters; that sturdy, handsome officer, Colonel Winters, his fearless young nephew and that intrepid old Irish sergeant, Haley—are people worth knowing. And the beautiful Miss Smith—the mystery has thrown its entanglement over her, but she is surely too good to be what Mrs. Malaprop would call “a villanelle.”

There is a spirit of gayety and a freedom from conventionality, combined with healthy strength and hearty soundness, that makes The Lion's Share irresistible. Its movement is marvelous. Like a perfect motor, it “caught its spark” with a jump at the start and has rushed along without a moment's faltering.

Fall Announcement of New Publications

The Way of a Man by Emerson Hough

A masterpiece of fiction by the author of "The Mississippi Bubble." The scene is laid in the West, mostly during the time of the great westward movement previous to the Civil War. This passionate and powerful novel will appeal alike to those who read for "the story's sake" and those who appreciate good literature. Illustrated by G. Wright. Publication date, October 1st. Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50

Bar-20 by Clarence E. Mulford

This thrilling piece of fiction was published July 10th. In little over a month it has gone through three editions. The fourth large edition is moving with the same rapidity. The book deals with one Hopalong Cassidy and his boon companions on the Bar-20 Ranch, who are always getting into trouble and somehow getting out of it. It is the best cowboy story of the year. Illustrated by Wyeth and Schoonover. Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50

THE CLEVELAND NEWS says: "The Author knows old Arizona as Harte knew Poverty Row and Poker Flat." THE ST. PAUL PRESS says: "There is a spirit and tang that stirs the blood and the changing pictures are painted with palpitating verbal pigments which almost dazzle the reader with their brilliancy and effectiveness."

The Sons of the Seigneur by Helen Wallace

The scene is laid in the Isle of Guernsey during the time of Cromwell. Two brothers of Puritan birth are suitors for the hand of a Royalist maiden; intrigue runs high; the young King Charles II. moves in disguise; treason is blocked, and the action is fast. Frontispiece in colors by C. D. Williams. Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50

THE NEW YORK SUN says: "The story is bright and engaging, the action swift, the surprises cleverly managed, the romance wholesome and sweet, and the book is well written and entertaining." THE CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD says: "Helen Wallace has turned out an unusual story."

John Kendry's Idea by Chester B. Fernald

John Kendry, a millionaire, young, accomplished and well-favored, has an idea that instead of adding another million or so to his fortune, he must do something for the world's advancement generally—to help along without ostentation, the true and beautiful. But—

"Until we are built like angels
With hammer and chisel and pen,
We will fight for ourselves and a woman
For ever and ever. Amen."

Frontispiece in colors by C. D. Williams. Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50

THE NEW YORK GLOBE says: "Here is a story that immediately strikes one as full grown with distinction of idea, and treatment . . . it has action, romance, mystery, and thrills." THE ALBANY ARGUS says: "A book with a big idea and a charming love story."

The Golden Books

The Golden Books form a series of dainty little volumes representing the pure gold of literature. The appearance of each book is very attractive, and the uniqueness of make-up alone will undoubtedly cause them to be regarded as the most beautiful thing of the season. Typographically, they represent the highest order of book-making, and the artistic originality of the binding has never been equaled. The binding is of imported Fabriano, with yellow Art Vellum backs, and each book is enclosed by a slip case covered with brocade gold paper. Frontispiece. Price per volume 75 cents

Camp and Trail by Stewart Edward White

This volume will prove to be another delight for Mr. White's large circle of readers. It is a practical experience book. The author tells just what is necessary, and what is unnecessary for comfort and convenience in the camp and on the trail; and interspersed are pertinent anecdotes, related in Mr. White's inimitable style; he has written nothing more valuable than this most interesting volume. To be published October 15th.

At the Foot of the Rainbow by Gene Stratton-Porter

The scene of this charming, idyllic love story is laid in Indiana; the action is mostly out of doors. The story is one of devoted friendship and tender, self-sacrificing love. It is brimful of the most beautiful word painting of nature. Four illustrations in color by Oliver Kemp, and decorations throughout by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. A superb holiday book enclosed in a box. To be published late in October.

Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50

J. Archibald McKackney (Collector of Whiskers)

By Ralph D. Paine

A startling and original book of humor. A gentleman of wealth and leisure discovers a curious analogy between the human whisker and Æolian harp. The "music" and mirth that is created is of an entirely new variety—pure and unadulterated fun. The illustrations by Wallace Morgan are in keeping with the text. To be published the latter part of October.

Decorative boards. Price $1.25

The Romance of an Old-Time Shipmaster Edited by Ralph D. Paine

This is a collection of letters and journals written by an American sea captain at the beginning of the last century. It reveals a most charming and lovable personality, a sort of Lord Chesterfield of the quarter-deck, and throws a curious light on life at sea at the time. To be published about November 1st. Illustrated. Cloth, decorative. Price $1.50 net

The Tragedy of Russia in Pacific Asia

By Frederick McCormick

This is by far the most important book on the late war that will be published for some time. Mr. McCormick was the Associated Press representative with the Russian Army, and went through the war from beginning to end. Illustrated by numerous sketches made on the field by the author, half-tones from photographs, maps, etc. To be published early in November.

Cloth, in box. 2 Vols. Price $6.00 net

Big Game at Sea by Charles Frederick Holder

A new volume by this well-known sportsman and naturalist. Here will be found thrilling accounts of battles with the Giant Tuna, Devil Fish, Shark and other mammoth denizens of the deep sea. Sumptuously illustrated with half-tones from photographs. To be published early in November.

Classics in Art Series

Square 8vo, cloth extra,
gilt top

THE volumes to be included in this important series of books have been planned so as to form what may be taken as a pictorial encyclopædia of the pictures by the world's famous artists. Each volume deals with a single artist's work, and deals with that work as fully as modern research makes it possible. That is to say, almost every picture which the artist painted is here reproduced for reference and study. And not only are the pictures reproduced, but their titles and their present locations are given. Each volume contains also a succinct, though full, biographical introduction written by acknowledged European authorities in art. For the first time art-lovers will have an opportunity to possess a really complete collection of the works of the famous masters in art, in compact and handy form.

Farmer George.

A STUDY OF THE LIFE AND CHARACTER OF GEORGE III.

By LEWIS MELVILLE

Illustrated with two colored portraits and 48 full-page portraits and views
2 vols. Demy 8vo. Cloth, gilt tops. $7.50 net

IT is the author's design to portray the character of George III. and to present him alike in his private life and in the surroundings of his Court. In tracing the King's relations with his ministers, the author introduces the most prominent personages of the reign, from the Duke of Newcastle and Lord Chatham to Charles James Fox and the younger Pitt. The trouble with Wilkes and the attitude of the English Court and people towards the American colonies, from the introduction of the Stamp Act to the acknowledgment of the United States as an independent power, are described. The illustrations are a special feature, and include many portraits of the royal family and the celebrities of the times.

New Ideas in Boys' Stories

THE NORTH POLE SERIES By Dr. EDWIN J. HOUSTON

Accurate scientific information woven into thrilling stories of adventure. These books mark an entirely new vein in the juvenile literature, substituting the wonderful, fascinating phenomena of recent science for the purely historical background which has characterized the majority of boys' books. The author's reputation guarantees that young readers will be told only facts which are scientifically true, while the stories are of absorbing interest to every boy. In this series the young heroes reach the North Pole after appalling difficulties and many stirring adventures in their air-ship. The three volumes in this series are:

THE SEARCH FOR THE NORTH POLE
THE DISCOVERY OF THE NORTH POLE

The Bible That Sells Where Shown

The "International" Christian Workers' Bible

The Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, D.D., the popular lecturer and preacher on Bible themes, has evolved a new plan of indexing and marking in red that makes Bible reading not only easy but exceptionally attractive.

Prominent People's Opinions of the Christian Workers' Bible:

JOHN WANAMAKER: "I have received the marvelously beautiful and complete work that has just been issued from your press—'International Christian Workers' Bible.' I have already made sufficient examination of it to prove that it is in advance of anything hitherto attempted in making the Bible usable for Christian Workers."

LYMAN ABBOTT: "I think this edition will be valuable to Christian Workers in their endeavor to get at the teaching of the Bible on great spiritual themes directly and immediately, and not through the medium of commentaries and theological treatises."

OZMA OF OZ.

By L. Frank Baum, author of the Wizard of Oz. The most gorgeous children's book ever published. In this story Mr. Baum tells more about Little Dorothy, the Scarecrow, the Tin Woodman and all the old favorites—and introduces Tiktok, the machine man; the Wheelers; the Yellow Hen; the Nome King; and the Hungry Tiger. Nearly 150 pictures, most of them in many colors, by John R. Neill. 8vo, 280 pages. Extra cloth binding, handsomely decorated in four colors. $1.25.

POLICEMAN BLUE JAY.

By Laura Bancroft. A nature story in fairy tale form. Twinkle and Chubbins, made famous in THE TWINKLE TALES, are transformed into little birds with human heads and live in the forest, learning much of our feathered neighbors. Many colored illustrations by Maginel Enright. 8vo. Attractive pictorial cover. $1.00.

MASKLETS.

Designed by W. M. Rhoads, designer of ROASTS, TOASTS, WASHES, WASHES LAUNDRY LIST, etc. Text by Wilbur D. Nesbit. Prose and poetry. Full of humor and quaint philosophy. Aptly illustrated by Albert Olson. Bound in boards with colored cut out inlay. Printed in colors throughout. 75c.

POKER, SMOKE AND OTHER THINGS.

Designed by W. M. Rhoads. Text by Percy Hammond and George C. Wharton. Illustrated humorously by Albert Olson. A burlesque book on poker, including a fine collection of toasts, charming quotations about tobacco and smoke, hints for "after the game" lunches, recipes for drinks, etc. Small 12mo. Printed in bright colors. Crimson crash binding, elaborately decorated. 75c.

SHAKESPEARIAN FAIRY TALES.

By Fay Adams Britton. First steps for little folks in Shakespeare. Contains eight of the plays retold in fairy tale fashion, suited to the minds and imaginations of little tots. Beautifully illustrated in colors and black-and-white by Clara Powers Wilson. 12mo. $1.00.

FATHER GOOSE'S YEAR BOOK.

By L. Frank Baum. The first book for grown-ups by the author of THE WIZARD OF OZ, OZMA OF OZ, etc. Quaint quacks and feathered shafts in prose and verse. Fresh, bright and witty. Humorously illustrated by Walter J. Enright. Blankspaces for notes for every day in the year. Green crash buckram binding, with poster inlay. $1.00.

LITTLE JOHNNY AND THE TEDDY BEARS.

The funniest pictures imaginable in bright colors, by J. R. Bray and ridiculous rhymes by R. D. Towne, Editor of JUNE, set forth the uproarious adventures of six little stuffed Teddy Bears who came to life by means of a wonderful elixir, and with Johnny get into and out of all kinds of mischief. 14½ x 10½ ins. Printed in many colors. 60c.

MY LADY'S RECIPES.

Designed by Clara Powers Wilson. A beautifully illustrated and ingeniously arranged file for favorite recipes. A violet-colored cloth portfolio, contains 100 lavender blank cards 9 x 5 inches in size. Fourteen divisions of these are made by index cards, as "Soups," "Fish," etc. Each index card bears an appropriate quotation, and is illustrated with a characteristic picture printed in four colors. The blank cards are to be filled with recipes and properly indexed. $1.50.

THE SAM STEELE BOOKS.

SAM STEELE'S ADVENTURES ON LAND AND SEA and SAM STEELE'S ADVENTURES IN PANAMA, by Capt. Hugh Fitzgerald. These boys' books are out of ordinary. ## A Six Cylinder Courtship

By Edward Salisbury Field. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher and Clarence F. Underwood. "A Six Cylinder Courtship" is one of the most captivating and enchanting of love stories. The scene is laid in New York, among modern and up-to-date people. The humour is piquant and the action is of the rapid type that carries the reader with a rush. The seven illustrations by Fisher and Underwood are among the best these popular illustrators have done. The book is

HARRISON FISHER

Not since Richard Harding Davis wrote "Soldiers of Fortune" has a book been written which will hold the reader's interest as does this rattling story of love and adventure. The scene opens in the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York, and the reader is carried with a dash to a South American Republic, which is a seething hotbed of revolution and intrigue. Action is the keynote of the author's story, and the pages that follow will do credit to one of the greatest writers of modern romance.

Mr. Harrison Fisher's drawing of the heroine is the ideal of perfection.

Latest Romantic and Dramatic Novel

ENTITLED

THE POWERS AND MAXINE

will inaugurate a new publishing plan. Simultaneously with this book's publication liberal advertising will appear in leading daily newspapers throughout the United States and Canada. "The Powers and Maxine" is now running serially, to be completed on November 1st.

On the same day, the work will be on sale in handsome cloth binding, gilt embossing, 320 12mo pages, large clear new type, and illustrated with fine duo-tone illustrations by FRANK T. MERRILL.

This latest book of the Williamsons will be published at a trade price enabling booksellers to sell at retail at less than half the usual $1.50 novel.

The Boston Herald says: "Maxine, the heroine, is a brilliant and beautiful young actress who has captured Paris with her art while privately she is secret service agent for the British Government. The work is replete with nerve-trying situations and proclaimed by competent critics to be the most dramatic novel ever written by the famous authors of those world successes: 'The Lightning Conductor,' 'My Friend, the Chauffeur,' 'Lady Betty Across the Water,' 'The Princess Virginia,' 'The Car of Destiny.' Every work of the Williamsons has been a pronounced success, running well above the 100,000 mark and placing the authors in the front rank of modern-day novelists."

At stated intervals, to be announced later, the next new novels by the following prominent authors will appear under this plan:

MAX PEMBERTON,	BARONESS ORCZY,	S. R. CROCKETT,
W. B. MAXWELL,	MRS. BURTON HARRISON,	WILLIAM LE QUEUX,
BRAM STOKER,	B. M. CROKER,	SIDNEY PATERNOSTER,
F. FRANKFORT MOORE,	MARIA ALBANESI,	HORACE ANNESLY VACHELL,
H. RIDER HAGGARD and many other notable writers.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: P. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Th. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fo. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Allen, Frederic Sturges. Apophos of spelling reform. N. Y., Bradley-White Co., 1906, [1907.] c. 43 p. O. pap., 50 c.

Larger part of the pamphlet is made up of a table of words involving spellings in ae or e, oe or e, and ei or i. Author arrives at some conclusions as well as suggests questions resulting from these tabulated spellings.

Allen, Frederic Sturges. Principles of spelling reform. N. Y., Bradley-White Co., 1907. c. 38 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Made up of two papers, one supplementing the other: "The main principles of spelling reform" and "Some proposed 'Simplified spellings.'"

Atkinson, Wilmer. The old battle renewed for the freedom of the press. Phil., Wilmer Atkinson Co., 1907. 55 p. pors. T. pap. (Address pubs. for price.)

Considers the relation of the United States government to the public press in the matter of carrying mails. Author believes that in recent years restrictions have been placed upon the press by postal laws which ought to be removed. Mail regulations in force or proposed are discussed and opinions from Milton to the present day cited.

Fox-Davies, Arthur C. The Mauleverer murders. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1907. c. 297 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

By the author of "The Dangerver inheritance." The four sons of Colonel Mauleverer all meet with violent deaths, apparently murdered by the same hand, within a short time. To save his remaining son, who is threatened, and discover the murderer of the others, he engages detectives and pours out a fortune in money. A duchess who leads a double life figures in the denouement, and is twice tried for murder, although innocent. The ending is quite unexpected, the motive for the murders only being revealed at the very end.

Gay, Mary A. H. The transplanted: a story of Dixie before the war. Wash., Neale Publishing Co., 1907. c. 233 p. D. cl., *$1.50 net.

Miss Gay, who wrote "Life in Dixie during the war," again draws upon her own life and experiences in "The transplanted." Her story begins in the early forties of the last century, and is a simple transcript of the old plantation life, with its slaves and its various odd customs now passed away.

Griffis, W. Elliot, D.D. The Japanese nation in evolution: steps in the progress of a great people. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1907.] c. 12+408 p. il. pors. D. cl., **$1.25 net.

Dr. Griffis is the author of "The Mikado's empire," "Japan, its history, folk-lore and art," and other works on Japan. The present work traces the rise of the Japanese people from prehistoric times, incidentally emphasizing a curious fact upon which the author insists—that the original stock of this people is Aryan, or Aino, and not Mongolian. In other words, they are closely allied with the white races of other lands, and thus assimilate European culture in the rapid manner they have already shown. The volume is full of first-hand information. Index.

Hanausek, T. F. Hand book of technical microscopy; authorized translation by A. L. Winton. N. Y., John Wiley & Sons, 1907. large 8°, cl., $5.

Hillman, Harry W. Looking forward: the phenomenal progress of electricity in 1912; il. by W. L. Greene. Northampton, Mass., Valley View Publishing Co., 1906, [1907.] c. 320 p. pr. D. cl., $1.

The purpose of the author in writing "Looking forward" was to attract attention to the many evidences of ideal conditions which now exist that were prophesied by Bellamy in his "Looking backward," in 1887; also to present the many evidences of other new conditions destined to greatly favor the domestic, social and industrial relations of the people in the pursuit of their daily avocations. The book not only shows the marvelous progress of electricity, but the very great share the electrical industry and its representatives have taken in the improved conditions of the people in general.

Hood, T. Faithless Nelly Gray: a pathetic ballad written by T. Hood; the text illuminated and explained by numerous original drawings by Rob. Seaver. Bost. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1907. c. 17 p. sq. S. bds., 75 c.

This classic and pathetic ballad of the fortunes of Ben Battle, perhaps the most famous of Hood's humorous poems, lends itself admirably to illustration in the old-fashioned woodcut style, in which Robert Seaver showed himself so successful in his edition of Cowper's "John Gilpin's ride" last year.

Laurie, André, [pseud. for Paschal Grousset.] Mémoires d'un collégien; with notes and vocabulary by J. L. Borgerhoff. N. Y., American Book Co., [1907.] c. 281 p. S. cl., 50 c.

Editor is associate professor of romance languages, Western Reserve University.

Ludy, Rob. B. Answers to questions prescribed by medical state boards. 3d ed. Phil., John Jos. McVey, 1907. 7+713 p. 8°, cl., *$2.50 net.

For contents see "Annual American catalog," 1905.

Mantle, Beatrice. Gret: the story of a pagan. N. Y., Century Co., 1907. c. 403 p. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

Gret is introduced as a girl of eighteen, leading a free, healthy life in her father's lumber camp in northern Oregon. The father leaves his business to a fine Eastern overseer and spends his time chiefly in large cities, leaving his wife and two daughters plentifully supplied with books. Gret lives, feeds, exercises and enjoys; the others read. City people get interested in a shaving mill, Gret meets them, and is invited to San Francisco to be civilized. She becomes engaged, but a little incident in her history interferes with her marriage. She again leads her pagan life upon her father's farm, and finally marries the man who has loved her and protected her from childhood.

Miyakawa, Masuji. Life of Japan. N. Y.

Baker & Taylor Co., [1907.] c. 301 p. il. por. pls. facsimis., O. cl., **$3 net, boxed.

Masuji Miyakawa, a naturalized American, is professor of law at the University of Indiana and author of "The powers of the American people." Educated both in Japan and here, he has been employed as the official interpreter for the Japanese army and is in close touch with the imperial government. His book covers the past history of the island empire, its religious, social and educational life, and gives an account of its army and navy. The keynote of the book, however, is the very complete history of the relation of Japan to the United States. Contains marginal illustrations by native artists printed in six tints. Decorated cover.

Orczy, Emma Magdalena Rosalia Maria Josefa Barbara, Baroness, [Mrs. Montague Barstow.] Beau Brocade: a romance; with il. in color by Clarence F. Underwood. Phil., Lippincott, 1907. c. '06, '07. 6+359 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Author of "The scarlet pimpernel" again weaves a tale of daring and romance in the stirring days of George II. of England, when adherents of Charles Edward, the Pretender, were being tracked down and arrested for treason. Captain Jack Bathurst, cashiered from the army through the treachery of a superior officer, takes to the road and becomes a master of chivalrous highwaymanry, known as Beau Brocade. A briskly moving plot has to do with a young nobleman, attainted for treason, his beautiful sister, a rascally suitor, and an important packet of letters, as well as the dashing Beau Brocade, hot lover and resourceful antagonist.

Oudin, Maurice Agnus. Standard polyphase apparatus and systems; with 207 photo-reproductions, diagrams, and 21 tables. 5th ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1907. c. 4+369 p. il, tables, diagrs., 8°, cl., **$3 net.

Oxenham, J.: A man of Sark; il. by W. T. Benda. N. Y., Baker & Taylor Co., 1907. c. 418 p. map, D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "The long road" has written a romantic story that has its scene on the isle of Sark (or Sercq), one of the smallest of the Channel Islands. The time is 1800, when England, France and Spain were engaged in a triangular war. There is a manly hero and an attractive heroine, and the quaint customs of this little known island are vividly described.

Parker, Sir Gilbert. The weavers: a tale of England and Egypt of fifty years ago; il. by André Castaigne. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. '06, '07. 6+530 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Author of "The right of way" has used strongly contrasted settings for this story of the middle nineteenth century—a Quaker community in rural England, the London of society and statecraft, and Egypt, seething with intrigue and unrest. David Claridge, born of Quaker blood, a forceful and commanding personality, in some of the incidents of his life suggestively like both Lord Cromer and "Chinese" Gordon, is set in authority in Cairo and faced with the problem of establishing an enlightened government in an Oriental nation. Curiously involved in his career are a woman of high social position in England, her husband, a cabinet minister, and some obscure persons of the Quaker hamlet. The crossings and interweavings of the strands of fate disclose the workings of hate, deceit and revenge, as well as high-minded love and self-denying devotion to a cause.

Phillips, D.: Graham. Light-fingered gentry. N. Y., Appleton, 1907. c. '06, '07. 8+451 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "The master rogue," "The second generation," and "The plum tree" has in this new story chosen the inside workings of the great insurance companies as his field of battle; the salons of the great Fifth Avenue mansions as the ante-chambers of his field of intrigue; and the two things which every natural, big man desires—love and success—as the goal of his leading character. The scene changes from Chicago to New York.

Portuondo, Josephine. True historical stories for Catholic children. Phil., H. L. Kilner & Co., 1907. c. 260 p. D. cl., $1.

Contents: Introduction; Constantine the Great; St. Leo the Great; Pepin; Charlemagne; St. Henry; Richard Cœur de Lion; Edward the Confessor; St. Louis; Jeanne d'Arc; Christopher Columbus; Ferdinand and Isabella; Katharine of Aragon; Mary, Queen of Scots; Samuel de Champlain; Charles Carroll of Carrollton; Marie Antoinette; Venice; Conclusion.

Shakespeare, W.: [Complete works.] New variorum ed.; ed. by Horace Howard Furness. v. 15. The tragedy of Anthony and Cleopatra. Phil., Lippincott, 1907. c. 20+614 p. O. cl., **$4 net; ¾ levant, **$5 net.

Last volume was published in 1904. The text follows the text of the First folio. In addition there are textual notes showing the different readings of the folios, quartos, and subsequent editions, similar in kind to the notes of the Cambridge edition, but differing herein, that they enumerate the critical editions that have adopted the various readings. Then follows a Commentary in which the notes, worth preserving (in the opinion of the editor), of critical editions from Pope to the present day are condensed—at times, these notes merely illustrate the history of Shakespearean criticism. In an appendix are criticisms by English, German and French authors. List of books (6 p.).

Spencer's (Platt R.) Sons. Practical writing. bks. 7 and 8. N. Y., American Book Co., 1906, 1907. c. sq. O. pap., per doz., 60 c.

Stanton, W. A., D.D. Three important movements: Campbellism, Mormonism and spiritualism. Phil., American Baptist Publication Society, [1907.] c. 5-48 p. D. pap., **10 c. net.

Contrary to the wording of the title this paper has to do with Campbellism and Mormonism only, both closely associated in their early days with the history of Pittsburgh, Pa., of which town the author is a citizen. Briefly tells the history of each sect and sets forth the claims of the founders.

Steiner, Rev. E.: A. The mediator: a tale of the old world and the new. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, 1907. c. 356 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author is a Congregational clergyman and educator, now professor of applied Christianity in Iowa College. The story of a passionate Jewish boy from Russian Poland, who runs away, is educated in a Catholic monastery, again runs away and reaches America. Here he follows true Christianity and spends his life as mediator between persons holding prejudices of all kinds. A very rich woman aids him in his plans, and a slight love story brightens the pictures of the slums of New York. It is Mr. Steiner's first attempt at calling fiction to aid him in his plans for the improvement of his fellowmen.

Tanner, J.: H. High school algebra. N. Y., American Book Co., [1907.] c. 6+346 p. O. cl., $1.

Author is professor of mathematics in Cornell University.

Tomlinson, Everett Titsworth. The camp-fire of Mad Anthony. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1907. c. 12+391 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The burning of a cargo of Tory tea at Greenwich, New Jersey, after the destruction of the tea in Boston Harbor, is the chief incident of this historical tale covering the period between 1774 and 1776. It has two brave, attractive young heroes, who are the leaders in many daring episodes. The story follows the adventures of the Pennsylvania troops under "Mad Anthony" Wayne.

Trine, Ralph Waldo. This mystical life of ours: a book of suggestive thoughts for each week through the year; from the complete works of Ralph Waldo Trine. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1907.] c. '06-'07. 10+190 p. O. cl., **$1 net.

Selections from the works of the author of "The life books" made by himself, and arranged by topics.

Trollope, Anthony. John Caldigate. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1907. 2 v., 16°, (Manor house novels.) cl., $2.50; hf. mor., *$5 special net.

Wells, Carolyn. Patty in Paris. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1907. c. 9-270 p. il. D. cl., †$1.25.

Although Patty Fairfield had graduated with honors her father was not satisfied that her education should cease at seventeen. After discussing various plans it is finally settled that she shall go to Paris for a year to study music and perfect herself in French. Mr. and Mrs. Farrington invite her to be their guest there and a companion to her "chum" Elise. Her going is told with many details—the buying of her wardrobe, the farewells of her friends, the jolly time on the steamer, and eventually her visit in Paris, with all its attending exciting episodes.

White, Mrs. Alma. The New Testament church. Denver, Col., Pillar of Fire, 1907. c. 174 p. D. cl., 50 c.

Statement of the history and doctrines of the Pillar of Fire church, incorporated as the Pentecostal Union in 1901 in protest against the doctrines and practices of all modern Christian churches. Purports to be founded according to the rules laid down in the New Testament.

Whitelock, W: Wallace. When kings go forth to battle: a novel; with il. in color by Frank H. Desch. Phil., Lippincott, 1907. c. 311 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

By the author of "The literary guillotine." A bet made by a young American that he will within an hour make the acquaintance of a pretty young American he first notices walking with her old father through the streets of Westrum, said to be a small German principality, sets the plot in motion. The bet is won in quite an amusing manner, the two young people becoming at once involved in a political intrigue for restoring the throne of Westrum to its rightful owner. Matters are carried through in a most daring and unconventional manner, the deposed monarch coming again to his own in spite of opposition and treachery.

INDEX TO FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this list publishers' announcements are indexed by author, title or subject and series. Titles already recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY have been generally excluded.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds.," particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

Fuller information of the books announced will be found in the publishers' advertising pages, index to which is given on page 767.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYFOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 28, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK.

THE booktrade faces the fall and holiday season with anxious expectancy. While the business in books during the past six months, on the whole, has been satisfactory, there has nevertheless been evident in many sections, notably in the East and along the Pacific coast, a tendency on the part of the public to contract its purchases, and this has had effect on the buyers of the larger houses to keep closer to the actual demands made on their departments rather than, as one publisher has put it, to "balloon" their orders. Still, the hard times in the financial world thus far have affected chiefly the dealers in rare books, those articles of "biogotry and virtue" that appeal to buyers with fat purses, rather than the general booktrade, though this has felt the pinch in making collections, which has also affected the wholesale trade. How a continued stringency of the money market, the higher cost of living and of doing business, and the other malign elements that follow in the wake of unnatural expansion, will affect business in general, and the booktrade in particular, during the next six months, only the future can reveal.

The publishing trade, as may be learned by consulting the announcements for the fall, printed elsewhere in this issue, is optimistic of a busy season. Upwards of 2500 books—considerably more than have ever been announced before this season—are about to be published, or are in active preparation, and in many departments of literature books of the first importance are promised. This is especially so in the field of pure literature and in the departments of history and biography. In fiction some of the foremost novelists are represented with new works. The departments of travel and description present many new works of adventures and discoveries in new countries by competent writers, while old favorites in every department of literature will reappear in all manner of attractive shapes, and at prices that will bring them within the reach of even the most impecunious readers. Where all are so uniformly good in the departments mentioned, it would be invidious to single out any one, or even a few of the more notable ones; indeed, one of the hopeful signs of publishing to-day is that the publisher strives to make intrinsically good books rather than showy books, though the exterior and general make-up of the book is rarely neglected.

As to the condition of the booktrade generally, that has never been so satisfactory as at the present. Step by step difficulties are being removed as publishers and booksellers come to a better understanding of the obstacles in the way—not removed so quickly or so radically as the more impatient in the trade would wish, yet surely faced in a manner to give hope of still greater betterment of conditions in the future. A more amicable agreement among the retailers in every section of the country during the past year has made for more profitable bookselling, and price-cutting has been less acute than ever before, though that particular evil will likely beset the trade until the millennium. The recent decision by Judge Dowling, of the New York Supreme Court, impliedly assuring to the proprietor of a copyright book the right to obtain such price as he may decide to ask for his product, while asserting the contrary as to non-copyright books, has also done much to clear the air, and has left booktrade reform in a pretty satisfactory condition.

While taking a conservative view of the outlook, we have no doubt that a large business in books is possible during the coming season; indeed, it is in the very nature of things that trade in books will increase with the ever-growing number of readers. But those who are looking for a "boom" to help them out this year are likely to be disappointed. All will depend upon a close watch of the market and trade, and tireless activity and enterprise. With these factors even the seemingly impossible may be accomplished.

TO INTRODUCE BETTER FRENCH BOOKS IN AMERICA.

"A SCHEMÉ to restore the good name of French literature in the United States," according to a special cable despatch to the New York Times, "is proposed by Hugues Le Roux. He says the American public has come to regard modern French novels as immoral productions of the worst kind, and that this is in consequence of America being flooded with books, quite unknown in France, apparently written and published specially for foreign consumption. The result is to check the influence of French thought in the United States and to create a prejudice against France and French ideas.

"M. Le Roux suggests the establishment of a large depot in New York for the sale of genuine French books, excluding those of an objectionable nature. He proposes to ask leading publishers to confer with a view to the creation of such a depot.

"Several leading writers have expressed approval of the idea, though Paul Hervieu, the dramatist, thinks the matter concerns booksellers rather than publishers. Marcel Prévost thinks the chief obstacle to Le Roux's scheme is that the French publishers are so prosperous that they will not make the proposed effort so long as they can continue to issue a few books which sell well with little advertisement."

Apropos of this movement the New York Evening Post pertinently says: "M. Le Roux's proposed American agency would be fulfilling an important service to France and to this country if it would disseminate a broader knowledge of the admirable work that is being done by Frenchmen in criticism, political and social history, and the less abstruse sciences. At the present moment, for instance, the battle against Romanticism which has been under way for some time, has entered on a sharper phase with the publications of Le-maitre's lectures on Rousseau. The great world-movements of the time—colonization, immigration, Socialism, feminism—are receiving useful exposition at the hands of French savants, like the brothers Leroy-Beaulieu, Emile Boutmy, and Gabriel Tardieu, as well as a host of younger scholars who therein reveal their traditional dislike for the minute scholasticism of their German confrères. In the field of imaginative literature, on the other hand, it is difficult to see why Frenchmen should be anxious to acquire a reputation other than the one their best work has. With all its exaggerations of worship for the joy of physical life above and to the exclusion of everything else, it stands nevertheless for a system of thought and action that vast numbers acknowledge. It is, indeed, slandering the French nation to say that what we know as their 'realism' in literature is the product of purely mercenary motives, rather than the expression of a natural and certainly comprehensible philosophy of life."

Mr. Simon Brentano, commenting on the proposition, says: "In spite of M. Le Roux's criticisms I am sure that a representative stock of French literature, and not the 'rub-bish' of which he complains, will be found in the book stores of New York, Chicago and Boston. And speaking from my own experience, the standard of the French books in demand by the average customer is steadily advancing—from which it seems fair to judge that in this country the right appreciation of French literature is growing and in no need of an artificial stimulus."

THE BOSTON "ARCHWAY BOOK-STORE" IN NEW QUARTERS.

THE year 1856 saw the beginning of a modest bookstore in the archway leading to the old Marlboro Hotel on Washington Street, in Boston. This soon became a favorite resort for book buyers in Boston, especially those who loved to "browse" among old and rare volumes. In the late seventies the old Marlboro Hotel was torn down, and the store then and since known as the Archway Bookstore was moved to 356 Washington Street, where it has now been located for thirty years. In 1880 it came into the possession of the present owners, DeWolfe & Fiske. The business soon grew to large proportions, and Boston's Archway Bookstore became famous throughout the country.

Finding their old quarters entirely inadequate for their extensive business DeWolfe, Fiske & Co. have taken a lease of the building at 16 to 20 Franklin Street, a few yards from Washington Street, and adjoining the new subway station. Here, in a large, well lighted, handsomely furnished store they feel justified in claiming as fine a display of books as in any store east of New York. A novel and attractive feature of the new store is the classified arrangements of the stock, so that any one interested in a special line of reading will find the books on every phase of the subject massed together where they can be easily examined.

The firm will also continue the feature which for fifty years has made the Archway Bookstore famous, the display of low-priced books, both new and second-hand, publishers' remainders, odd lots, etc., as well as all the new and standard books.

CATALOGUE OF THE MACMILLAN COMPANY.

THE "Catalogue of the Publications and Imports of the Macmillan Company, 1867-1898," shows a new plan of compilation and careful editing. Author entries and subjects have been put under one alphabet. The authors now on the Macmillan list number 2800 and the titles of their books number about 6000. The list of subject headings under which the books are classified is arranged in conformity with the system of classification used by the American Library Association, and the list of subjects is given on the inside cover pages of the catalogue. No subject is included which is not represented by at least three books, yet the A. L. A. list of subject headings is practically complete. The catalogue contains only the books published or controlled in this country by the firm which are still in active demand, and these cover some of the more important publications issued by the largest English publishing houses during the last fifty years. Among the famous series and editions included are the Aldine Poets, the Bohn Libraries, the English Men of Letters, the Temple Classics and many more in which the great treasures of English literature may be found. It has been estimated that a small library of three or four thousand volumes of general reading and reference and research on special subjects might be stacked entirely from the Macmillan catalogue and show surprisingly few weak places.

By a scheme of variations of type the figures of the prices catalogued show at once whether the prices are "long" or "net," and a (†) dagger added to the price at once distinguishes all the works of fiction.

Under the subject of Fiction, all the novels in the Macmillan list are entered by title, and thus for the first time this goodly list of romance is brought together. The same is also done for Juvenile literature. Theology and Political Science contain many celebrated books. The catalogue makes a good work of reference for any student in search of books on almost any subject, and will be a great help to librarians and book-sellers. All who know the difficulties of preparing such a catalogue must congratulate its compiler upon a good practical plan patiently and conscientiously worked out. (244 p. 8".)

PLAYS OF MENANDER FOUND.

THE announcement is just made that about a year ago while making excavations in Kom-Ichgaow, an obscure village in Egypt, Gustave Lefevre, Inspector of the Egyptian Service of Antiquities, discovered a manuscript several sheets of which contain plays by Menander. M. Maspero, the well-known French Egyptologist, fears, however, that the bulk of educated readers will be disappointed. The subjects are not particularly interesting and the characters are rather conventional. M. Maspero's final conclusion is that "Menander will become a source of enjoyment for a few, who will gladly bear witness to his merits, but he will remain for the rest what he was before, that is to say, a great man on the evidence of others."

WHAT IS READ IN SWEDEN.

AN interesting note on the reading public in Sweden appears in The London Bookman. Writing from Stockholm a correspondent of that journal says:

"English authors are read here less than German and French, and in the Tauchnitz editions chiefly, but there are Swedish translations, at moderate prices, of most of the popular English novelists. A year or two ago there was a great run on Mr. Kipling's books, and they are still widely read. So are the works of Lafcadio Hearn. I find Stevenson little known, and Thackeray little read. Dickens is, without doubt, the popular English classic. The Swedes are at the moment neglecting foreign literature comparatively, and giving more encouragement to their own authors. All the publishers now issue cheap reprints of Swedish classics, and some recent and living writers have attained high circulations. Selma Lagerlof has just been given the honorary degree of LL.D. by the University of Upsala—the first Swedish woman so honored."

PROTEST AGAINST "THE CLOISTER AND THE HEARTH."

A STRONG Roman Catholic protest was made at a meeting of the Sheffield Education Committee in London, on September 23, against the inclusion of Charles Reade's "The Cloister and the Hearth" in the syllabus for the evening school literary classes.

Dean Dolan, leader of the Catholic party, said the novel was the work of a bitter Protestant, who had made a violent attack on the Catholic Church, holding it up to ridicule in a most insidious manner.

The Rev. T. W. Holmes, a Congregational minister, supported Dean Dolan, saying that Protestants would combat the introduction of a book for study if their faith were attacked in it by a Roman Catholic.

The committee, however, decided that the famous novel, for its literary and historical merits, should remain on the list.

OBITUARY NOTES.

GEORGE ALLEN, known throughout the English-speaking world as "Ruskin's publisher," died at Orpington, Kent, Eng., on September 6, nearly seventy years of age. It was in the fifties while attending the Working Men's College in Great Ormond Street, London, that Ruskin first met the young carpenter who was afterwards to become his engraver, publisher and friend. Under the protection of Ruskin, Allen studied mezzotint and line engraving under Lupton and Le Keux, respectively, and in 1857 became Ruskin's assistant in the engraving of his pictures. Allen, according to the London Daily Telegraph, "had then three other offers: (1) to enter his uncle's business of a builder, to which, when he first came to London as a boy of fifteen, he had been apprenticed; (2) to go into partnership with Rossetti in Morris's firm; or (3) to take up a Government appointment as superintendent of the furnishing of the Royal Palaces. He elected to work with Ruskin, and from that day to the time of his death entered heart and soul into the work in hand with such thoroughness, sincerity and ability that the most abiding friendship was established between the master and pupil. The success of the partnership led to the pupil setting up in 1871, in the pretty village of Keston, in Kent, as Ruskin's publisher, and some time afterwards the business was transferred to Orpington, where he made his home, the London branch being established at the well-known "Ruskin House," in Shaftesbury Avenue. The first publication of the firm at Keston was "Fors Clavigera," and it was a great success. The impression got abroad—and this obtains in many quarters—that a printing press had been established something after the style of Morris's printing press at Hammersmith. As a matter of fact no printing or binding was ever done at Keston or Orpington, only the engraving and publishing. Ruskin selected his paper and type, and left it to Mr. Allen to see that the work was well carried out by one of the better-class printers of London. After the publication of the third edition of "Modern Painters" by a London firm, Ruskin was so disgusted with some of the plates that he asked Allen to burn 5000 in the back garden, and vowed never to republish the book. Allen, however, dissuaded him, and in 1889 the Ruskin-Allen edition of "Modern Painters" was published from Kent. This brought a clear profit of £7000. It is not generally known indeed that the success of the venture was altogether remarkable. From 1886 to 1900, when he died, Ruskin received no less than £50,000 royalties on his books published in Kent, and since then no less than another £24,000 has been paid to his estate. The most popular of the works has proved to be "Sesame and Lilies," of which 162,000 copies of the publication containing the two original lectures have been published, and 108,000 copies in addition of the same book in which the essay on "The Mystery of Life," was incorporated. Next in order of popularity was proved to be "Unto This Last," of which 104,000 copies have been published; "Crown of Wild Olives," 98,000, and "The Seven Lamps of Architecture," 57,000. Though Mr. Allen was closely identified with the publishing of Ruskin's works, he also extended his business and started publishing for other authors, among them Maurice Maeterlinck, Augustus J. C. Hare, William Morris, Andrew Lang, H. Belloc, Herbert Paul and others equally well known.

PROFESSOR WILBUR OLIN ATWATER, head of the department of chemistry at Wesleyan University, died at his home in Middletown, Conn., on September 22. Professor Atwater was born in Johnsbury, N. Y., May 3, 1844. He was the author of upwards of 100 papers on chemical and allied subjects. His work in proof of the food value of alcohol caused much discussion.

MISS J. L. COLE, for many years bookkeeper for W. E. Benjamin and latterly for George H. Richmond, died at her residence, 326 Fifth Avenue, New York City, on September 7. Miss Cole was well known in the old book-trade, and was an extremely able accountant and a most lovable personality.

JOHN J. GUSTAV BURGHOFFER, who for years kept a book shop at 34 North State Street, in Chicago, was found dead in his store on September 13.

GARRETT J. DEMPSEY, for thirty years in the employ of the American News Company, died on September 19 at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ANDOVER, MASS.—Louise S. Goldsmith & Co. have opened a store in the Arco Building, where they will handle booklets, pictures and novelties generally.

MONTGOMERY CITY, Mo.—The Thompson Book and News Co., it is reported, has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

NEW YORK CITY.—Justice Ford, of the Supreme Court, made an order last week suspending from office all the directors of the Frank Tousey Publishing Company and appointing Henry B. Smith, a paper manufacturer of 570 Seventh Avenue, receiver for the concern. This decision of Justice Ford is the result of an action asking for an injunction restraining Sinclair Tousey from interfering with the affairs of the concern and praying for the suspension of the directors and for the appointment of a receiver. The action was brought in June by George Gordon Hastings, who owns 50 per cent. of the stock of the concern. He alleged that Sinclair Tousey, the president, had arrogated to himself complete control of the company; that he refused to allow Hastings to see the books; that Tousey was depleting the assets of the business by paying to himself a salary of $30,000 a year and giving to his son of twenty years a salary of $10,000. Mr. Hastings also alleged that Tousey had made overdrafts of $11,000 on the funds of the concern and had improperly issued stock to the amount of $50,000. On September 19, Justice Mills, in the Supreme Court in Westchester County, reserved decision on the complaint on which Sinclair Tousey sued to obtain possession of certain stock of the printing corporation now held by George Gordon Hastings, executor of the estate of Rosalie Tousey Hastings, who had been vice-president of the company. Sinclair Tousey alleged that Mrs. Hastings had agreed to give the stock to him for certain services which he had performed.

NEW YORK CITY.—Walker & Stonestreet, dealers in rare books, have opened offices at 29 West Forty-second Street. They would be pleased to receive lists and catalogues from dealers.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—John D. Morris & Co. on October 1 will remove to the ninth floor of the new building at 919 Walnut Street, where they will have about 10,500 square feet of wall space.

WAPAKONETA, O.—Louis Kayser, bookseller, it is reported, has made an assignment.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have just ready for the fall trade their "Illustrated Catalogue for the Holiday Season of 1907." The catalogue, which contains 288 pages exclusive of a number of handsomely illuminated insets, contains an almost bewildering amount of information on new books, booklets, cards, calendars, etc., arranged for ready reference under twenty-five groups. For the stationer they have prepared their wholesale list of Foreign and Domestic, Office and Commercial Stationery and School Supplies, describing well over 700 items. The two lists should be in the hands of every bookseller and stationer for reference as well as when making up orders.

A RUSSIAN bibliography was published in July by the Central Administration for Literary Matters in St. Petersburg. This catalogue is published weekly, and contains an alphabetical list of the weekly publications issued in Russia, in the Russian, as well as in another language, a subject index, a list of the principal articles published in reviews and newspapers of critics of books, notes on the booktrade and the press, and advertisements. This publication will issue, in addition to the yearly catalogue, a quarterly supplement containing a combined index of the books published during the last quarter, a list of the translations published from the Russian, etc. From January next the editors intend to extend the weekly issue by adding two new sections, i.e., "Rossica," giving a review of books dealing with Russia, but published abroad; and "Slavica," giving a review of books published outside Russia in Slavish languages. Subscription price for second term 1907, including a quarterly and a half-yearly index, 2 roubles.

THE SPANISH-AMERICAN BOOK Co., 200 William Street, New York City, announce that they are about ready to begin the publication of a catalogue of all current books on Latin-American and West Indian subjects. It is their intention to include anything bearing upon any phase of life in these countries, their natural history, ethnology, etc., their language and literature, (including Spanish and Portuguese literature in general,) and upon such subjects as early discoveries, pirates, buccaneers, tropical agriculture, tropical diseases, the Panama Canal, the Monroe Doctrine, early Texas and Florida history, etc. The Spanish-American Book Co. is under the same management as the Wilshire Book Co. and the Half Price Book Club.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE ROBERT APPLETON COMPANY, 1 Union Square, New York City, will publish on November 1 the second volume of their "Catholic Encyclopedia."

EDWARD J. CLODE will bring out on October 15 Louis Tracy's first holiday story, entitled "Minkie," with illustrations and borders in colors. Mr. Clode has just ready a holiday edition of Emma Gellibrand's story, "J. Cole," with six full-page illustrations in color.

HARPER & BROTHERS publish this week Gert-rude Atherton's new story, "Ancestors;" "The Indian's Book," by Natalie Curtis; "From Van Dweller to Commuter," by Albert Bigelow Paine; and "Wee Winkles and Her Friends," by Gabrielle E. Jackson, all fully described in our issue for September 14.

REILLY & BRITTON COMPANY announce that they are putting to press the fourth edition of "The Shepherd of the Hills," by Harold Bell Wright, author of "That Printer of Udell's," which is rounding out a sale of 100,000 copies. The book is receiving unqualified praise from some of the best newspapers throughout the country.

The current number of the Bath (Eng.) Beacon contains the first instalment of a series of illustrated papers on "The Luders Family of Bath," by J. F. Meehan, the well-known bookseller and author of "Famous Houses of Bath and District." As there is some American interest in the later history of the Luders family these papers promise to have more than local interest.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE, as already announced, will give its first dinner for this season at the rooms of the Aldine Association on the evening of October 9. Rex Beach, the author of "The Spoilers," and Richard Barry, the well-known journalist and author of "Port Arthur: a Monster Heroism," will be the guests of the League, and assist in entertaining the company.

HURST & Co. call attention to their fall trade and order list which this season contains many attractions. Among these are choice lines of fiction, poetry and the classics in many styles and sizes, bound in cloth and in leather, at popular prices, also a large line of cloth-bound books for young people. Every one of their lines have received additions, and their dress has been improved throughout.

THE COLORED AMERICAN NOVELTY Co. Drawer 2318, Washington, D. C., is engaged in collecting books and pictures of colored people, by colored people, and in which colored people will be likely to be interested, and would like to form business connections with publishers of such articles or with people interested. They have published a catalogue of the pictures and books already in stock which will be sent on application.

It is said on good authority that "Tom Felder," who figures prominently in Hallie Erminie Rives's new novel, "Satan Sanderson," is the real name of a real man—Thomas H. Felder, of Atlanta, Ga. He is a noted young lawyer and a friend of Mr. and Mrs.

Wheeler, and although Hallie Erminie Rives has always threatened to put him into one of her books, he was as much surprised to find himself there as his friends were to find him. Mr. Felder was one of the first to encourage the former Miss Rives in her literary work.

BREITKOPF & HÄRTEL, the music publishers of Leipzig, will issue this season the first volumes in the complete edition of Haydn's works, which has been in preparation for some twenty years. This edition, which is to be uniform with the editions of Mozart, Beethoven and Schubert printed by the same house, will consist of about fourscore volumes, to cost, all told, about $150. Many eminent musicians have concerned themselves with it, and the editors have had access to all manuscripts in the possession of private individuals and public institutions.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY have just ready a new book for lovers of art by Estelle M. Hurl, author of "The Bible Beautiful," "The Madonna in Art," etc., entitled "Portraits and Portrait Painting." The subject has an almost inexhaustible interest, since from the days of Leonardo to the present time interpretative portraiture has been one of the most interesting and at the same time most difficult branches of this fine art. Miss Hurl's book deals not only with the art itself, but with the artists, and, as far as can be ascertained, with the personality of the subjects. Many types of work are represented in the illustrations, and many temperaments are described in the text. Besides the regular cloth edition, "Portraits and Portrait Painting" will be issued in a handsome morocco binding for a holiday gift.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "Recollections of an Ill-fated Expedition to the Head-Quarters of the Madeira River in Brazil," by Neville B. Craig; "The Story of a Football Season," by George H. Brooke; "Home Life in All Lands," by Charles Morris; "Nooks and Corners of Old Paris," translated from the French of George Cain; "The History of the Squares of London," by E. Beresford Chancellor; and "A Book of Quotations, Proverbs and Household Words," by W. Gurney Benham. For the young for the holidays they have prepared a fine edition of George Macdonald's "The Princess and the Goblin," illustrated in color; "With Fighting Jack Barry," by John T. McIntyre; "Three Girls from School," by Laura T. Meade; and "John Smith, Gentleman Adventurer," by C. H. Forbes Lindsay.

DETAILS are forthcoming as to the contents of the Spœlberch de Lovenjoul bequest to the French Institute. According to the London Athenæum, "with three or four exceptions it comprises all the MSS. of Balzac's novels, some bound and others in a loose state, and many covered with coffee stains; the greater number are accompanied by the printer's proofs. The collection of Théophile Gautier contains all his works except two articles dating from 1836, and includes 800 letters, drawings in water colors and otherwise. Of Sainte-Beuve there are 3000 letters, the unpublished manuscript of 'Arthur' and an annotated example of the 'Mémoires d'Outre-Tombe.' There are also a journal intime and fragmentary pieces by George Sand, as well as numerous documents concerning Mérimée, Lamennais and others."

THE MCCLURE COMPANY have just issued the long-expected new automobile story of C. N. and A. M. Williamson, entitled "The Car of Destiny;" "Helena's Path," by Anthony Hope, telling of a path across the Lady Helena's estates of which she denied the use to her neighbor, Lord Lymborough, and which became a bone of bitter contention; "The Wagner Stories," by Filson Young; "The Real Blake," by Edward J. Ellis, giving a complete portrait of the artist; "Poems of Wordsworth," edited by Stopford A. Brooke; and "Cameos of Literature," three volumes devoted to Richard Wagner as poet: Maxim Gorky; Aristotle, edited by George Brandes; also, Escoffier's "Guide to Modern Cookery." The publication of Stewart Edward White's "Arizona Nights" and Mary Stewart Cutting's "Suburban Whirl" has been postponed for a month.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on October 5 "Camping and Tramping with Roosevelt," in which John Burroughs tells of the President as he saw him in the Yellowstone Park and at his summer home at Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay; "Human Bullets," a Japanese soldier's vivid account of the Port Arthur campaign, by Lieutenant Tadayoshi Sakurai; "Princess Pourquoi," a collection of striking stories by Miss Margaret Sherwood; "The Literature of Roguery," by Professor Frank E. Chandler; "After Noontide," selections by Margaret E. White, with a sketch of the compiler's life by Miss Eliza Orne White; "The Province of Burma," by Alleyne Ireland, being the first two volumes of his comprehensive "Report on the Colonial Administration in the Far East;" "America's Literature," edited by Miss Eva March Tappan; and an enlarged edition of "Stories of the Saints," by Mrs. Caroline VanD. Chenoweth.

C. ROPP & SONS, 220 S. Clark Street, Chicago, a revised edition of "Ropp's New Commercial Calculator and Short-Cut Arithmetic," designed for the use of farmers, mechanics, business and professional men, bankers and dealers in grain, live stock, cotton, coal, lumber, produce, etc., by C. Ropp. The new work contains twice the amount of matter contained in the former editions, of which nearly a million and a half copies have been sold, and covers to the minutest division information on and short cuts to the subjects which it covers. It also contains interest tables, a set of rules and principles of arithmetic and mensuration, information on commission, fire insurance, profit and loss, trade discounts, exchange, partnership, taxes, duties, etc., averaging accounts, mechanical powers, commercial law, postage rates and fees, weights and measures, the metric system, etc., and a perpetual calendar. The work is issued in octavo for office use, in two pocket editions and in a vest pocket edition, and is as handy to use as a watch or a dictionary.

THE AUTHORS AND NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION, following its success of last year in serializing the works of prominent authors which were subsequently sold throughout the country in book form, has for the current year secured contracts with over twenty eminent authors, among them Max Pemberton, William Le Queux; S. R. Crockett, H. A. Vachell and others equally well known, whose novels will appear at intervals in over one hundred of the leading newspapers of the country, prior to book publication. Owing to the rapid growth of the newspaper branch of its business, the association has arranged with the Empire Book Company, of New York, to publish in book form all manuscripts hereafter secured by it. The Empire Book Company will inaugurate this plan by the publication of "The Powers and Maxine," by the popular novelists, C. N. and A. M. Williamson. Simultaneously with the publication of this book wide publicity will be given to it in the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada, to be followed at stated intervals with other new novels. The selling agency for the publications of the Empire Book Company will be the American News Company and its branches, which will promptly supply the trade, but at such liberal discounts that the bookseller will be enabled to retail these novels at less than one-half the usual price for copyright fiction and with a handsome margin of profit.

THE OUTING PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish in October "The Way of a Man," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Mississippi Bubble," the scene of which is laid in the West, mostly during the time of the great westward movement previous to the war between the States; "J. Archibald McKackney, (Tales of a Collector of Whiskers,)" a series of humorous articles by Ralph D. Paine that have been running serially in The Outing Magazine; "Camp and Trail," by Stewart Edward White, a practical experience book in which the author tells just what is necessary and what is unnecessary for comfort and convenience in the camp and on the trail, interspersed with pertinent anecdotes; also, "At the Foot of the Rainbow," by Gene Stratton-Porter, with illustrations in color by Ralph Fletcher Seymour, an idyllic love story, the scene of which is laid in Indiana. They will bring out in November "The Romance of an Old-Time Shipmaster," edited by Ralph D. Paine, a collection of letters and journals written by an American sea captain at the beginning of the last century, which reveal a charming and lovable personality and throw a curious light on life at sea at the time; "The Tragedy of Russia in Pacific Asia," by Frederick McCormick, already fully described by us; also, "Big Game at Sea," by Charles Frederick Holder, who gives thrilling accounts of battles with the giant tuna, devil fish, shark and other mammoth denizens of the deep sea, which are adequately illustrated with reproductions from photographs.

JOHN LANE COMPANY announce for early fall publication "Abraham Lincoln, an Appreciation," by the late Robert G. Ingersoll. This volume will be issued in two forms—one a regular trade edition, containing as frontispiece a portrait of Lincoln, the other a special limited collector's Autograph edition, printed on imperial Japan paper, containing photo-gravure portraits of Lincoln and Ingersoll and autograph of the author. This latter edition will be limited to 110 copies, bound in three-quarters levant. They also announce "The Marriage Ring," by Jeremy Taylor, a reprint of the bishop's famous sermon, the text being that published in 1673, edited with notes by Francis Coutts, with a photogravure reproduction of the Arundel Society's copy of Perugino's "Marriage of the Virgin" presented as frontispiece; and "Some Clerical Types," a good-humored study of clergymen, with 32 illustrations to depict the types. They are publishing "Napoleon at the Boulogne Camp," by Fernand Nicolay. This study is based on a number of hitherto unpublished documents which came into the hands of the author from his father, who was the owner of the land historically famous for its associations with Bonaparte and Bruix. They have just brought out, under the title of "A Sea Dog of Devon," a life of Sir John Hawkins, one of the greatest of English explorers and generals at sea. He had a large share in opening up trade with America, and took a leading part in the fierce struggle with the Spaniards. It was his ship, The Victory, that fought the brilliant duel with the Santa Anna of the Spanish Armada, and his conspicuous services in the defeat of the attacking fleet won him his knighthood. The book is written by R. A. J. Walling and carries an introduction by Lord Brassey and John Leland.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out Maurice Hewlett's new story, "The Stooeping Lady," an absorbing love story the heroine of which "stooops" to one far beneath her in station though a man genuinely worthy of her devotion. The scene is laid in London in the earlier part of the 19th century. They have also just ready "The Heart of Jessy Laurie," by Amelia E. Barr, who in this story goes back to the scenes of Scottish life which she has already treated so successfully in "Jan Vedder's Wife" and in others of her stories; "Culture by Conversation," by Robert Waters, a bright book showing not only the many advantages of conversation, but affording suggestions, by example and illustration, how to become a good conversationalist; a new edition of Walter Sichel's comprehensive work on "Emma, Lady Hamilton"; "The Story of the Ring," by S. H. Hamer, a short analysis of the plot of Wagner's great music cycle, with the principal musical "motives," and four illustrations in color by Harry Bountree; "A Child's Life of Christ," by Mabel Dearmer, with eight full-page pictures in color and many illustrations in black and white; "American Indian Fairy Tales," by Margaret Comp-ton, illustrated in colors; a new edition of James Fergusson's "History of Architecture," revised and brought up to date by Dr. George Kriehn, formerly Professor of Art History in Leland Stanford Jr. University, printed from new plates, with upwards of one hundred new illustrations; "A Spring Fortnight in France," by Josephine Tozier, in which the author has followed her subject along the lines of her first book, "Old English Inns," with numerous illustrations from photographs, also maps; "A History of English Literature," by W. Robertson Nicoll, editor of the English Bookman, and Thomas Seccombe, assistant editor of the "Dictionary of National Biography," an important work, in three volumes, which besides being based on scholarship and painstaking accuracy also aims to be entertaining and stimulating; also, "John Caldigate," by Anthony Trollope, which forms the fourth in the Manor House Novels series.

THE H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY this year have made generous provision for young people. Among their more attractive books in this line they announce "The Teddy Bears A-B-C," with musical rhymes by Laura Rinkle Johnson, and colored illustrations by Margaret Landers Sanford; "The Santa Claus Club," with clever verses and pictures by L. J. Bridgman, in which the nomination for the presidency is tendered to Santa Claus by the youngsters in Child-Land; also, two series of attractive books for boys by such authors as Dr. Hale, W. O. Stoddard, Hezekiah Butterworth, Harry Castlemon, Oliver Optic and others equally popular, entitled respectively, The Every Boy's Library and The Best Books for Boys, the latter being made up of books for older readers. The successes of last year, "The Voyage of the Wishbone Boat," by Alice C. D. Riley, "Guess, Guess Again" and "Mother Goose and Her Wild Beast Show," will be brought out in new dress. For the older readers they announce a book of humor entitled "The Stork Book," by Newton Newkirk, who, while confessing that he knows nothing of babies, insists that he is qualified to write authoritatively about them for the simple reason that the married folks who have no children always give advice on baby culture to those who have; "The Bridge Winner: a guide to success at the game of Bridge," by "Cut Cavendish," a bright and cheery book written in a happy vein, appeals to the advanced player as well as to the beginner; also, "The Value of Sincerity," by Mary M. Barrows, whose Value Gift Books have proved so popular in the past. They have made arrangements to handle in this country the attractive little volumes in the Great Galleries of Europe Series, each book containing sixty or more reproductions of the famous pictures in the principal galleries of Europe, with concise notes to each picture. Four volumes, on the National Gallery, the Tate Gallery, the Louvre and the Luxembourg, are now ready and others are in preparation. Additions have been made to their Red Letter Library, the Remarque Series of Literary Masterpieces, the Ariston Series and the Cadeau Series, all of them well printed and artistically bound.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready "Lord Cammarleigh's Secret," a new novel by Roy Horniman, a popular English author, and three new books for the young: "Boys of the Border," by Mary P. Wells Smith; "Dorchester Days," by Miss A. G. Plympton, and "The Next-Door Morelands," by Emily Westwood Lewis. On October 5 they will publish "John Harvard and His Times," by Henry C. Shelley, whose "Literary By-Paths in Old England" was one of the substantial holiday books of a year ago. Every Harvard alumnus ought to be interested in this, the first book published on the founder of Harvard University. One of the most attractive of Mr. Shelley's chapters is that in which he formulates a novel theory to show that the probabilities are all in favor of Harvard's parents having been introduced to each other by Shakespeare. At the same time they will publish two novels—"Susan Clegg and A Man in the House," by Anne Warner, in which the experiences of the inimitable Susan with a boarder are told with rare humor, and "The Cruise of the Make-Believes," by Tom Gallon; the Pocket edition of Jane Austen's novels in six volumes, and a new book for the young, entitled "Betty Baird's Ventures," by Anna Hamlin Weikel. Among other important books announced by this firm are the late Jeremias Curtin's "The Mongols," the result of years of painstaking investigation and study, to which President Roosevelt has supplied a "foreword;" an authorized edition of Gabrielle D'Annunzio's remarkable drama, "The Daughter of Jorio," translated by Charlotte Porter. Pietro Isola and Alice Henry, with illustrations from the Italian production of the drama; a group of articles by Captain A. T. Mahan, demonstrating the necessary and righteous part played in modern civilization by war, which will be published under the title "Some Neglected Aspects of War;" two volumes of poems, "The Woman in the Rain and Other Poems," by Arthur Stringer, the novelist-poet, and "In the Harbor of Hope," by the late Mary Elizabeth Blake, of Boston; "The Optimist's Good Morning," a book of carefully selected daily readings by Florence Hobart Perin; "The Indian as a Product of Environment," by A. J. Flynn; also, "What Can a Young Man Do?" a book of practical advice with new features, by Hon. Frank West Rollins, ex-Governor of New Hampshire. In fiction they announce "The Welding," by Lafayette McLaws, in which the author notes and studies those elements in the beginnings of the Republic that developed and made inevitable the late friction and disruption culminating in the war between the States, showing the strength and weakness and conflicting sectional interests in national politics, and finally picturing the welding of these interests into the promise of a united nation.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Any bookseller can find a quick market for these titles. They are good value, well made and attractive. Eighty per cent. of our new books are net, and we allow a discount from which there is not only a living but a profit.

BROWNING'S ITALY

By HELEN A. CLARKE

420 pages. 20 illustrations. Colored frontispiece and end papers by George W. Hood. Boxed. Net, $2.00.

"Browning's Italy" is made for the ever-growing circle of Robert Browning's admirers. Miss Clarke describes Italy through Browning's poetry—rather he describes the country in the passages she has selected, and she edits the description.

LIFE OF JAPAN

By MASUMI MIYAKAWA, D.C.L., LL.D.

This beautiful book is of the greatest importance, revealing as it does the educated Japanese attitude towards the new awakening—America's influence on the Japanese national character. Professor Miyakawa gives a most interesting historical sketch of Japanese history. He tells of the present Emperor and the Reform of the Financial System, Industrial Development, Army and Navy, Education, etc., and in a final chapter treats of the "American-Japanese War." Copiously illustrated. Net, $3.00. In Japanese box.

A MAN OF SARK

By

JOHN OXENHAM

Readers of "The Long Road" will recall with pleasure Mr. Oxenham's ability to write a good story. "A Man of Sark" is a tale of the Channel Islands in 1800, when England was at war with France and Spain. It is written with vigor and feeling, and contains a fine love story. Agreeably made and attractively illustrated by W. T. Benda.

$1.50.

The Appreciation of Literature

By GEORGE E. WOODBERRY

To the well-established Appreciation Series issued by us, Professor Woodberry contributes a literary "Appreciation" which should prove to be of the greatest value. He views his subject from a fresh and original standpoint, and touches on most of the master writers with a happy analysis and a helpful, if unconventional, appreciation. The book will prove to be of high educational value. Illustrated with eight half-tones, net, $1.50.

TWO POPULAR AND GREAT NOVELS

STOKES' AUT

FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT'S MASTERPIECE

THE SHUTTLE

An International Romance of Intense Power and Significance

READY OCTOBER 4th

From all indications this will be the book of the Christmas season. It is of commanding interest. The publishers of the CENTURY state that the novel in its serial form has attracted more attention and comment than any they have published for a long time. It is to run in the magazine until and during December, 1907, which means that public attention will be centred on the story throughout the fall.

It is the story of a girl of beauty and forced character, heiress to millions, who crosses the war to unravel the tragedy of her sister's marriage to an English baronet. Her experiences there and her own splendid love story are related with insight and power that recall George Eliot and Thackeray.

WITH FRONTISPIECE IN COLOR BY CLARENCE F. UNDERWOOD. CLOTH, 12mo, $1.50

WINSTON OF THE PRAIRIE

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

Author of "Allan of Semasco," "The Dust of Conflict," etc.

A Romance of Exchanged Reputations

The story of a man who, in the prime of life, changes an honorable name and reputation for that of a dissolute scoundrel, and is then forced to take up the other's life and live down his disgrace. How he does this, finally winning the respect of men and the love of a fastidious and proud girl, makes a theme most thrilling in its development. The spirit of the Western prairie, cruelly magnificent in some of its moods, fills the book and intensifies its power.

ILLUSTRATED IN COLOR BY W. HERBERT DUNTON. CLOTH, 12mo, $1.50

UMN BOOKS

HOLIDAY BOOKS OF UNUSUAL BEAUTY

THE GARDEN OF ALLAH

By ROBERT HICHENS

SPECIAL ILLUSTRATED EDITION

This fervid epic of the desert, Robert Hichens's masterpiece, has proved its permanent value by its steady sales since its first appearance. The publishers have therefore brought it out in a splendid holiday edition, handsomely bound, printed on deckle-edged India tint paper, and with 32 full-page illustrations from photographs of the desert and other scenes of the novel, specially taken for this purpose.

Cloth, 8vo, boxed, $2.50 net; white cloth back, blue paper sides, boxed, $2.50 net.

UNDER THE SOUTHERN CROSS

By ELIZABETH ROBINS. Author of "The Magnetic North," etc.

A delightful romance of the tropical ocean in which a charming girl is ardently wooed by a young Peruvian baron, whose manners are untouched by American conventions. The situations are most amusing, and the dialogue sparkles. Beautifully decorated and illustrated in colors by John Rae; handsomely bound, with a unique cover effect. A most tasteful gift book.

Cloth, 8vo, boxed, $1.50 net.

THE VAN RENSSELAERS OF OLD MANHATTAN

By WEYMER JAY MILLS. Author of "Caroline of Courtlandt Street."

A love story, the scene of which is old New York in Revolutionary times, when the aristocratic families lived on Broadway, near to the Battery. It relates the fortunes of a fascinating, madcap heroine and a penniless but venturesome young Tory. It is a book of rare beauty, with five illustrations in color and delicate ornamentation by John Rae. It has a dainty cover design in which is set a picture of the heroine.

Cloth, 8vo, boxed, $1.50 net.

THE ANGELS OF MESSER ERCOLE

By DUFFIELD OSBORNE. Author of "The Lion's Brood."

The romance of Ercole da Passignò, pupil of the painter Perugino, and of his rash love for the Princess Ottavia Baglioni. It is filled with the poetic charm, the passion and villainy of those artistic but violent times. The book is bound in de luxe style, printed in a special Italian type, with borders, and has numerous illustrations showing the old streets and gateways of Perugia, and the masterpieces of great painters who figure in the book.

Cloth, 16mo, boxed, $1.25; white cloth back, brown paper sides, boxed, $1.25.

THE STORY OF AMERICAN PAINTING

By CHARLES H. CAFFIN

In this important book Mr. Caffen relates the progress of American painting and the influences which have affected it, and shows how inseparably it is connected with the national life. This is the first work of the kind that is popular, authoritative, and of moderate price. It contains 143 reproductions of American paintings, a larger number than in any other book on this subject. Many of these are from paintings never before reproduced. Cloth, 8vo, $2.00 net.

MASTERPIECES IN COLOR

VELASQUEZ

TURNER

In these books, for the first time in any low-priced work on art, are reproduced paintings of great masters in accurate colors. There are eight in each volume. These have been made direct from the originals, and many of the subjects selected are new to the general public. Each book contains an appreciation of the artist's work, and an account of his life, by a competent critic. Large 12mo, brown paper boards, each, 65 cents net.

FICTION.

Three Comrades.

By GUSTAV FRENSSEN, author of "Holyland" and "Jorn Uhl." This work, not the least powerful and sympathetic of this author's romances, combines a beautiful and absorbing love-story with a character study of rare force and subtle insight. Unlike his previous works, it does not advance anything new or radical on religious or social questions, but limits itself to the vivid portraying of life, love, labor, joy, and sorrow of its very human and wholly interesting characters. Cloth, 12mo. .... $1.50

The Message.

By A. J. DAWSON, author of "African Nights Entertainments," etc. A stirring realistic tale of love, war, and politics, in which the scene is laid in England at the latter end of the nineteenth century. The underlying motive of the work is preservation of wholesome patriotism and the discouragement of factious opposition. Many striking characters are drawn and a thrilling love-story forms an important part of the narrative. Cloth, 12mo. .... 1.50

The Hill of Dreams.

By ARTHUR MACHEN, author of "The House of Souls." Those who liked the mystical short stories in "The House of Souls" will not fail to appreciate "The Hill of Dreams." Mr. Machen has used his curious power of suggesting the occult in a new way in this bizarre study of an imaginative temperament obsessed partly by black magic and partly by the enigma of literary style. There is throughout the book a fine restraint and reserve, and altogether it is a work which no one who cares for magic in literature can afford to neglect. Illustrated by S. H. Sime. Cloth, gilt top, 12mo. .... 1.50

JUVENILES.

The Minute Boys of South Carolina.

A new volume in the famous Minute Boys Series by JAMES OTIS, author of "Minute Boys of the Wyoming Valley," "Minute Boys of the Green Mountains," etc. Story of how we lads aided Marion, the "Swamp Fox." A thrilling tale of the adventures of two youthful Southern heroes of Revolutionary time in the service of this daring and successful leader. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. .... 1.50

The Lost Dragon.

By EDWARD S. ELLIS, author of "True Blue," "Lucky Ned," etc. An automobile story forming a sequel to "From Low to High Gear." Mr. Ellis has been a successful writer of boys' tales for more than a generation, but his present works are not for this reason old style or out of date, but most fresh and timely. This volume contains more of exciting haps and mishaps to the hero of "From Low to High Gear." A thoroughly realistic, up-to-date story, with a theme that will appeal to every American boy of to-day. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. .... 1.50

On Tower Island.

By EARL C. McALLISTER. An exciting tale of the adventures of four youths on a yachting cruise along the coast of Maine, during which they accidentally discover proofs of a peculiar criminal conspiracy, and, after many thrilling dangers from pursuit by the criminals, succeed in eluding and causing the arrest and punishment of the whole band. Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy. Cloth, large 12mo. .... 1.50

Two Children in the Woods.

By ROSALIND RICHARDS. A bright, winning account of the doings of two very real children told with artistic simplicity at once charming and absorbing by the talented daughter of the author of "Captain January." Miss Richards gives ample promise of attaining her mother's skill and success. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo. Cover design by Julia Ward Richards Shaw..... $1 25

GIRLS' BOOKS.

What Robin Did Then.

By MARIAN W. WILDMAN, author of "Loyalty Island," etc. A charming story of the doings of three young orphans, compelled by losses to emigrate to the mountains of Northern California and seek a home among the mining camps of that interesting region. Their hardships and successes are most convincingly and interestingly told. Illustrated, cloth, large 12mo..... 1 50

BOY AND GIRL.

Chatterbox for 1907.

Chatterbox is more than a mere book. It is almost an institution. How the juvenile world could exist without it would be difficult to say. The Cleveland Plain Dealer was right when it pronounced it "a favorite on both sides of the ocean." This year's Chatterbox is fully up to its usual standard of excellence. In addition to an interesting miscellany of stories and sketches, it contains over two hundred full-page illustrations, including six handsome color-plates. Small 4to, illuminated board covers..... 1 25
Cloth, full gilt, chromo sides, gilt edges..... 1 75

Chatterbox Library.

New series of Stories from Chatterbox, each forming a single volume. These books form a series of rare interest and special excellence. They are for the most part prize-winners in the celebrated Chatterbox best story contest, in which juvenile writers the world over have competed. To their uniform excellence and universal appeal is due in no small degree the lasting popularity and success of the magazine itself, which has been rightly acclaimed the "King of Juveniles." 16 titles. Cloth, 12mo, illustrated. Each..... 1 60

HUMOROUS.

Jimmie Jones.

The Autobiography of an Office Boy. By ROY L. MCCARDELL, author of "Olde Love and Lavender," "The Wage Slave," "The Sky Scraper," "The Chorus Girl," etc. A stirring, probable, and humorous tale that will please and interest everyone. It tells in his own words what befell a New York boy of the tenements on his way through the world. In accomplishing his destiny he was thrown among a benighted rural community, a gang of tramps on their freight-car travels, became a "boy arab" acrobat of the circus, then again back to the call of the streets as a newsboy, boxer at a so-called athletic club of the East Side, and finally an office boy with a fake patent medicine firm. All is told with many breezy incidents. Illustrated, cloth, 12mo..... $1 25

COOK BOOK.

Sunday Night Suppers.

By CHRISTINE TERRUNE HERRICK, author of "Liberal Living on Narrow Means," "Cradle and Nursery," "The Little Dinner," etc. A valuable work on a fresh subject by a well-known writer of books on domestic science. The title explains its character and occasion. To quote from the author, "In most homes the Sunday night supper is an unsatisfactory compromise." That there are great possibilities in the Sunday night supper is shown most convincingly in this desirable work. A book all must have. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 00

GENERAL LITERATURE.

Along the Labrador Coast.

By CHARLES WENDELL TOWNSEND, M.D., author of "The Birds of Essex County." A most readable and timely account of a trip to the Labrador coast, giving full description of the scenery, climate, people, flora and fauna, history and tradition; likewise routes of travel and accommodation for intending visitors. The work is most fully illustrated by numerous excellent half-tones from photographs taken by the author and friends, contains sketch map of the whole region, likewise classified list of fauna, and complete index. Cloth, large 12mo..... 1 50

GIFT BOOK.

The True Lovers' Treasury.

Edited by CARRIE THOMPSON LOWELL, editor of "The Art Lovers' Treasury" and "The Nature Lovers' Treasury." This volume deals with celebrated lovers and love scenes described in poetry and art. Like "The Art Lovers' Treasury" it contains delightful explanatory text by Mrs. Lowell. Illustrated with numerous half-tone reproductions of celebrated paintings. Cloth, 12mo..... 1 50

ADDITIONS TO OUR NEW POPULAR-PRICED SERIES OF GREAT CITIES.Paris.

By E. A. REYNOLDS-BALL, author of "The City of the Caliphs." Paris in its splendor. A historical and descriptive work on Paris, ancient and modern. Each volume illustrated with photogravure frontispiece and numerous full-page half-tone illustrations. 2 volumes, 12mo, cloth..... 3 00

Rome.

By CLARA ERSKINE CLERMONT, author of the "Queen of the Adriatic," etc. The Eternal City, Rome. Its Religions, Monuments, Literature, and Art. A concise account of the mistress of the ancient world and her glories of art and architecture from the dawn of civilization through the dark days of the Republic, the Empire, the Dark Ages, and the Papal Supremacy; and her restoration as the capital of Free and United Italy. A valuable book to the tourist and amateur student. Each volume illustrated with photogravure frontispiece and numerous half-tone reproductions of views of the most notable remains, as well as text and full-page wood-cuts and series of maps from the latest explorations. 2 volumes, 12mo, cloth..... 3 00

STANDARD SETS.

Illustrated Cabinet Edition of the works of Count
L. N. Tolstoy.

We take pleasure in announcing a wholly new, complete, and authentic presentation of the works of Count Tolstoy, translated entirely afresh from the original Russian (uncensored) by Leo Wiener, professor of Slavic languages and literature at Harvard University. A special feature of value of this edition consists in it being the work of one single individual, a feature possessed by no other version; thus securing a uniform style and method of treatment. A final volume is added to the set, containing the life of Count Tolstoy, which has been as remarkable as his writings, and is the most trustworthy and brilliant biography of the great Russian novelist in print. This edition will contain fully seventy full-page illustrations from very rare Russian books and manuscripts, or reproductions from the most celebrated paintings of famous Russian artists. ## Webster's Imperial Dictionary

"I have waited some weeks, after the arrival of Webster's Imperial Dictionary, before writing to you. I wanted to be certain just what kind of a dictionary it was before expressing my opinion. Certain of the words it contained, certain of the accuracy of meaning of the definitions and the pronunciation of the words contained in the vocabulary; in short, certain of everything that it takes to make a reliable modern dictionary. After some weeks' examination of the work, I am still under the spell of a great surprise, as I did not know ere this that a Webster dictionary, new and unabridged, could be successfully made and put on the market at the low price which you ask for this dictionary; but it has been done. Attempting a description of the good features of Webster's Imperial Dictionary would result in failure; it must be seen and examined to be fully appreciated.

The abridgments of the Imperial are splendid for the field they are intended to cover, and are especially well suited for the use of students from the high school down."

From 55 cents upwards

The originators of this new Pictorial Bible hope they may claim to fill a want. There are many illustrated Bibles.  —Christian Nation.

Some Bibles are full of pictures of supposed occurrences, but to our minds no legend or tradition should be pictorially represented in a Bible. In this volume neither artist has made any attempt to illustrate by picture the divine Christ, but to depict existing customs which throw light on Bible statements. In this Bible, the pictures, whatever merit or demerit they may have, are at least true.

WE have tried in making up our Fall List to publish books of real selling power—books of merit and of lasting value. We believe with such names as Kipling, Mrs. Humphry Ward and Booth Tarkington, and such volumes as the Special Holiday Edition of "Alice in Wonderland," illustrated by Arthur Rackham, and the illustrated edition of "The First Nantucket Tea Party," for which we have received much praise—we believe we have the greatest list in our career; an assured profit in sales for our book customers.

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

HIS OWN PEOPLE - - - Net, 90 cents
(Postage 9 cents)

The story of a young Ohio traveller and the first Countess he ever met—his plunge into what he fondly believes to be the upper circles of Continental society. Two illustrations by Mazzanovich, four by Gruger, and colored end papers and decorations by St. John Harper. A prominent book-buyer has expressed his surprise at the low price for so admirable a book.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND - Boxed. Net, $1.40
(Postage 12 cents)

Mr. Arthur Rackham by his illustrations of "Rip Van Winkle" took his place as the leading illustrator of the year of 1906. We count ourselves fortunate in getting him to illustrate this child's classic of all time. His manner and style and color is especially appropriate to the whimsical story of "Alice." The book has been put at a popular price because we expect this to be the standard edition.

THE STORY OF A FIGHT

From Concord Bridge to a Field at Yorktown

By HUGH LLOYD

Crown Octavo, 250 pages, with colored frontispiece done in lithography, and ninety halftone illustrations. Price $1.25

This book is unique, not only in juvenile literature but in historical literature. It supplies a need that every teacher knows exists, and a need which every boy and girl feels unconsciously exists. It is history built on the plan of a story, but it is not historical fiction in any sense. It is what its name suggests, the STORY OF A REAL FIGHT. It contains only enough detail to sustain interest, and is therefore above all things readable. The plan of construction is popular, each year of the war being done in a chapter by itself.

Three Volumes of Historical Stories, Founded on Facts. For Our Boys and Girls. 12mo. Cloth. By Frank H. Sweet

Stories of the Blue and the Gray

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED IN COLORED LITHOGRAPHY. PRICE $1.25

This volume is a collection of happenings to the boys and girls during the period of the Civil War. Nothing political or sectional in the book.

Grandfather's Tales of Colonial Days

Grandmamma's Tales of Colonial Days

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED, COLORED FRONTISPICES.

CLOTH 12MO. PRICE $0.75

These two collections of stories, told by Grandfather and Grandmamma, relate what the boys and girls did during the War for Independence.

McLOUGHLIN BROTHERS, 890 Broadway, New York

"That is a good book that is opened with expectation and closed with profit."—Alcott.

Young Folks' Colonial Library

"A meritorious series."—Detroit Free Press.

"These little historical books are indeed timely and instructive."—Boston Herald.

"They are written in a particularly attractive style."
—St. Louis Republic.

"No easier way of absorbing early American history can be imagined than reading these entertaining histories by Mr. Fitzhugh."—San Francisco Call.

"These little books will be doubly welcome."
—The Buffalo Times.

This series of books will consist of biographical stories of the minor characters in the War of Independence. They are written in a style appealing especially to young people; but the adult will find them authentic as well as interesting reading. The stories have been carefully prepared and deal only in facts, with enough romantic coloring to give them freshness and interest. Our young folks will find them a material aid to the study of our country's history. The books are fully illustrated by artists who are well and favorably known. Profusely illustrated in tints, frontispieces in colored lithography. Cloth 12mo, stamped in 3 colors. Price 40 cents.

Announcements for Fall

A feast of good things for booklovers is herewith presented for your consideration. Especially interesting is the showing of artistic Juveniles, Gift Books, Art Calendars, Calendar Pads, unusual Wall Cards and Christmas Booklets. A notable array without a representation of which no book-stock is complete.

THE "PEASE" EDITION OF ALICE'S ADVENTURES IN WONDERLAND. Do not let the children who visit your store this season be disappointed by failure to keep on hand a good stock of this, the most beautiful edition ever issued. Nearly 30 illustrations, many in colors. Beautifully printed with border decorations and end papers in color. Large 12mo, boxed, $1.50.

BLACK BEAUTY. By Anna Sewell, with numerous full-page illustrations in color by C. W. Pancoast. Printed from new type. A very beautiful edition of this famous classic. Every one should read this biography of a horse. Cloth, large 12mo, $1.50.

A CHILD'S GARDEN OF VERSES. By Robert Louis Stevenson. The "Pease" Edition. Here is a book which will never fail to delight both old and young. This new edition with delicate and captivating drawings by Bessie Collins Pease and Gordon Ross make a most attractive holiday gift. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50; leather, $2.00.

 PEGGY. With numerous full-page drawings in color by Harry Linnell. Tells how a little girl made an effort to get rid of tangles in her hair and the consequences. It is a very laughable story. Cleverly told and exceptionally well illustrated by Harry Linnell. Just such a book as your little girl would enjoy. Attractively bound in blue cloth with colored illustration on cover. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

 J. COLE. By Emma Gellibrand. Probably no book for young folk in recent years has received a more cordial reception than "J. Cole." This edition will be treasured by thousands who love and admire beautiful books. Ten full-page colored illustrations by Christine Wright and numerous illustrations by C. W. Pancoast, make it a most attractive volume. Cloth. 12mo, $1.50.

 JUST BE GLAD. By Charles F. Raymond. A very unusual book of essays of helpfulness, hopefulness, and cheer. Bound in Japan boards, book marker, gilt top, 16mo, 75 cents; limp leather, $1.25.

 CHEERINESS. By W. R. Rutherford. (New Edition.) A series of optimistic essays, the keynote of which is found in the quotation on the flyleaf:

"Have you any cheering greeting?
Tell it out to-day;
While you wait, the friend and message
May have gone away."

boards, 16mo, 75 cents; limp leather, $1.25.

 LOOK ON THE BRIGHTER SIDE. By W. R. Rutherford. (New Edition.) A companion volume to "Cheeriness."

"Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on.
'Twas not given for you alone—
Pass it on.
Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
'Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on."

Imperial Japan sides, cloth back, book-mark, special end papers, gilt top, 75 cents; limp leather, $1.25.

DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY—Continued

HELPS TO HAPPINESS. By Richard Brooks. This volume is similar to "Thoughts" and "Borrowings" in style but more attractively decorated and printed than any of the other books in this series, of which over fifty thousand copies have been sold. Cloth, boxed, 12mo, $1.25; ooze leather, $2.00.

BIRTHDAY BOOKS. We add to our series of artistically decorated and bound Birthday Books the following titles:

- (4) CHARLES DICKENS.
- (5) JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.
- (6) THE AMERICAN POETS.

cloth, 16mo, $1.00; limp leather, $1.50; half morocco, $2.50; full morocco, $3.50.

LITTLE BOOKS ON ART. The following new titles are issued in this series:

DURER. By L. J. Allen
CHRIST IN ART
VELASQUEZ. By Wilberforce
COROT. By Birnstinol

This series forms an exquisitely artistic little library of art. Daintily bound, nicely printed and copiously illustrated, they are practically indispensable to the art lover. These books are monographs in miniature, containing the complete outline of the subject under treatment. Each of these books contains a dated and selected list of the chief works of the artist and a short bibliography. The books are produced with the greatest care. Their charm of form, their literary excellence, their many illustrations and their low price have insured their wide popularity. Each volume consists of about 200 pages, contains from 30 to 60 illustrations, including a frontispiece in photogravure. Cloth, small 12mo, $1.50 each.

THE FRAGRANT WEED. Edited by Charles Welsh. Just the book to give a man. A book of selections about tobacco from the leading poets and lovers of the fragrant weed. Bound in grass cloth, ordinary edition, 16mo, $1.00; also smokers' edition with pipe and tobacco, boxed, $1.50.

IT IS TO LAUGH. By Henry M. Kieffer. Every one enjoys a good story. The ready after dinner story teller is always a welcome guest. This little volume contains a large number of exceptionally good laughs. Short, pithy, the stories are cleverly told. It's a good book to have on hand at all times—the cost is little. Cloth, 16mo, 75 cents; limp leather, $1.25.

KNOCKS BY DIOGENES KNOCKERSMITH.

An admirable little volume of suggestions for a new dictionary. A popular book of wit and fun.

OPTIMIST.—The engaged young man who believes two can live cheaper than one.

WOONG.—The promising prologue to a dull play.

bound in grass cloth, tall 16mo, 75 cents; leather, $1.25.

IMPERTINENT POEMS. By Edmund Vance Cooke.

An entirely new edition revised and enlarged with about twice as many poems as were contained in the old edition. Illustrated with numerous colored drawings by Gordon Ross.

"These poems are indeed impertinent! Yet they are full of common sense and sound judgment. They disclose plainly and forcibly the every-day things in the business life of every man; they don't mince matters but strike sturdy blows from the shoulder without favor and without prejudice. Mr. Cooke is really a genius. He has the gift of brevity, the cleverness of wit, and the brightness necessary to swift sketching in verse."—New York American.

Bound in cloth uniform with Mr. Cooke's other works, large 12mo, $1.50.

LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER. Edited by Elizabeth Waterhouse. A remarkable little volume of selections—prose and poetical—making a very wide appeal. With but little advertising it has sold through seven editions. Cloth, 16mo, 75 cents; leather, $1.25.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR. A new edition of this popular book in an attractive new binding. "Being good is an awful lonesome job," so says the writer of this book of clever sayings. If you wish to give some friend an unusual book just get a copy of this one; it is full of bright and witty paragraphs. Cloth, 16mo, 75 cents; leather, $1.25.

THROUGH THE YEAR WITH THE AMERICAN POETS. Selected quotations for each day in the year. Dainty binding in full gold and French inlay. Buckram cloth, 12mo, $1.00; Holly edition, boxed, $1.50; full leather, $2.00.

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT

The First Secretary

By DEMETRA AND KENNETH BROWN

Authors of "Sirocco," etc.

Drawings by Sydney Adamson

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

A story of an American attaché and a Turkish maid. A wonderful story of a country little written about. It transports the reader to the heart of Constantinople. The Turkish harem and the Turkish ruler are pictured by a writer who has lived in Constantinople.

Feminine Finance

By FRANCES CROUCH

Drawings by Amy E. Hogeboom

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

The story deals with the efforts of two women to help another woman out of a difficulty, the doing of which requires money. Cousin Jim, a bachelor cousin of the woman to be helped and from whom these women try to get the money, plays the star part. For downright cleverness of plot, humorous situations and originality of treatment few books of recent years approximate this one.

The Dumpling

By COULSON KERNAHAN

Author of "God and the Ant," etc.

Illustrations by Stanley L. Wood

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

A detective story of a great labor rising in London. The chief character of the book, called "The Dumpling" by his associates, bears a striking physical resemblance to Napoleon, and on the strength of this resemblance and his own forceful and misguided fanaticism, leads the unemployed of London to mob violence and final disaster. Mr. Kernahan has studied the submerged of London at close range and from that fact, together with the remarkable incidents of the story, he has constructed an attention-compelling romance.

The Harringtons of Highcroft Farm

By J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "When Charles the First was King," etc.

Eight Illustrations by J. Ayton Symington

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

If novel readers will stop reading the over-boomed six best sellers and read this story they will wake up to the fact that Mr. Fletcher is an artist and not a carpenter of fiction. It is a novel of real characters, but not historical characters, and will please and surprise real judges of literature.

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT

Scars on the Southern Seas

By GEORGE BRONSON HOWARD

Author of "Norroy, Diplomatic Agent"

Illustrated in Color by Nella Fontaine Binckley

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

"Scars on the Southern Seas" is a genuine "cast-on-a-tropical-island by-a-typhoon" story of adventure. Mr. Howard has written a novel that will start him on the high road to fame. By comparison with other novels which have reached large sales it deserves six figures. Although its keynote is action—rapid and thrilling action, as befits a story of fights and storms with an Eastern setting—it incidentally gives a picture of Japanese and Filipino political intrigue. The author was at the front during the Spanish-American and Japanese-Russian wars and has a lively belief in the unfriendliness of Japan for the United States and the former's designs on the Philippines. The possible truth underlying the fiction gives the story a timely and interesting element. Mr. Howard believes in the yellow peril and he was converted, not in an anti-expansionist newspaper office, but on the spot, being an officer in the Chinese army. The result of observation, not a political platform. But "Scars on the Southern Seas" is not a political novel, but a story of action and adventure, of which the Japanese question is the occasion.

A Bird Cage

By WALLACE IRWIN

Author of "Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum"

Drawings in Color by Edna Morse

4to, Cloth, $1.50

"A Bird Cage" has two claims to popularity, either one of which would make a book of more than usual merit. The verses by Wallace Irwin are in his most delightful manner. Need more be said? Certainly not to those who know the sprightly humor of Wallace Irwin's muse. The illustrations of Edna Morse are a book in themselves. If they were not fortunate enough to have the assistance of Mr. Irwin's text they could have been published alone and made the picture-book of the year. The rooster will make any child crow with delight, and the peacock, parrot or American eagle is likely to cause a scream worthy of the birds themselves.

Sister Carrie

By THEODORE DREISER

Illustrations in Color

12mo, Cloth, $1.50

THE GREAT AMERICAN NOVEL

Mr. Dreiser has written one of the most remarkable novels in literature, and no book of the year will be more widely read. Mr. Dreiser is beyond question one of the most promising novelists now writing English.

Musical Reminiscences and Impressions

By JOHN FRANCIS BARNETT

8vo, Cloth, $3.00 Net

Mr. Barnett as a writer of musical memoirs is historical rather than technical, and has written in a most interesting way of events musical occurring during the last fifty years of the nineteenth century.

B. W. DODGE & CO., New York

FALL PUBLICATIONS

THE FORMATION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT. By GEORGE HOOPER FERRIS, D.D. 16mo. Price, 90 cents net, postpaid.

Mr. Ferris tells us in his preface that this work is the result of prolonged investigation and study. When a student his attention was called to the formation of the Canon, and from that time to this he has been seeking to get as far as possible at the facts underlying its formation. The result which the author has reached in his conclusions differs materially from those views which are currently held.

SYSTEMATIC THEOLOGY. By A. H. STRONG, D.D. Part I., "The Doctrine of God." Octavo, 371 pages. Price, $2.50 net, postpaid.

For a score of years or more the "Systematic Theology" has held a unique place in the realm of sacred scholarship. It has passed through seven editions, and is still called for. In the progress of his own thought, however, and in the modification of some of his opinions, Doctor Strong has felt constrained to revise and enlarge this great work. The plan is to issue it in three volumes, with the thought possibly, if it shall not prove impracticable, to gather these ultimately into one. This volume on the nature and being of God is the first of the series.

CHRIST AND BUDDHA. By J. N. CUSHING, D.D. With an introduction by HENRY M. KING, D.D. 16mo. Price, 60 cents net, postpaid.

As a study of Buddhism in comparison with Christianity, this work will be of value. According to Doctor Cushing, Buddhism is not in the strict sense of the term a religion. Neither God nor sin nor salvation is recognized therein. As contrasted with Christianity, it is a system of gloom and hopelessness and final despair. The little book will be of value to all into whose hands it may chance to fall.

CHRISTIAN AGNOSTICISM. By Prof. E. H. JOHNSON, D.D. 12mo. Price, probably $1.00.

This work embodies the fruit of Doctor Johnson's most careful and continuous study. It was his ardent hope that before his departure he might complete it. He almost did so, and the portion remaining in an unfinished state was so far advanced that his colleague, Prof. H. C. Vedder, was able to prepare it for the press. We have, therefore, the work which Dr. Johnson regarded as his most valuable contribution to the Christian thought and discussion of his day.

GAIL WESTON. By Mrs. S. R. GRAHAM CLARK. 12mo. Illustrated. Price, probably $1.25.

Mrs. Clark has given to us a company of young people whose motives and actions create movement from the beginning to the end. It is a story of temptation, and of final triumph after struggle and through dependence upon the influence and aid of Higher Power. The moral tone of the book, as well as its general literary excellence, should give it wide recognition.

THE FRUIT OF THE DESERT. By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON. Illustrated. 12mo. Price, $1.25.

This is the second volume in the series of books of Home Missions. It is more than worthy of the first volume, "The Self-Effacement of Malachi Joseph." The key-note is the same, namely, that of self-surrender for the sake of the cause.

THE MORNING HOUR OF AMERICAN BAPTIST MISSIONS. By A. L. VAIL, D.D. 12mo. Price, probably $1.25.

Mr. Vail's work is not a history of American Baptist Missions, but a study of the principle and general trend underlying them.

THAT BLESSED HOPE. By DAVID HEAGLE, D.D. 16mo. Price, 75 cents net, postpaid.

This book deals with the second coming of our Lord. It is a careful and well considered attempt to mediate between the current views of premillennialism and post-millennialism.

A SHEAF OF HAPPY HOLIDAYS. By CAROLINE STARR MORGAN. Illustrated. Price, probably $1.00.

This book is sure to prove a favorite for holiday gift purposes, as nothing will be published this season which will embody the holiday idea more fully in every detail.

NEW AND ENLARGED EDITION.

BEAUTIFUL JOE. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS. Illustrated by Charles Copeland.

Price, $1.25.

We celebrate the printing of the 100,000th of "Beautiful Joe" by issuing an elaborately illustrated edition of this book, which took the prize offered by the American Humane Society for the best treatment of the wrongs of animals.

The Peasantry of Palestine

Life, Manners and Customs of the Village

By Elihu Grant

Associate Professor of Biblical Literature, Smith College

248 pages with 38 full page illustrations, size  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{4}$  inches. \$1.50 net, postage 14 cents.

Sixty Years

By Rev. William Salter

60 pages, with 4 illustrations, gilt top, uncut edges, flat back, white headbands, white end leaves, size  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  inches. Price \$1.25 net; postage 10 cents.

These sermons and addresses are marked by the sound sense, far-sightedness and catholicity which the author has always displayed. They will be prized, therefore, not only for their intrinsic worth, but because they are the final words of one of the most effective workers in the Iowa Band, which went westward from Yale College in the early forties for the purpose of pre-empting the Middle West for the Kingdom of God. Not only the Congregational churches, but many of the most famous educational institutions of the Middle West are in a great measure the result of the zeal and self-sacrificing labors of this body of Christian workers.

The Infinite Affection

By Charles S. Macfarland, Ph. D.

Under this title the author discusses practically the same themes as those discussed in R. J. Campbell's "New Theology," treating them in an honest way but always in behalf of faith. Moreover, he has shown greater thoroughness and comprehension, with far more consideration for philosophical adjustment. A book that will help to adjust many of the intellectual difficulties incident to this time of transition, and instead of breaking down, builds up and strengthens faith.

The Boy Problem

By William Byron Forbush, Ph. D.

Revised, enlarged, wholly rewritten, fully two-thirds of matter is entirely new. Bound in red cloth with tinted top and gold stamp. Price, $1.00 net; postage 10 cents.

Grounded in a thorough understanding of boy nature, Dr. Forbush's book is full of helpful suggestions to parents and teachers along practical lines of work for boys. An invaluable aid to all who are interested in the boy and his needs.

A Study of the Life of Jesus

By George B. Stewart

Pres. Auburn Theological Seminary
190 pages, size  $5 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches. Price, paper, 40 cents; postage 7 cents.

Dr. Stewart has written a very helpful and illuminating study of the consecutive teachings of the Bible bearing on the life and work of Jesus Christ, especially dwelling on His own words. The treatment is very concise, by periods and subjects, and, as the Scriptural passages are referred to by means of references, the volume contains, in reality, a great deal of matter and is a valuable one to be used by students and in Bible classes as a text-book.

A book of real life, being original research into the village life of modern Palestine. Dr. Grant lived three years among the villagers in the country of ancient Ephraim, Benjamin and Judah, and came to know the people intimately. From his daily notes and many photographs he has brought a vivid picture of this most fascinating of Bible lands. The book is an original contribution to Palestine study and is written so as to be enjoyable to all readers, to Bible students, Sunday School, Y. M. C. A. and Chautauqua workers, as well as to all who are interested in Oriental life. There is a full index and a list of the numerous Scripture passages referred to in the book.

The Pilgrims

By Frederick A. Noble

Pastor Emeritus of Union Park
Congregational Church, Chicago

450 pages, with 6 full pages half-tones, size  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{4}$  inches. \$2.50 net; postage 25 cents.

This book covers a field often traversed, but on a plan not attempted before. It is a combination of the historical and topical method. From the first page to the last it is evident that the author is an ardent admirer of the Pilgrims, and, unlike our strenuous President, has a keen appreciation of the difference between the Pilgrims and the Puritans. It is his clearly defined purpose to fire the hearts of the young men of our day with a burning enthusiasm for the free institutions of our country; and in this way make them worthy co-partners with those heroic souls and fit heirs of the magnificent inheritance transmitted to them from the far-seeing and devoted men of Plymouth Rock.

"The noblest ancestry that ever a people looked back to with love and reverence."—John G. Whittier.

Story of the Child that Jesus Took

by Dr. Newman Smyth

Size  $4\frac{1}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches. Price 50 cents net; postage 5 cents.

Bound in Japan vellum, with gilt top, and inclosed in parchment wrapper with gold seal and slide case. The cover design is distinctive, printed in gold ink. The end papers are original in character and very artistic. Each page carries an effective border design, and the initial letters, headbands and tailpieces are unusually attractive. Printed in two colors throughout.

Dr. Smyth has told in simple and beautiful style the story, as he conceives it, of the little child Jesus took in his arms. The author has woven a beautiful story, bringing in many of the events in the closing of the gospel story and in the years that followed.

The Teacher That Teaches

By Amos R. Wells

Editor Christian Endeavor World

104 pages, size  $5\frac{1}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ . Price 60 cents net; postage 5 cents.

This is a book of experience—the experience of a great number of successful teachers, worked over and illuminated by Mr. Wells, who is himself a successful Sunday-school teacher and is known to young people as one of the authors of "Peloubet's Notes" and Editor of the Christian Endeavor World. In this book he shows us these living teachers, tells us their secrets, shows their principles of action and methods of work. The work is practical. It tells how to build up class attendance, how to prepare the lesson, how to interest the scholars, map modeling and normal work of all kinds, the use of pictures, blackboards and charts, the arts of questioning and story telling, the winning of a place in the hearts of the pupils, and soul winning. It is all the friendly counsel of one who has been there and knows just how to help.

Significance of the Personality of Christ

Three Addresses by

Rev. Ernest G. Guthrie

Rev. Percy H. Epler

Rev. Willard B. Thorp, D. D.

90 pages, size  $5\frac{1}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  inches. Price 75 cents net; postage 6 cents.

The varying chords are unified by the dominant note, blended into one prevailing strain, that the Personality of Jesus needs to be set forth as "the religious quest of life; heart and mind and will opened to the knowledge and the mystery of Christ, till in the depth and width of life the fellowship is complete."

THE RIPENING EXPERIENCES OF LIFE

By WILLIAM V. KELLY. Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt top, price $1.50 net. In this work the rich fruitage of wholesome thinking on Life's Problems of fine ethical perception and Spiritual apprehension of values in things that differ, Dr. Kelly's literary culture, his clarity of judgment, inspiration and fine sympathy for all things which make for the best in thought and conduct find fitting expression. "The Ripening Experiences of Life" will be gratefully received and continuously read.

POEMS WITH POWER TO STRENGTHEN THE SOUL

Compiled and Edited by JAMES MUDGE. Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt top, price $1.50 net. If a good definition of poetry is "A record of the best thoughts and best and happiest minds," then this volume of religious verse will be recognized as a collection of the finest known to the culling of Christian poetic thought. Here are the best thoughts on all subjects that make for high personal character, toughening moral fibre and helping souls heavenward. The preacher, the teacher, public speakers as well as all lovers of the best will find here what they have often sought but never found.

THE LIFE THAT NOW IS

By HARMON HOWARD RICE. 12mo, cloth, price $1.00 net. This is a level headed, wholesome appeal to men of sense, business men, like the author, who have little time or taste for the philosophy of religion, but who are dead earnest in their appreciation of a practical application of Spiritual truth to every day life. This is the kind of a book such people need, which such people will read, the kind which should be read by everybody.

THOUGHTS ON THE LORD'S PRAYER

By FRANCIS B. PALMER. 16mo, cloth, price 50 cents net. Devotional books of superior worth are not found on every bookshelf. This study of the Prayer of Prayers is a thoughtful, strengthening and beautiful exposition of the deep things of Christ which lie beneath the surface in the model prayer of our Lord. Here is seed thought for many sermons, food for much meditation.

FOREIGN RELIGIOUS SERIES

16mo, cloth, price probably 50 cents each, net. A series of special works, of small size, on Biblical questions and religious subjects of immediate interest by a number of the foremost conservative professors in the universities of Europe.

THE VIRGIN BIRTH. By R. H. Grützmacher

THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS. By Edward Riggenbach

THE SINLESSNESS OF JESUS. By Max Meyer

THE MIRACLES OF JESUS. By Karl Beth

THE GOSPEL OF JOHN AND THE SYNOPTIC GOSPELS. By Fritz Barth

NEW TESTAMENT PARALLELS IN BUDDHISTIC LITERATURE.

By Karl Von Hax

GIGI: THE HERO OF SICILY

By FELICIA BUTTZ OLARK. Six illustrations. 12mo, cloth, price 75 cents. It is just such a book as any boy would be glad to read. The picture of those tumultuous days when the heroes of Italy were struggling for freedom and unity is complete. But it is the noble character of Gigi, the Drummer Boy of Garibaldi, that interests us. His patriotism, heroism and love for his leader kindle admiration while the honorable reward which crowns him at last carries to every reader its own wholesome lesson.

THE MORNING OF TO-DAY

By FLORENCE BOSE. Crown 8vo, cloth, price $1.25. Lovers of chaste fiction will be delighted with this beautiful story of Yesterday—of days in Old England when the history of the present was in the making. Beside the story of love which is ever new, there are glimpses here of the social, political and religious life and conditions of the eighteenth century, in which the several characters, all extremely well drawn, play their part.

THE EVOLUTION OF NEW CHINA

By WILLIAM N. BREWSTER

The author's proposition is that the qualities inherent in the land and its inhabitants will probably place China among the greatest of the world's empires before this new century has reached its meridian. The author is a resident in China, and writes of these qualities—political, economical, religious—from first hand investigation.

Cloth. 316 pages. Profusely illustrated. Price $1.25 net. Postage 12 cts.

The Countess of Huntington and Her Circle

By SARAH TYTLER

A most interesting biography of the woman, high in English life, who befriended the Wesleys and became the especial patroness of Whitefield. Contains many valuable sidelights on early Methodist Church history.

Octavo. Illustrated with copies of rare old prints. Price $3.00 net. Postage 16 cts.

The American Child and Moloch of Today

By DAVIS WASGATT CLARK

A primer of the Child Labor movement in America, and a concise history of the movement from inception to date. Contains facts welded into stirring reading, portraits of the movement's leaders in this country, snapshots of children at work, an Excerpta of leading opinions, and a bibliography.

12mo. Cloth. Price 75 cts. net. Postage 6 cts.

GOD'S CALENDAR

By WILLIAM A. QUAYLE

Mr. Quayle is probably the most poetic and beautiful nature writer in this land. His "God's Out-of-Doors" and "The Prairie and the Sea" have had large sales. "He is," says the Cleveland Leader, "something of a humorist, in a quaint little way, very much of a poet, and there is a touch of the philosopher in his make-up. He writes out of a full knowledge of nature in many phases, and a still fuller love." This, his latest book, is illustrated with thirteen finest photogravures, which include a frontispiece and a pictorial delineation of each month in the year, printed on Old Stratford antique paper, with side titles in red. A beautiful gift book, and a delightful personal treasure.

Large 12mo. Gilt top. Special cover design. Price $1.50 net. Postage 10 cts.

IN A NOOK WITH A BOOK

By F. W. MAC DONALD

Twenty-eight discursive essays, like ramblings in an old library. Of perpetual charm to the book lover will be this handy little volume.

16mo. Featherweight paper. Gold side and back stamp, gilt top. Slip case. Price 75 cts. net. Postage 6 cts.

JESUS, THE WORLD TEACHER

By JAMES ELLINGTON MCGEE

This book shows Jesus in his relation to various working forces of human life and history. To some it may seem a little too abstruse, too transcendental; but to the student, to the thinker, as well as to him who is trying to interpret Jesus in the largest terms and relations it will be in a real sense quite a welcome and helpful book. Freshly thoughtful, full of life and energy.

Toasts

AND AFTER-DINNER STORIES

A careful selection of the best toasts and sentiments, gleaned from the writings of standard and popular authors and conveniently arranged for reference. The latter half of the book is a collection of side-splitting and clever stories as told by the great humorists and well-known after-dinner speakers. The idea of a combination of toasts and stories (two-books-in-one) is attractive.

Cover design in five colors from appropriate drawing. Size, 6 1/4 x 4 1/4 inches. 60 cents.

Books on Entertainments

Compiled by PAUL PIERCE, Editor of "What to Eat," Superintendent of Food Exhibits at the St. Louis World's Fair and Honorary Commissioner of Foods at the Jamestown Exposition.

These four volumes comprise a most thorough and comprehensive series covering the entire entertainment field. The instructions are unique and original, and best of all appeal to those who are vainly searching for new and novel conceptions—for something to replace the old worn-out ideas.

The Rainy Day Series

Six famous classics that all children should read. The four volumes of prose have been re-written especially for younger children so that the language is simple and the long descriptive matter eliminated.

One of the special features of this series is the very bright and attractive covers, each book having an individual design in four colors. The titles are:

Black Beauty

Adventures of a Brownie

Child's Garden of Verse

Night Before Christmas

Little Lame Prince

Dickens' Christmas Carol

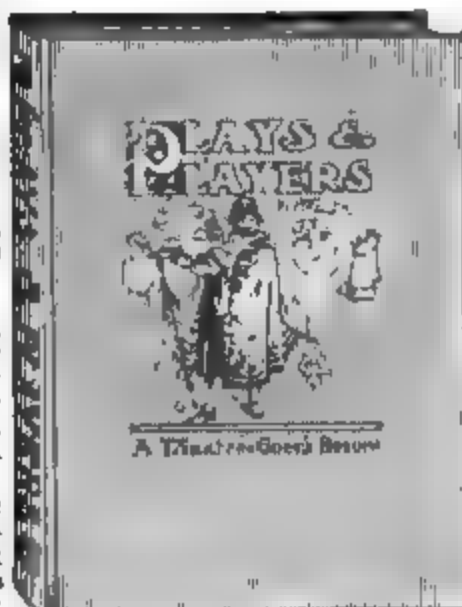

Each book has six full page colored illustrations in four colors. Size, 8 x 5 1/2 inches. Per volume, 35 cents.

Plays and Players

A Theatre-Goer's Record

A book in which one may keep a record of the plays seen, the date, play, theatre, in whose company, coupon of seats, comment on the play and players, synopsis of scenes, cast of characters, portraits, scenes and clippings pertaining to the play.

The paper (India Tint) is of fine quality with a good writing surface, the printing is in colors; the binding has an appropriate cover design in colors; the whole making a very attractive book for gift purposes, or for one's own use, and is put up in a handsome box. 8 1/4 x 6 1/4 inches. cloth binding, $1.00.

Humorous Hits and How to Hold an Audience

By GRENVILLE KLEISER

Formerly Instructor in Elocution at Yale Divinity School.

This is the title of a new book by the author of "How to Speak in Public," which book has had an unusually large sale within the few months after its first issue. Mr. Kleiser's aim, in the present volume, has been to provide a series of selections, humorous, wise, and pathetic, which may be used as declamations for social, professional or school use. Many of the selections have never before been published. He also tells how to hold an audience.

The Emancipation of Miss Susana

By MARGARET HANNIS

This little tale, the scene of which is laid in the mountains of upper New York State, unfolds the moving story of the means by which a spinster, thought to be hopeless in her spinsterhood, accomplished a matrimonial ambition.

Illustrated. Hour Glass Series, 40 cents net

Magda, Queen of Sheba

Translated into French from the original Gheese, the language of the Ethiopian priests, by HUGUES LE ROUX, Member of the Academie de Belles-lettres, and from the French into English by Mrs. JOHN VAN VORST, with an introduction especially prepared for this edition by Hugues Le Roux

"Magda" is the story of the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon, and of the early life of their son, told in the form of fiction, but with an historical basis, the facts being those which have been believed in Abyssinia for many generations. This extremely curious story forms part of an ancient manuscript entitled, "The Glory of the Kings." No full translation of "Magda" has ever before been made into any European language.

12mo, Cloth, $1.20 net

Stars of the Opera

By MABEL WAGNALLS

(NEW EDITION)

This edition is a complete revision and amplification of Miss Wagnalls' earlier work bearing the same name. In the present edition will be found portraits and recent interviews with many of the great stars in the operatic firmament, including Mmes. Calve, Nordica, Eames, Sembrich, Melba, Lehmann, and Geraldine Farrar. A synopsis of the plots and music of popular operas is also given, including a new analysis of Puccini's and John Luther Long's "Madam Butterfly."

IMPORTANT FALL BOOKS

PUBLISHED BY

Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York and London

Sex Equality

By EMMET DENSMORE, M.D.

This volume is a faithful and sane, though somewhat advanced discussion of the equality of the sexes in social, professional, and intellectual life. Dr. Densmore writes with an underlying purpose that is distinctly serious, and his presentation is impressive.

12mo, Cloth, illustrated with many portraits printed in tint and black. Price, $1.50 net

The Boys' Life of Christ

(TEACHERS' EDITION)

By WILLIAM BYRON FORBUSH

This book was first published in 1906, and has since secured for itself an important place in juvenile literature. The volume has been employed as a text-book in many places, and requests have been made of the author that he would equip it with material for questions and study. This he has now done, the new material having been prepared with careful regard for an effective study of the text.

12mo, Cloth, 320 pages. Price, $1.25

The Semi-Insane and the Semi-Responsible

By Prof. JOSEPH GRASSET. Translated by SMITH ELY JELLIFFE, M.D., New York

No contribution to Psychiatry could be more opportune than this. Dr. Grasset discusses the medico-legal aspect of crimes committed by persons who, through genius, heredity, upbringing or trouble, are not wholly insane, and yet are not wholly sane. This is the only literature on this particular classification.

Octavo, Cloth. Price, $2.50 net

Home Gymnastics on Ling's System

By ANDERS WIDE

The object of this work is to enable any one to put into practice the principles on which sound physical health may be gained and maintained.

BEST SELLING NOVELS

THE SPOTTER

By William W. Canfield

A story of the early days in the Oil Fields.

EVELYN VAN COURTLAND

By William Henry Carson

Author of "Hester Blair"

The whole story is ably and interestingly told and shows remarkable skill in narrating the effects on an honorable-minded woman who is the heroine of the novel, of a part she plays in the romance and what she is made to suffer from a keenly sensitive, though accusing conscience. The life-sketch and career of Hugh Malcolm will also be found cleverly and entertainingly penned.

12mo. cloth, gilt top, $1.50

SINLESS

By Maud H. Yardley

This is a love story of uncommon merit. The main thoughts and feature of the story is the gaining of happiness by one woman at the expense of the happiness of another woman. She (the heroine) wondered if through all her life she would be haunted by the thoughts that she had gained her happiness over the grave of another woman's sorrow.

12mo. cloth, gilt top, $1.00 net

THE MISTRESS OF BONAVENTURE

By Harold Bindloss

Author of "Alton of Somasco," "Cattle Baron's Daughter"

A fine, breezy story of the life of a strong, hardy, upright man in a new country. The writer has a definite story to tell, the people and the incidents being evidently very real in his mind, and it is the conviction that this is the case which makes it all so interesting to the reader. Mr. Bindloss has a genuine gift of describing character, and he has here given us of his best.

12mo. cloth, gilt top, $1.00 net. Popular Edition, 50 cents

THE KNIGHT OF THE SILVER STAR

By Percy Brebner

Author of "Princess Maritza"

A story of love and romance in an isolated kingdom. The princess is wonderfully beautiful; the hero is marvellously strong and valiant; the numerous perils they encounter exciting and varied; the story is a thoroughly good one.

12mo. cloth, gilt top, $1.00 net

THE SERF

By Guy Thorne

Author of "When it was Dark"

"The Serf" contains perhaps the most powerful and amazing picture of days long past that the English reading public has been privileged to peruse since the publication of 'The Cloister and the Hearth.' It is a remarkable book and one that should be widely read."
Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

THE COUNTERSTROKE

By Ambrose Pratt

Author of "Franks: Duellist"

Plot and counterplot abound in this powerfully written and enthralling story, which deals with Nihilism and its fiendish machinations, happily varied by the "counterstrokes" throughout aimed at it in the novel, in the interest of humanity, and by a finale tragic in its consequences to the arch-prime-mover and general-in-chief of the malign order. The novel is strong, dramatically conceived, and thrillingly worked out one.

Five Important Additions to Socialism and Sociological Thought

SOCIALISM INEVITABLE

By GAYLORD WILSHIRE, Editor of Wilshire's Magazine

A collection of interesting articles upon all phases of the Social Question, with emphasis upon the Problem of the Trusts. Remarkable alike for the author's thorough grasp of the subject and for the attractiveness—we may even say breeziness—of his style. Mr. Wilshire is unquestionably the leading socialist in this country, and his works are in increasing demand among all classes.

From the Portland Oregonian:

"Mr. Wilshire writes with ability and his views are cleverly expressed, though they conflict with the opinions of the majority."

From E. C. BENNETT, Montgomery, W. Va.:

"'Socialism Inevitable' I like very much. I am reading them carefully. I now begin to see why Bryan will not engage you in public discussion on the Trust question. I do not blame him. I would shy too. Ten thousand dollars would be no inducement. The magazine is getting better all the time."

WITH FRONTISPICE, 12mo, cloth, $1.00

TOILERS AND IDLERS

By John R. McMahon, Soldier, Editor, Socialist, Author.

A great novel of New York life, with plenty of romance of the true sort. A story that has already interested several hundred thousand people through its publication in serial form.

WHAT SOME CRITICS SAY:

"Sonia is magnificent. . . Your point of view is correct. . . I like the story very much." Jack London.

"It's a fine story that will interest everybody." —Jos. Wanhope.

"I consider 'Toilers and Idlers' next to the 'Jungle.'" —A California Subscriber.

"Greatest labor novel I ever read." —Thomas B. Lauey, former Business Agent Iron Molders' Union, New York.

"Shows keen insight into the human heart, and the characters are drawn with a strong pen." —Illinois Reader.

"I like the story, as I have worked in a foundry. Mr. McMahon is well posted." —Nebraskan.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

ON THE EVE

By Dr. LEOPOLD KAMPP

A soul-stirring drama of the Russian revolution.

"The play is not in any way a sensational melodrama with a political purpose, but an earnest artistic work. The fervent faith of Young Russia to see the country freed from slavery is described in thrilling language." —The London Daily News

"By order of the police the doors of all German theatres have been closed to the tremendous drama of Russian revolution, 'On the Eve' (Am Vorabend), which had aroused so great a sensation. 'On the Eve' is one of the most interesting plays of modern times." —N. Y. Staats-Zeitung.

12mo, paper, 25 cents

WE-ISM

By Capt. W. E. P. FRENCH, U. S. A.

"A collection of verses and prose poems, which for loftiness of sentiment and rugged, yet beautiful expression, are unsurpassed in recent years."

THE PINKERTON LABOR SPY

By MORRIS FRIEDMAN

75,000 of the paper edition of this remarkable book have been sold, and the demand is steadily increasing.

From UPTON SINCLAIR

"'The Pinkerton Labor Spy' is the most extraordinary exposure of the machinery of industrial tyranny that I have ever read in my life. It will do more than anything yet published to awaken the American people to the infamous crimes against labor, which have been committed in Colorado. I appeal to the Socialist movement to place a copy of this book in the hands of every workingman in America."

16mo, cloth, 75 cents

On the above publications we offer usual discounts to the trade. Send trial order, either direct or through your jobber, and see what a rapidly growing interest there is in works of this class. Authoritative books on Socialism have but to be displayed. There is no question about the demand.

GOUPIL'S "PARIS SALONS" 1907

GOUPIL'S PARIS "SALONS" of 1907 is a review of the most remarkable paintings and sculptures exhibited by the Société des Artistes Français and the Société Nationale des Beaux-Arts, and will be issued in the same sumptuous style as the edition of 1906, strictly limited to numbered De Luxe copies only, with both French and English text. It is acknowledged to be the finest art annual published, and finds increasing favor among bibliophiles, art collectors and its regular subscribers.

The text is by Mr. Louis Vauxcelles, the well known art critic, and the English translation by Mr. Paul Villars, the London correspondent of the Figaro.

The illustrations consist of over one hundred full-page plates, and include:

Two hand-finished Water-color Fac-similes, viz.:

"Berenice's Garden," an attractive subject, by A. F. M. GORGUET.

"Portrait of Madame Mégard," an exquisite portrait, by ANQUETIN; also

Two Remarque Artist Proof Etchings, viz.:

"Snow on the Banks of the Eure," a charming composition, by R. BILLOTTE; etched by GEORGES GAREN.

"Reminiscence of Cap Martin," an interesting landscape, by H. HARPIGNIES; etched by GEORGES GAREN.

All the above, framed, make handsome pictures, and as such are worth more than the price of the entire book.

Intending subscribers should secure their copies at once, as both of this year's limited de luxe editions will soon be out of print.

It contains a new system of Commercial Tables, Short-Cuts and Up-to-date Methods, which will revolutionize the art of figuring. It is unquestionably the most complete and the most useful time and labor-saving Work

The Commercial Tables show the correct answer—as quickly as a watch shows the time—to all Problems likely to occur in the store, shop, farm, bank or office; the Cost of all kinds of grain, stock, cotton, wool, hides, hay, coal, lumber, produce, merchandise, etc., for any quantity, at all market prices; the exact Interest on any sum, for any time and rate; the amount of Wages for any time, at all rates per month, week, day and hour; the correct Measurement of lumber, logs, land, cordwood, granaries, corn-crisks, wagon-beds, bins, cisterns, boilers, vats, tanks, and carpenter's, mason's and machinist's work, besides hundreds of other problems which occur in daily business transactions; also a Perpetual Calendar good for three centuries.

The Short-Cut Arithmetic explains every rule in arithmetic, mechanics and mensuration, and is so clearly illustrated by practical examples, that even a child will readily understand its principles and methods. Fully illustrated by Oute of Geometrical Figures, the Mechanical powers, the Steam engine, etc. About 70 Points of Commercial Law are briefly explained which will avoid law and litigation.

Twice as High as the Flatiron Building

NEW YORK

200,000 COPIES OF GORDON'S "QUIET TALKS" SOLD. QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY MAKES A GOOD BOOK. But HAVE YOU realized what this huge sale means—there must be value in works so widely used. THE PAPER ALONE making these 200,000 "Quiet Talks" would stretch in a single strip  $7\frac{1}{2}$  inches wide, 1,420 miles of PAPER FROM NEW YORK TO ST. LOUIS. If a stack of these books, 40 on a layer, were made, the mass would rise a great tower, 4 by 6 feet, solid paper, and of strength and weight equal to the best building material 500 feet. TWICE AS HIGH AS THE FLATIRON BUILDING.

Quiet Talks on Personal Problems

The newest, most vital book by the author of "Quiet Talks About Jesus," "Quiet Talks on Prayer," "Quiet Talks on Power"

S. D. GORDON

CONTENTS

The Problem of Sin      The Problem of Doubt      The Problem of Ambition
The Problem of Self-Mastery      The Problem of Pain      The Problem of Guidance
The Problem of the Church      The Problem of Questioned Things
CLOTH BOUND, 12mo, 75c NET

"Quiet Talks on Power" came to us like a revelation. "Quiet Talks on Prayer" is a most remarkable book, and now Mr. Gordon reaches a subject with which his whole life-work has been intermingled, and in this second volume of the great new series which began with "Quiet Talks About Jesus" he treats of the personal problems which confront every earnest life. The problems are discussed in simple and forcible language which strikes straight at the point of the question at issue. This book will appeal to thousands of readers who know so well Mr. Gordon's splendid faculty of giving real help to the practical searcher after the straight highway.

THE WATCHMAN—"This is not a theological book, but takes the problems of the every-day Christian life, and seeks to make them clear and to show a solution. No one can read the book or even a few pages of it without gaining strength and courage for the conflicts of life. On the whole we pronounce this Mr. Gordon's best book."

SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN—"His talks lose nothing by being quiet; they reach the heart most forcefully. The analysis of each problem is keen, the solution plain and picturesque. This last volume will do much to swell the circulation of Mr. Gordon's books, which has already passed 200,000."

25th Thousand QUIET TALKS ABOUT JESUS

By S. D. GORDON

Cloth, 12mo, 75c Net

"Mr. Gordon has made a picture that will prove helpful to tens of thousands of readers. It would be an infinite gain if all our religious text books were written as is this 'Quiet Talks About Jesus.' Rises to almost over-powering interest."—Syracuse Herald.

"High anticipation of excellence is fully realized in the deeply spiritual and profound utterance, 'Quiet Talks About Jesus.'"—Commonwealth.

"The fine spiritual fervor, keen, contrite, humble and pungent presentation of the truth make 'Quiet Talks About Jesus' worthy of the widest circulation and the highest favor."—G. B. Stewart, Pres. Auburn Theological Seminary.

JERUSALEM: The Topography, Economics and History from the Earliest Times to 70 A.D. GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D.

The author of "THE HISTORICAL GEOGRAPHY OF THE HOLY LAND" here publishes his long-awaited supplementary masterpiece which completes and rounds out the former book. It is not merely a work of vast erudition, but is of entrancing interest, covering many aspects of the subject never before treated in literature. "JERUSALEM" and "THE HISTORICAL GEOGRAPHY OF THE HOLY LAND" from now on must be considered the greatest modern authority on the Land and the Book.

QUIET TALKS ON PERSONAL PROBLEMS, by the author of "Quiet Talks on Prayer," "Quiet Talks About Jesus."

S. D. GORDON.

Mr. Gordon reaches a subject with which his whole lifework has been intermingled. The book strikes straight at the point of the questions at issue. 200,000 of Mr. Gordon's Quiet Talks have been sold, and this one will appeal directly to his great reading clientage.
